BRITISH FLANK CAEN; CUT RAIL LINE AND ROAD

Take 9 Villages in 7 Mile Advance.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 28 [Wednesday].—British troops yesterday made new gains "of several thousand yards" on the Tilly-Caen front in eastern Normandy. The Germans fought bitterly using infantry and tanks.

In the torrential rains which turned the Norman field into sticky mud, the British gains were small compared with their previous six mile break-thru, but in two days they had advanced more than seven miles from positions around Tilly-sur-Seulles, captured at least nine villages, and overrun numerous enemy gun emplacements.

British units were reported within three miles of Caen on the west, outflanking that German stronghold 120 miles west of Paris.

Drive to Odon River.

Late dispatches from the front said the British had reached the Odon river at a point five miles southwest of Caen after cutting the trunk highway and railway linking Caen with Villers-Bocage and Avranches at the base of the American won Cherbourg peninsula.

Between 12 and 15 German tanks were destroyed during the day, and the British were cleaning up enemy remnants in Colleville, Toueville, and probably in near-by Mouen. The British also were fighting in the village of Grainville. The British had overrun Saint Manvieu, Cheux, La Gaule, Fontenay, Tessel, Bretteville, and Juvigny.

Canadian artillery and the big guns of allied warships aided the push toward Caen and the flanking movement below it.

Marshal Rommel was reported to have brought up more tanks to reenforce his front line strength, including one full panzer division as well as units of other armored divisions. Last night enemy resistance appeared to be stiffening, according to dispatches from the front.

On Front Seven Miles Wide.

Southeast of Tilly sur Seulles and southwest of Caen the British advance continued on a front of approximately seven miles. The battle was increasing in violence in spite of heavy rainfall which again kept the allied air fleets grounded.

The attackers were hiking thru the mud and rain with the right flank in a thickly wooded spur which they had to cross to gain the more level ground south of Caen to outflank it. South of Caen a level plain stretches for about 17 miles, which would be ideal for open mechanized warfare.

Should the British cross the Odon river and gain the higher ground between that stream and the Orne—a distance of about five miles—their chance to maneuver their armor would be enhanced.

Odon a Narrow Stream.

The Odon is a small stream only about 24 feet wide and from four to six feet deep. The Orne is from 100 to 140 feet wide, but scarcely deeper than the Odon.

As the British advanced and the Germans' fixed positions were overcome, the Nazis attempted their customary method of withdrawing behind screens of snipers to reorganize a short distance toward the rear for counter-attacks.

The German Trans-Ocean radio said that the British thrust at Caen had been repelled, "but large reenforcements had been landed at the mouth of the Orne."

The German radio commentator, Ludwig Sertorius, said the British were using four infantry and two tank divisions and added that the drive to the west of Caen was a PROGRESS—British strike 7 miles forward on 7 mile front and flank Caen in plunge within 3 miles of city; cut railway and main highway to west. Americans return control of Cherbourg to French. Repair experts rush to make port usable. Yanks continue mopup of isolated German units on tip of peninsula. Prisoner total nears 22,000.

NAVAL—Warships support British drive; battle German light craft near channel island of Jersey.

AERIAL—Air operations over front hampered by poor flying weather; American bombers from Italy raid Budapest, Hungary; R. A. F. raids rocket bomb areas in France.

Russians Push Toward Minsk from 2 Sides

LONDON, June 28 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Four Russian armies swept forward thru the German "Fatherland line" in White Russia yesterday, capturing the railway junction of Orsha, entering the streets of Mogilev and the outskirts of Bobruisk, and liquidating five divisions of Nazis in a pocket southwest of Vitebsk, Moscow announced.

Twenty thousand of the encircled Germans were killed and 10,000 captured, the broadcast Russian war bulletin asserted. Five other Nazi infantry divisions were said to be encircled east and south of Bobruisk.

Altogether, nearly 1,500 places of varying size were recaptured during the day's advance against the German bulge in the center of the front, it was announced. Two spearheads were pointed directly toward Minsk, historic city of 240,000 almost on the old Polish frontier.

[Finns to stay in war; reach agreement as Germans move in troops. Story on page 9.]

Control Main Railway.

Capture of Orsha gave the Reds control of a main railway leading directly to Minsk. One of the many points taken by the Russians on this front was Bobr, a railway station 46 miles west of Orsha and about 75 miles northeast of Minsk. At the end of the day the Reds had made the front in this sector virtually a straight line extending 80 miles north from Bobr.

At Bobruisk, about 90 miles south of Orsha, another Red army also was headed in the direction of Minsk. The war bulletin said the Russians were fighting in the outskirts of Bobruisk and revealed that a 17 mile advance south of the city had brought about the capture of more than 600 places. Both the railway and the highway leading from Bobruisk to Minsk were cut. One of the localities captured was Glusk, 29 miles beyond and slightly south of Bobruisk and 75 miles southeast of Minsk.

Expect Mogilev's Fall Soon.

Between Orsha and Bobruisk Red troops slashed into the streets of Mogilev, ancient fortress city 100 miles east of Minsk and a big regional transportation hub on the Leningrad-Odessa railroad. Its fall was expected soon. Soviet forces crossed the Dnepr river both north and south of the city.

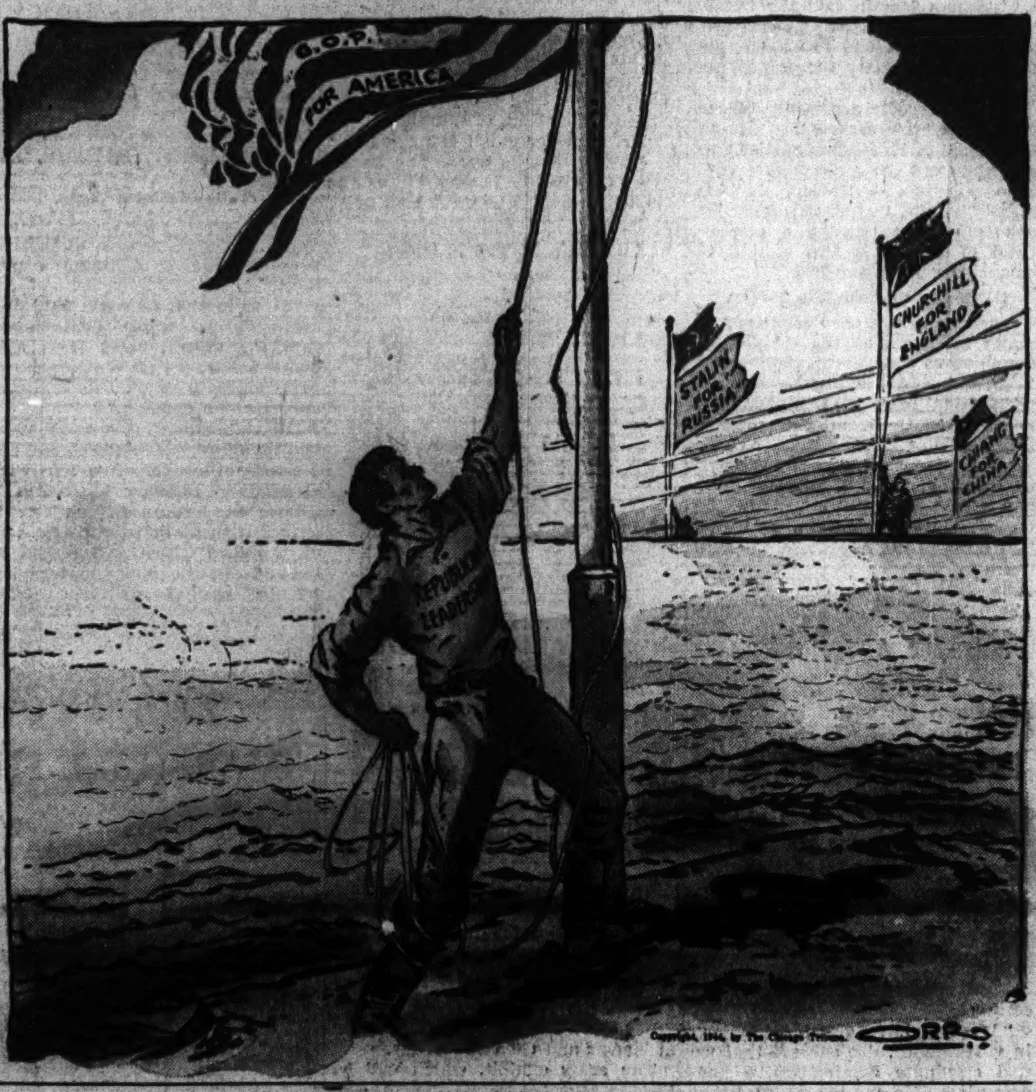
North of Orsha the Russian smash toward Lepel captured Chashniki.

The northernmost force engaged in the offensive is Col. Gen. Ivan C. Bagramian's 1st Baltic army. Next, victor at Orsha, is the 3d White Russian army of Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky, who today was elevated from colonel general to general of the army. At 36 he is the youngest man in the Red army to hold so high a rank.

The assault on Mogilev was being pushed by Gen. Zakkarov's 2d White Russian forces, while Gen. Konstantin Rokossovsky's 1st White Russian army was driving toward Bobruisk.

The Finns acknowledged Russian capture of Aunuksenlinna, on the Aunus isthmus, and said soviet pressure was heavy all around Lake Ladoga, with violent battles raging in the Karelian isthmus north of Heinjoki.

IT'S TIME TO SHOW OUR COLORS, TOO



Nelson Spurns WPB Role as Dry Law Club

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Donald Nelson, chairman of the war production board, in a speech prepared for delivery tonight, replied to the demands of prohibitionists that he use WPB powers to enforce prohibition by asserting that to do so would be "to usurp the powers of the congress and the people."

Nelson's views were given less than 12 hours after the southeastern jurisdictional conference of the Methodist church in session at Atlanta, Ga., had requested President Roosevelt to revoke the WPB order under which distillers during August will be allowed to use between 20 and 25 million gallons of 190 proof alcohol for making whisky.

Will Not Usurp Powers.

"There are many people who seem to think that the war production board ought to use its emergency powers to adjust the American economy or reshape American institutions according to their own pet notions," Nelson wrote. "For example, I am often urged to use those emergency powers to enforce prohibition upon the country. To do so would be to usurp the powers of the congress and the people.

"The board has had to impose heavy restrictions on liquor production in order to provide alcohol for war purposes. But when those restrictions are no longer essential for the welfare of the war economy, we have no warrant for retaining them."

Speech Read by Wilson.

Nelson was to have made his speech before the Stevens Institute of Technology at Hoboken, N. J. Illness prevented his appearance, however, and the speech was read for him by Charles E. Wilson, executive vice chairman of the WPB.

Continuing on the theme of pressure groups, Nelson said there are some people who would like to see the powers of the WPB used to preserve the industrial competitive pattern that existed before the war.

"In my view, this idea is fraught with danger for the people," he said. "It would, in effect, prevent new competition and enterprise. The WPB should not and will not attempt to reshape the American economy, either in the pattern of the past or according to any theory of the future."

NEW ZEALAND TO CUT ITS ARMY OF 150,000 TO ASSIST INDUSTRY

SOUTH PACIFIC HDQ., June 27 (AP).—New Zealand is tapering off its armed forces and attempting thereby to boost its production of food and other war supplies.

Already many thousand troops of the 3d New Zealand division, veterans of the Vella Lavella, Treasuries, and Green Island campaigns have been released for essential industry.

Because New Zealand, like Australia, is close to battle zones, leaders acquiesced to conversion of New Zealand from a source of fighting men to a source of supplies.

At the peak, New Zealand, with a population of only 1,600,000, had 150,000 men under arms, with more than 100,000 overseas.

Currently New Zealand has two infantry divisions. One is in Italy. The other, in this area close to home, barring unexpected replacements, may be scaled down to a smaller force.

RELIEF TO YANKS STILL BLOCKED BY JAPS, RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Efforts to send relief supplies into Japan for American prisoners of war and internees are still being blocked by the failure of Russia and Japan to agree on the routes by which the American supplies will be sent, it was disclosed tonight.

The state department said there has been no change in the situation that was disclosed June 16 in a report by a subcommittee of the house foreign affairs committee.

In that report, made by Chairman Johnson [D., Tex.], it was stated that Russia had refused to permit its port of Vladivostok to be used by the Japanese in picking up 1,500 tons of supplies the United States had stored there. The Soviet offered, according to report, to coöperate by moving the supplies at Vladivostok to other "equally accessible" ports or by moving them overland to the Japanese. A Japanese reply to this offer is still awaited.

Red War Correspondent? 'No, Sir,' Briton Repeats

LONDON, June 27.—James Grigg, secretary of state for war, when asked today in the house of commons whether he would reconsider his decision not to accredit a war correspondent for the Communist newspaper Daily Worker, replied: "No, sir."

Flak Flies Sea to Fill Void in 2 Aching Hearts

Flak, a black cocker spaniel, romped about his new home on a farm in Denver, Ind., yesterday after a plane trip from England authorized by nothing less than the personal order of Gen. Arnold, chief of the United States army air forces.

Flak was the pet of Sgt. Robert K. Bell, 23, who was killed last Dec. 1 when his Liberator bomber crashed and burned in England after a raid on Germany. Sgt. Bell bought Flak when he was a puppy and the two of them became inseparable. The dog, now nine months old, barked good luck to his master whenever Sgt. Bell's bomber left the air base runway. When the plane returned, Flak was there to greet him.

Sister Writes General.

After Sgt. Bell's death, the dog was cared for by friends at the air base. Last March, the flyer's sister, Miss Marietta Bell, 21, a nurse at Englewood hospital, wrote to Gen. Arnold. She asked him to send Flak to her and her parents. She told the general that Flak would console her parents "as a part of Bob that still is living."

Gen. Arnold responded favorably, but the spaniel's return to the United States became involved in war time red tape. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bell, were notified from Washington, D. C., that the matter probably would have to be handled unofficially because of strict rules against transporting animals from overseas.

As the weeks passed with no word concerning Flak, the Bell family lost hope of obtaining their son's pet. The mother became ill because of anxiety.

Arrival Is Surprise.

Late Monday, however, Miss Bell received a long distance telephone call from Denver. Flak had just arrived at the farm from Scott field, Belleville, Ill. He had been flown to the field from Washington, D. C., where he arrived from England on Friday.

Miss Bell will see Flak Monday when she arrives at the farm for her vacation. Sgt. Bell's widow, Dorothy, a school teacher in Roswell, N.M., is staying at the farm during her summer vacation.

"We can't express how happy all of us are that Flak is with us," Miss Bell said. "He'll have a good home on the farm, and we'll care for him and love him just as Bob would have."

PLATFORM WINS DELEGATE VOTE UNANIMOUSLY

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

A post-war foreign policy plank pledging prosecution of the war to total victory and preservation of the peace after the war thru international coöperation and "not by joining a world state" led the Republican national platform as adopted by the convention late yesterday afternoon. It put the interests of the United States first.

The platform was read to the convention by Sen. Taft of Ohio, head of the resolutions committee, who moved its adoption. The platform was adopted by a viva voce vote without debate.

The declaration on foreign relations, the most debated part of the platform, places full emphasis on adherence to the Constitution and preservation of the American system in the attainment of our international aims.

Senate Upheld in Treaty Power.

Any treaties or agreements made with other nations, it declares, shall be made only with the advice of the senate, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur, as ordained in the Constitution.

The essential interests and resources of the United States, it declares, shall be at all times protected.

Widest consultation with members of the army and navy in post-war foreign policy affairs is pledged by the plank, which also promised full information to the people on agreements with other nations.

One paragraph inserted almost at the last minute says the party will devote itself to reëstablishing liberty at home.

Free Press Upheld.

In a strong plank of "Free Press and Radio," the platform stated it was imperative to the maintenance of a free America that "the press and radio be free and that full and complete information be available to Americans." It condemned the Roosevelt administration's tendency "to regard the press or the radio as instruments" and the "use of government publicity agencies for partisan ends" was condemned. A new radio law to define the role of the federal communications commission was called for.

"Vital facts must not be withheld," the plank declared. "We

BULLETIN.

It was reported at an early hour this morning that Gov. Bricker had been chosen by Gov. Dewey and his supporters for the nomination for Vice President, that Bricker had abandoned his candidacy for President and had agreed to accept the second place post if offered to him.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, the popular choice of the delegates for the Republican nomination for the Vice Presidency after the dramatic withdrawal of Gov. Earl Warren of California, early today was indorsed by the supporters of Thomas E. Dewey for the second place post.

The Ohioan, who insisted that he is still a candidate for the Presidency despite Warren's action, received the blessing of J. Russel Sprague, New York national committeeman; Edward F. Jaeckle, New York state committeeman, and Herbert Brownell, 1940 Dewey campaign manager, who constitute the New York governor's board of strategy.

Warren "No" Definite.

"Gov. Warren's statement is very definite," they said in the New York state headquarters after the convention recessed shortly before midnight. "If Gov. Bricker's name is mentioned as a candidate for the Vice Presidency, we from New York are confident he has all the qualifications for the office and if he is the candidate of the convention, New York would be glad to join in supporting him."

In his Stevens hotel suite Bricker would not be drawn into any comment on his possible course of action after the Presidential balloting, except to say that he will support whatever ticket is selected.

Seen as Strongest Ticket.

This expression was regarded by delegates enthusiastic for the selection of a Dewey-Bricker ticket as the strongest that the convention could put in the field because it represents a front of party harmony as an indication that Bricker will bow to the will of the party and sacrifice personal ambition for a Republican victory this fall.

The die-hard Bricker supporters said the governor's statement does not preclude the possibility of the rejection of a Vice Presidential nomination as unyielding as that of Gov. Warren.

In this event, it was felt, the nomination will go to Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, who is to place the name of the New York governor in nomination for the Presidency this morning. Griswold, whose name had not been mentioned, became a possibility after Warren's withdrawal.

Griswold's position on major issues, particularly international post-war organization, more nearly parallels that of the New Yorker than those of the genial Ohioan, who is a stanch spokesman of the midwestern insistence on American independence. A Dewey-Bricker ticket would unite all Republican thought on foreign policy.

For this reason delegates were convinced that the Dewey-Bricker ticket is even stronger than the proposed Dewey-Warren ticket.

THRONG CHEERS HOOVER PLEA TO ROUT TYRANNY

Clare Luce Speaks for U. S. Women.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

In three sessions yesterday culminating in the adoption of the platform and a notable address by former President Hoover the Republican national convention cleared the way for the nomination today of Gov. Dewey of New York for President.

Gov. Dewey will fly to Chicago to accept the nomination formally in a speech to the convention tonight. Then the convention will adjourn.

Gov. Dewey started work on the speech in the capitol in Albany yesterday, a dispatch said. After working over it by himself for about six hours, he went to the executive mansion where he studied it during the evening with advisers.

May Not Await Balloting.

Because of pressure from the Dewey strategists in Chicago, who desire to prevent any lull in convention activity, it seemed probable that the governor would start his air journey regardless of the time when balloting was completed, it was said at Albany.

Shortly before the night session all calculations regarding the Vice Presidential nomination were upset by a statement by Gov. Warren of California that he positively would not accept second place on the ticket. "In good conscience," he said, he could not repudiate a commitment to serve out his term as governor, which ends in 1946.

Warren's refusal of the place threw the selection of a candidate for Vice President wide open. Leading among the possibilities is Gov. Bricker of Ohio. Some leaders thought that the convention might persist after all in drafting Warren.

Hoover Assails Teheran Deals.

Appearing as the elder statesman of the party, Mr. Hoover analyzed the distress of our country and of the world and found the remedy in measures to regain freedom from tyrannous government. He recounted the tyrannies of the New Deal and denounced President Roosevelt for playing power politics at Teheran at the expense of the independence of Poland and other small nations that Russian Dictator Stalin designs to dominate.

Mr. Hoover outlined a peace preservation plan on a regional basis—Europe, Asia, and the western hemisphere each being required to keep down aggression in its own domain.

Won't Liquidate Independence.

He struck a nationalist note, tossed the internationalists' plan for a world state out of the window, and asserted that the Republican party, once in power again, "will not liquidate either the economic welfare or the independence of the United States."

The former President received an enthusiastic welcome from the delegates and the jammed galleries when he appeared on the platform. His studied indictment of the Roosevelt regime stirred the vast audience to repeated tumultuous demonstrations of approval.

Following Mr. Hoover, Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut wound up the night session with a speech in behalf of the women of the country. She viewed the Republican mission from the viewpoint of G. I. Joe, the returned veteran, and of G. I. Jim, whom she portrayed as the typical man who died fighting for his country.

A Leader to Justify Death.

Mrs. Luce told the delegates that "we come to choose a President who need not apologize for the mistakes of the past, but who will redeem them, who need not explain G. I. Jim's death but who will justify it."

Mrs. Luce struck a responsive chord in the men and women before her when she said that it was not a Republican President who promised peace to Jim's mother and father, a promise "kept to their ears but broken to the hearts," a promise made by a government "elected again and again and again," therefore a promise that now lies "quite as dead as young Jim lies now."

An outburst of mingled laughter and applause greeted Mrs. Luce's pronouncement that Jim wants us "to choose a man who would rather tell the truth than be President," who loves his country "more than he loves power." An even greater one was evoked by the congresswoman's reference to the Democratic national convention next month as one in which the Democrats "are going to take Roosevelt and like it."

Nationalists Claim Victory.

Adopted at a late afternoon session, the platform, containing the foreign policy plank which rejects a world state and safeguards American sovereignty in international coöperation, was hailed by the nationalists as a signal victory over the internationalists.

At the morning session Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, minority leader of the national house, assumed the chair as permanent chairman and delivered an address that took the New Deal apart and exposed its failures and fallacies. Then he outlined a constructive Republican program for restoring Constitutional government and free enterprise.

With more delegates making last minute leaps for the bandwagon, nearly 900 of the 1,057 members of the convention were committed to vote for Dewey on the first roll call in the session that starts at 10:15 this morning.

Bricker and Stassen Stick.

Gov. Bricker of Ohio and Lt. Comdr. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, still remained nominally in the race, with their names scheduled to be presented for the nomination. The indications are, however, that the Bricker and Stassen supporters will join in moving the unanimous nomination of Dewey at the close of the first ballot.

After the close of the convention the national committee will remain in Chicago a day or two longer to choose a new national chairman and start the campaign organization rolling. Gov. Dewey will choose the new chairman. Foremost in immediate speculation were the names of Herbert Brownell of New York, who was manager of Dewey's campaign for governor, and Rep. Charles A. Halleck, Indiana's political ball of fire, who is now chairma of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

Traces Course of Regimentation.

One of the most effective portions of Mr. Hoover's speech was that describing European revolutions that have destroyed personal liberty and justice and established regimentation thru coercion by burocracy. The strategy of these European revolutionists, said Mr. Hoover, is to "make public opinion by falsehood and to destroy opposition by assassination of character thru smearing."

"Now, I ask you," said the former President after a pause, "do you recognize any similarity between these practices and the 10 years of the New Deal?"

The delegates and the galleries did recognize it and said so with a whoop that raised the roof.

Mr. Hoover reminded his hearers of Mr. Roosevelt's admission in 1936 that the New Deal instruments of public power "could" provide shackles for the liberties of the people "in other hands." Mr. Hoover remarked dryly that "freedom is not promoted by shackles in anybody's hands." Then he enumerated the new shackles on farmers, on "honest labor unions" and "honest business enterprise."

While prating of the four freedoms, the New Deal, said Hoover, has trampled on the 30 freedoms of the Bill of Rights, including trial by jury, right of appeal to the courts, just compensation for property taken for public use, guarantees against search and seizure, and taking of property without due process of law.

"Only by a change in administration will our returning soldiers find freedom preserved at home," Mr. Hoover commented.

26 Governors to Tell Views.

A political development of the utmost significance in this election canvass and in the affairs of the Republican party was the disclosure during the day that the 26 Republican governors of the country are to issue a statement of their views on issues and campaign tactics immediately after the final adjournment of the convention.

A notable aspect of this convention has been the ascendancy of the governors in party decisions and the lessening influence of congressional leaders, who for many years have dominated national conventions. It has been commonly remarked in the last few days that the governors were crowding the Washington clique out of the party picture.

Of the 26 Republican governors, 20 are in attendance on the convention and 15 of them are delegates. Including Gov. Bricker, they have been meeting nightly to exchange views and agree on action to influence the deliberations of the convention. They were instrumental in obtaining important revisions of several of the most important planks of the party platform.

Ready to Battle "Tired Old Men."

In elbowing the senators aside in party counsels the governors are placing the accent on youth as Dewey expects to do in the campaign battle with the "tired old men" of the Roosevelt regime. The governors have come to the front with new and more vigorous ideas than the outworn fetishes of the men who have dominated the party in the last two decades.

They took an important part in framing the foreign policy declaration of the Mackinac Island meeting of the Republican post-war advisory council and they completely upset and compelled the recasting of the recommendations on domestic policies. At the governors' conference at Hershey, Pa., last month they came even more closely into agreement on the solution of public problems which has materialized in this convention.

Appearing before the Ohio delegates and alternates yesterday afternoon, Gov. Bricker declared he was "in this fight to the finish." The Buckeye delegates only a few minutes earlier had heard Sen. Ball and Gov. Thye of Minnesota praise the fighting quality of the Ohio governor and declared the Stassen fight also would be kept up to the end.

Cooling the Feet

NEW DEAL TIEUP WITH REDS VITAL ISSUE—MARTIN

Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, permanent chairman, told the Republican national convention yesterday that the sons of America are now locked in a struggle not merely to crush a cruel foe, but to determine whether or not the ideals upon which our free society is founded may have a decent world in which to continue its growth.

"We owe these men and women a duty far greater than merely caring for their individual wants when they return," he continued. "When they went out from these shores they left behind them a form of society dedicated to certain great principles of human freedom and conduct, a society in which every man would have the chance to make his way, to speak his mind and make his own decisions.

War on at Home, Too.

"They left a Constitution—somewhat battered, perhaps—and those traditions of freedom seriously impaired. But we owe it to them that when they return that Constitution and the heritage of individual freedom which it guarantees shall be restored in all its vigor.

"I hear it said frequently by our burocratic mentors in Washington that we will never go back to the old ways. What old ways are they talking about? We are here to tell them that we shall, as we have always done, forever go forward on all those roads which may lead to a better, safer, and happier life.

"We are in more than one war. In one of those wars our sons and daughters fight against German and Jap. But there is another war here at home. It is a war between two eternally hostile ideologies.

Fascism Abroad; New Deal Here.

"One idea is that of the free society—the society of free men creating their wealth with the instrumentalities of free enterprise under the protection of a representative republic. The other is the conception of the regimented and planned society, living upon vast streams of government debt and taking its shape and destiny from the directives of a burocratic elite under the command of a self-inspired leader.

"You may call that anything you wish. In Europe they call it Fascism. Here we call it the New Deal. And in this war here at home let there be no question where the Republican party stands. . . . We stand for the ideal of the free society—free enterprise and a free republic.

"We are for government under the Constitution by a constitutional President and a congress acting in the open under law and not government in secret and without law by an army of irresponsible burocrats under a permanent leader.

Cites Disasters Ahead.

"We will win this internal struggle because the people of America will not tolerate winning the military conflict and then losing at home the precious ideals for which we went to war."

Chairman Martin said the people are tired of bungling and fumbling, waste, and extravagance, arrogance, and burocratic dictatorship.

"They know," he asserted, "that unless there is a change from the direction in which we are now traveling, national bankruptcy, confiscatory taxes and complete governmental regimentation and control of all our activities are dead ahead."

The speaker replied to New Dealers' assertions that their critics have no policy, no program.

"The Republican party has had, and has now, both a policy and a program," he said. "Our policy and our program have been set forth on many occasions; in conferences of Republicans in congress, and at meetings of the national committee. At Mackinac we outlined our creed.

Policy Broad Enough for All.

"Our policy is a positive policy . . . to protect, to defend, and to perpetuate our free, constitutional form of government, our free enterprise system of economy, our system of free society. This is a real American policy, and it is broad enough to be embraced by men and women of every party who want to see individual freedom and individual opportunity continued in America."

Chairman Martin said the Democratic party has lost its power over its own destiny and has been captured by a minority whose philosophy it despises.

"It has become a prisoner of the New Deal," he asserted. "Thank God, some of its leaders realize this and have had the courage to revolt. This election, curiously, is not merely a fight to put the Republicans into office but, by a strange twist of fate, it is also a fight to emancipate the Democrats."

G. O. P. Consistent in Policy.

Martin outlined the declaration of policy set forth by the Republican members of congress in September, 1942, and said the makers of that declaration have never deviated a hair's breadth from the pledges made at that time.

"The people of America know," he asserted, "that if those policies had been put into effect by the New Deal administration, we would be nearer to the day when we shall welcome back home our boys and girls from their great struggle. There would be a greater unity and a stronger spirit of coöperation, both of which are so vital if we are to win an enduring victory."

Martin said the first thing the Republican party will do when it comes into power will be to restore to congress its responsibility and function as the people's special instrument of control over their government and their public officials.

Genuine Economy Promised.

"We will restore responsibility in matters of local concern to the state and local governmental subdivisions," he continued. "The farther government is removed from the control of the people, the more inefficient and unsatisfactory it becomes.

"We will have genuine economy in government. To achieve that we will eliminate administrative nonessentials. No one can pretend that under the New Deal there will ever be retrenchment in governmental costs. The New Dealers just don't believe in it. They preach the doctrine of deficit spending, and an unlimited federal debt.

"Our whole taxing system will be made not only as simple as possible, but equitable as well. Taxation must be on a revenue basis and not for punitive purposes. We need a post-war tax policy which will stimulate industry and create jobs for the people. Without genuine tax reform, we will have millions of unemployed."

Security Assured to Aged.

Martin said that under a Republican administration labor will retain all the essential rights and just privileges it has gained, and agriculture will be allowed to be self-sustaining and prosperous. Private capital will be encouraged to venture into renewed and expanded production, he asserted, and enlarged job opportunities will be assured.

"We will continue humane and beneficial economic and social advantages," he continued. "Old age shall not be a period of anxiety and suffering for the worthy men and women who have contributed to the upbuilding of America. There is no more meritorious appeal than full security for our aged citizens.

"We will provide adequate benefits for the men and women of our military services and make certain they are promptly available. And we all know what they must have above everything else when they return is jobs at American wages."

Browder's Objective Disclosed.

Martin said recent weeks have brought startling innovations in our political life. He specified them as follows:

"We have seen the head of the Communist political party in this country, Earl Browder, merge his party with Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee in a drive for a fourth term for President Roosevelt, and for the election of a congress which will be subservient to the will of those organizations.

"In indorsing Mr. Roosevelt there was no effort by Browder to conceal his objective. 'We remain,' said Browder, 'an organization of Communists who hold the principles of scientific socialism, of Marxism.'

"Mr. Browder is not being fooled. He knows what he wants and he is taking the road he is sure will bring him to his goal. The American people will not be fooled, either.

Challenge Insolently Issued.

"This challenge has been insolently and boldly issued to the people of America. It presents a vital issue of this campaign. Do the people want these radical organizations, with their avowed purpose to remake America, to control the President, to secure a 'rubber stamp' congress, and to dominate absolutely and completely our government? Of course, they don't.

"Since the American people made the decision that this country should be forever dedicated to the cause of free government and free labor, no greater issue has ever been presented.

"We go forward to victory, a victory for the American way, a victory for right and justice, a square deal for all people. And upon our efforts let us invoke the blessing of Almighty God."

M. P.'S OCCUPY GRANT PARK TO PREPARE SHOW

The 740th military police battalion moved into Grant park yesterday to begin preparation for the army service forces exhibit, "Weapons of War," which will be opened to the public in mid July. The battalion's home station is Camp Skokie Valley at Harms and Glenview roads.

The army exhibit, which will be located south of Soldiers' field, contains United States and captured enemy equipment. Lt. Col. Sidney Z. Eleveld, commanding officer of the military police, will be in Chicago to direct the show, which already has been seen in Washington, D. C., and New York.

DEWEY DOESN'T WANT IT TILL '48 IS BRITISH VIEW

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 27.—British newspaper readers are being given a dark picture of the Republican convention in Chicago, with the inference that the possibility of a G. O. P. victory in the United States this fall is small and the fourth term is in the bag for Roosevelt.

Saying the nomination of Gov. Dewey on the first ballot is a foregone conclusion, a correspondent of the London Times says, the Republicans are nominating a man whom the delegates "do not like for the post he does not want."

Gov. Dewey, the correspondent says, didn't want the nomination until 1948, because "he is afraid it will take the American people another four years to get Franklin Roosevelt out of their system," and is convinced the next President "will end up as the most unpopular man in the country."

Sees Him in Hot Water.

Dewey as President, the writer says, would have to stand against the immediate lifting of all government controls which would certainly be attempted by congress, and he does not care to face this possibility.

Dewey, if he has Gov. Warren of California as a running mate, will be in hot water, the Times writer says, because Warren would insist on changes in "those freight rate differentials which now bear hard on the west as they do on the south, and over which Dewey seems to think New York has proprietary rights."

And Warren does not want the Vice Presidential nomination anyway.

Tells Platform Woes.

The special correspondent also draws a gloomy picture of the convention's efforts to frame a platform.

"It is in the domestic field that confusion is worse confounded," says the writer, "and it is upon domestic issues that the Republican party hopes to conduct its campaign and win the election."

Difficulties with the tariff plank and the effort to include strong nondiscrimination for Negroes while attempting to woo the votes of Democratic southern states, together with an effort "to find a set of formulas which will please big business, labor, and the farmers" have afforded the platform committee insurmountable difficulties, according to the writer, who concludes that it "is like mixing oil and water."

SEARCHERS FEAR STRANDED FLYER HAS HAD MISHAP

Kingman, Ariz., June 27 (AP).—Perturbed because only two green flares were flashed from an isolated promontory in the Grand Canyon today, the army redoubled its efforts to reach three flyers stranded there since they parachuted from a bomber a week ago tonight.

Flyers from the Kingman army air field said they were unable to interpret the meaning of the two flares, but expressed two possibilities—that yesterday's three flares did not mean that all of the men were safe on the plateau, or that some accident since had befallen one of them.

Upon his return from a flight over the canyon, Col. Donald B. Phillips, commander of the field, ordered a convoy dispatched to the north rim of the gorge to establish a base from which a new rescue attempt will be launched.

The missing men are Lt. Charles Goldblum, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Flight Officer Maurice J. Cruickshank Jr., Lawrence, Mass., and Corp. Roy W. Embanks, Kalispell, Mont.

MRS. LUCE RIPS AT BUMBLEDOM OF NEW DEALERS

Let Them Explain What Led to War, She Says.

Following are the high points of the speech by Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut at the Republican national convention last night:

"Plainly the honor of speaking to you in this hour so fraught with consequence has come to me because I am a woman. Thru one woman's voice our party seeks to honor the millions of American women in war-supporting industries, the millions in Red Cross work, and the thousands upon thousands in civil service, in hospital and canteen and volunteer work. Our party honors the women in the armed services and our truly noble army and navy nurses. Their courage has written a new chapter for American history books. Above all, we honor the wives and sisters and sweethearts and mothers of our fighting men. The morale of the home front has been largely in their keeping. They have kept it to the height of the morale on the battlefronts.

"Dictatorial Bumbledom."

"And yet, I know and you know that American women do not wish their praises sung as women any more than they wish political pleas made to them as women. They feel no differently from men about the ever growing threats to good government. They feel no differently about the inefficiency, abusiveness, evasion, self-seeking, and personal whim in the management of the nation's business, which are little by little distorting our democracy into a dictatorial bumbledom. And certainly they feel no differently about pressing this war to the enemy's innermost gates, or creating from the sick havocs of war itself, a fair and healthy peace.

"Welfare of Their Kin."

"But there is one thing that women feel, not differently but more deeply about than men. That is the welfare of their sons and brothers and husbands in the services."

It was rare in the convention hall, Mrs. Luce said, to see a woman who was not wearing a pin denoting kinfolk in the war; this made it inevitable that she would speak of "G. I. Joe." It was up to the generals, she said, to see that his present needs were cared for; to see that he had adequate supplies, training, and leadership so he can win the war. The convention, she continued, had to consider his probable future wants.

Tells What G. I. Joe Wants.

First, she said, he wanted security for America as he had known it. And he wanted, in many instances, to avenge and justify the death of "G. I. Jim," the soldier friend who was "immobilized for all eternity." She referred to the mounting casualty lists and the variety of last names for the G. I. Jims—"the grandsons of many nations." Continuing, Mrs. Luce said:

"But he was the son of the United States of America. He was the defender of the Republic, and the lover of liberty. And he died as his father died in 1918, and their fathers in 1898, 1861, in 1846, and in 1812 and 1776. He died to make a more perfect union, 'that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth.'

"His young bones bleach on the tropical roads of Bataan. A white cross marks his narrow grave on some Pacific island. His dust dulls the crimson of the roses that bloom in the ruins of an Italian village. The deserts of Africa, the jungles of Burma, the rice fields of China, the plains of Assam, the jagged hills of Attu, the cold depths of the seven seas, the very snows of the arctic, are the richer for mingling with the mortal part of him. Today his blood flecks the foam of the waves that fall on the Normandy beachheads.

"Even as It Was in 1918."

"He drops again and again amid the thunder of shells, while silently down on the tragic soil of France the white apple blossoms drift over him. Yes, even as it was in 1918. Or, nameless phrase, tantalizing and inscrutable as the misty black and bottomless pit of time, Jim is just 'missing in action.' Then all that marks him anywhere is a gold star in the window and the tears that are silently shed for him.

"There are many gold stars on the women sitting in these halls. To all who loved Jim, even more than to those who love Joe, everything we do and say here must be reasonable.

"We are come together here to nominate a President who will make sure that Jim's sacrifice shall not prove useless in the years that lie ahead.

He Dies for the Future.

"For a fighting man dies for the future as well as the past; to keep all that was fine of his country's yesterday, and to give it a chance for a finer tomorrow.

"Do we here in this convention dare ask if Jim's heroic death in battle was historically inevitable? If this war might not have been averted? We know that this war was in the making everywhere in the world after 1918. In the making here, too. Might not skilful and determined American statesmanship have helped to unmake it all thru the '30s? Or, when it was clear to our government that it was too late to avert war, might not truthful and fearless leadership have prepared us better for it in material and in morale, in arms and in aims? These are bitter questions. And the answers to bitter questions belong to time's perspective. Being human, we Republicans are partisan. But being partisan, we risk being unjust if we try to answer these questions in days so fateful. But this, even as partisans, we dare say: The last 12 years have not been Republican years. Maybe Republican Presidents during the 20's were overconfident that sanity would prevail abroad. But it was not a Republican President who dealt with the visibly rising menaces of Hitler and Mussolini and Hirohito.

Promises Also Lie Dead.

"Ours was not the administration that promised young Jim's mother and father and neighbors and friends economic security and peace. Yes, peace. No Republican President gave these promises which were kept to their ears, but broken to their hearts. For this terrible truth cannot be denied: These promises, which were given by a government that was elected again and again and again because it made them, lie quite as dead as young Jim lies now. Jim was the heroic heir of the unheroic Roosevelt decade; a decade of confusion and conflict that ended in war."

Here Mrs. Luce presented an eloquent picture of what the dead would say if they could be present. Her belief, she said, was that they would urge us to look to the future rather than to the past. She drew a parallel between G. I. Jim and George Washington.

Tradition Alive Until 1940.

She recalled that the first President, regarded by his contemporaries as indispensable, refused a third term and established a tradition that endured until 1940. But even today, she asserted, Washington would be calm, knowing that only the people could destroy their own institutions.

She outlined the qualifications for a President—a man who "would rather tell the truth than be President" and love his country and its institutions more than he loves power; no indispensable man, but one who can raise a standard "to which the honest and the wise can repair."

In closing Mrs. Luce said:

"It is as Americans that we are gathered here. We come to choose a President who need not apologize for the mistakes of the past but who will redeem them, who need not explain G. I. Jim's death but who will justify it. Apology and explanation must suffice for the next convention that meets in this city.

"Greater and Freer America."

"We Republicans are here to build a greater and freer America, not only for, but with the millions of young, triumphant, boastful G. I. Joes, who are fighting their way home to us.

"Let the next convention that meets here point to Joe's homecoming with foreboding. Let another party call Joe, who has saved us, 'The terrible problem of the returned veteran.' Another candidate, not ours, can hold Joe's return as an economic club over the heads of the people. We are Americans! We say, 'Joe, we welcome you. So hurry home, Joe, by way of Berlin and Tokyo. We need you to build this great America!'"

NEGRO PRAISES EQUAL RIGHTS PLANK OF G. O. P.

Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, said yesterday that the equal rights plank of the Republican party platform has protected and advanced the constitutional rights of 13 million Negroes more completely than at any time in history.

He asserted that the Republican convention has won the support of 5 million Negro voters in northern states.

"We are confident that Gov. Dewey as President will nail down this plank of the G. O. P. 100 per cent, along with the whole platform, with which the National Negro council is in complete agreement," said Brown. He said the council will conduct a nation-wide campaign to elect Gov. Dewey and Gov. Warren if they receive the Republican nomination.

HOOVER SHARES MIGHTIEST G. O. P. HAND WITH LADY

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Intense heat, former President Herbert Hoover, and Clare Boothe Luce, congresswoman from Connecticut, featured the second session of the Republican national convention yesterday and last night.

Hoover brought the convention to life and drew the first great vocal demonstration of the meeting as he told his listeners that "The only way out of a war is to win it." A cry of "'Atta boy, Herbie" drew an answering ovation from the crowd as Hoover stressed the point that the 30 freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution must be nurtured and watched.

Apparently moved by the reception given his message, Hoover stood for a moment at the microphone and waved a friendly greeting to his admirers as tears joined the drops of perspiration on his face. At the conclusion of his speech the delegates rose and paid him vocal tributes as the galleries joined the cheer.

Escorts Lady to Microphone.

Hoover returned to the speaker's stand to escort Mrs. Luce to the microphone. Attired in a severe navy blue dress, the Connecticut congresswoman brought the convention to its feet as she asserted that the administration is about to twist the country's democracy ino a "sort of bumbledom."

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, permanent chairman of the convention, labored greatly with his five pound gavel to bring milling delegates to order as the night session got under way.

He finally achieved comparative silence in the Chicago Stadium and summoned Dr. Abba Hillel Silver of The Temple, Cleveland, O., to deliver the invocation. After the prayer Martin mentioned Flagstaff, Ariz., highly in connection with the war bond drive, and then introduced Gov. Hickenlooper of Iowa.

Cheer Plea: Bring Boys Home!

Under the temperature raising moving picture lights, Hickenlooper drew a cheer from the delegates and guests with his appeal to bring the boys home at war's end and insure victory by buying war bonds.

Then the Bennett singers sang "God Bless America" while the convention awaited the appearance of Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Luce.

The enthusiastic night meeting followed a day session that was marked by absent delegates, empty guest seats, and the approval without a dissenting voice of the party platform. After Gov. Taft had read the recommendations of the resolutions committee, the convention voted by acclamation to accept the document as the party's policy for the next four years.

MORNING SESSION

A recalcitrant credentials committee and a pack of greedy flies added to the general discomfort of the tropical day in the Stadium. The former forced a two hour recess in the middle of the day's program. The latter, apparently unfed since the elephants left the Stadium, began gleefully to gnaw their way from state to state and thru the press section.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, one of the least perspiring of the official contingent, brought the slightly frayed delegates to order with a gavel attack on the speaker's rostrum and a broad smile.

Tribute Paid Absent Filipinos.

Warren asked hopefully for a report from the credentials committee, but got no response. Then he introduced the Rev. Joseph Simonson of Christ Lutheran church, St. Paul, Minn., who gave the invocation and yielded the microphone to Miss Mildred Maule, of East St. Louis, who sang the national anthem.

Gov. Warren stirred every one when he announced that two vacant delegate seats would remain vacant thruout the session.

"I refer to the seats of the delegates from the Philippines," Warren said. "Wreaths fill those seats and I believe that some one should say a word to this convention about the Philippines. I give you the aide de camp of Gen. MacArthur, the last man to leave Bataan by the general's order—Col. Carlos P. Romulo."

Romulo, an earnest little man, stepped to the microphone, blinked in the face of the motion picture lights, and told those present he had "come to nominate one candidate—Uncle Sam."

Following the Romulo speech Walter S. Hallanan, a delegate at large from West Virginia, moved the convention recess for 45 minutes. After that lapse of time, Hallanan said patiently, he believed the credentials committee might be ready to report.

Gov. Warren brought the delegates back to their seats with a bit of gavel wielding and Robert B. McDougle of West Virginia reported for the credentials committee.

Arthur Geissler, involved in a contest in the 5th district of Oklahoma, was the winner in the only contest in which the credentials committee overruled the national committee.

First demonstration of the day was launched when Warren called on a committee to escort Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, permanent chairman, to the speakers' stand. Former Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas was named as an escorter, but didn't show up on the stand.

Following the Martin speech the convention was recessed until the resolutions committee could get together a platform.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Restless delegates voiced a cheer as Chairman Martin pounded the gavel 50 minutes late for a scheduled 4 o'clock session.

While the convention waited for the much debated platform report from the resolutions committee Bishop David H. Simms of the African Episcopal church addressed the few delegates in the hall, making a plea for tolerance.

"It is rumored that American Negroes, now giving their all for the country, are treated worse than prisoners of war," Bishop Simms told the convention. "We appeal to the Republican party to straighten this matter out."

An expectant hush settled over the convention as Chairman Martin called Sen. Taft of Ohio to the microphone to report on the work of the resolutions committee The platform recommendations were rushed to the Stadium at 5 p. m. by special messenger with police escort.

"I shall read you the document which I hope shall become the platform of the Republican party," said Taft.

Sen. Taft spent 35 minutes reading the platform. Then in less than a minute Chairman Martin put the motion to a vote. It was adopted without a dissenting voice and without debate.

GOLAS, PACKER, GETS A YEAR FOR PRICE VIOLATION

Newark, N. J., June 27 (AP).—Peter Golas, president of the Superb Packing Co., Inc., and vice president of the State Packing company of Chicago, was sentenced yesterday in federal court to a year and a day in prison and fined $10,000 on an indictment charging violation of the meat ceiling prices.

Federal Judge Thomas F. Meaney imposed $10,000 fines each on both companies with which Golas was connected. Golas and the two concerns pleaded guilty June 13.

On the same indictment to which guilty pleas had also been made, the United States Packing company and Sam and Albert Simon of Kansas City, Kas., were fined $10,000 each. The two Simons were given suspended sentences of one year and one day in prison.

The Lieberman Packing company, Green Bay, Wis., which filed a guilty plea June 13, was fined $5,000.

BATAAN'S PLEA TO DELEGATES: 'DON'T FORGET'

BY MARCIA WINN.

A little man with desperation in his voice walked up to the microphone in the Republican convention. His voice was as broken as his accent as he gave the speech he has given many times before.

It is the only speech Col. Carlos P. Romulo has ever made. It is the speech he says his buddies asked him to make when he left them on Bataan on April 9, 1942, three hours before Bataan's surrender. He was the last man out of Bataan, and he spoke for the dead.

His was not a drippy speech. It was not a long speech. It was not a speech easily understood when distorted both by accent and microphones. He has made it in every place in the United States where he could find a platform or an audience, but this time it was different.

Laurel Wreath and Empty Seats.

This time he could see, far down and over to one side, the standard of the delegation from the Philippine Islands. An artificial laurel wreath hung on the standard, and no one sat in the seats of the Philippine row.

"I come to you today interested not in partisan politics, but interested in the honor and glory of America," cried this hopeful voice.

"I come to you representing the 7,000 American soldiers whom I left behind in Bataan. I come to you representing the 75,000 Philippine soldiers who fought beside them and whom I also left in Bataan.

A Plea in Name of Buddies.

"There is good news everywhere today. The invasion of Europe is well under way. We are progressing in the Southwest Pacific. And when I ask you today to think of the forces who are fighting there, I ask it in the name of my buddies who were not as lucky as I. They did not get out of Bataan.

"And this is what I ask of you: Don't forget the Philippines.

"My buddies that I left there—I see them here today. They are with me. They are talking to me. They are saying: 'Romulo, talk to our people. Tell them the truth. Tell them how we fought. Tell them how we starved. Tell them how we died. Tell them how we are dying today.'"

The little man who was on the staff of that general whom he called the statesman soldier, Douglas MacArthur, paused.

Awaiting Dawn's Early Light.

"I saw the American flag ignominously fall down," he said slowly. "I saw what happened there. I know that all in the Philippines today are living for the day when American planes blacken the sky.

"Today when you sing 'The Star Spangled Banner,' and you sing, 'O, say can you see by the dawn's early light,' remember there is no more light in the Philippines. Remember that the Philippines wait—and wait—and wait—for America to come.

"The crippled wait. The dead wait. The living dead in the Japanese concentration camps wait. They are wondering if America still remembers.

"For God's sake, don't let them down."

MERCURY SOARS TO 100; HOTTEST DAY THIS YEAR

A blazing sun yesterday coaxed the mercury up to 100 degrees at 5 p. m., within .1 of a degree of the all-time high for June 27, which was established in 1933. It was the hottest day of the year, and the hottest since July 17, 1942, when the thermometer touched the 100 mark.

It was the 11th day this month that the temperature has been above 90 degrees. The previous record was in June of 1933, when there were 10 days when the mercury went above 90.

The hottest day ever recorded in Chicago was on July 24, 1934, when the temperature was 105 degrees.

F. D. R. BACKED FOR 4TH TERM IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., June 27 (AP).—Kentucky Democrats, meeting here today in nine congressional district conventions, indorsed President Roosevelt for a fourth term, praised United States Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.], and named delegates to the party's national convention in Chicago next month.

The 5th and 8th district conventions indorsed Barkley for the Democratic nomination for Vice President on the November ticket with President Roosevelt.

At the 5th district meeting a picture of Vice President Henry Wallace was taken from the wall amid considerable applause.

Co-operation to Maintain Order Advocated.

want no more Pearl Harbor reports."

The plank, submitted originally by Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan as head of a group appointed at the Mackinac G. O. P. conclave, was kept in the draft with minor changes. To it were added some further declarations, based on the Mackinac charter, which had been omitted. Of these, two statements, for senate ratification under the Constitution of all treaties and foreign undertakings, and for consultation with the veterans on policy affairs, were put in by Sen. Brooks of Illinois.

Some changes were said to have been made in the platform draft after 15 Republican governors appeared before the draft group Monday night for consultation on some subjects. Wendell L. Willkie's criticism of the foreign policy plank in New York Monday was ignored by the platform builders.

Congress Must Approve.

Most debate among the drafters revolved about a declaration in the plank that any international organization to preserve peace should develop means to direct "peace forces" to prevent military aggression. From several directions, the phrase "peace forces" has been criticized as ambiguous and open to more than one interpretation.

A declaration to keep America's defenses ample for safety after the war, and for maintaining the Monroe doctrine, and meeting any military commitments by congress was deemed by the platform makers to cover this issue and at the same time act as safeguard against any relinquishment of America's freedom of action, because the plank insists on action by congress on treaties and agreements of foreign nature under the Constitution.

Labor Plank Strong.

The labor plank declares that, regardless of the professed friendship of the New Deal for the workingman, the fact is that under the New Deal American economic life is being destroyed. Perversion of the Wagner act by the New Deal, it asserts, threatens to destroy collective bargaining completely. It condemns a series of New Deal practices inimicable to labor, says the New Deal has emasculated the labor department, and pledges itself to end political trickery in the administration of laws pertaining to industry and labor.

"We condemn the gradual but effective creation of a Labor Front," it says, "as but one of the New Deal's steps toward a totalitarian state."

A constitutional amendment limiting a President to two terms of not more than four years each is advocated in another plank.

As to burocracy, the platform says the national administration has become a "sprawling, overlapping burocracy." It cites some of the abuses and says the times cry out "for a new spirit in government."

Wide Program for Farmers.

At the earliest possible time after the cessation of hostilities, it pledges itself to bring home all members of the fighting forces who do not have unexpired enlistments and do not volunteer for further overseas duty.

A 10 point program for agriculture was outlined. The farmer must be freed from regimentation and "confusing government manipulation and control," the platform said, and assured of a fair income by protection of an American market price thru support prices, commodity loans, and such other economic means as may be necessary. Subsidy loans as a substitute for fair markets were opposed.

A brown eyed woman wearing a pin in which a large A stood above a small 5 sat in Gen. Robert Wood's box for the night session. She is Mrs. Rebecca Clark of Washington, D. C., the mother of Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, and the A and the 5 are the insignia of the 5th army. She is here visiting her sister, Mrs. John Irwin Marshall of Lake Forest, and shrank from photographers' lenses and interviewers. "My son doesn't like publicity," she said, "and neither do I." She received a letter from him yesterday morning. He said he was fine.

A kindly face and an interest in good government were all you needed to get into the Stadium yesterday afternoon. Because of the heat, program delays, and the ticket shortages, the ushers and doorkeepers took a vacation. Some sat down to listen to the speeches, but there still were empty seats.

The beer market was slow in the convention, with soft drinks selling better, concessionaires reported. Downtown the delegates found it almost impossible to get fried mush for breakfeast.

The convention's first fatality came at the session yesterday morning when a heart attack caused the death of C. C. Wilson of Meade, Kas., lawyer and long-time party leader of the western Kansas wheatland area. His duties as delegate were taken over by his alternate, John Alford, Ulysses banker.

Every Presidential candidate, press service, and big newspaper had convention headquarters in downtown hotels, but not one had a pencil sharpener.

Around the Stadium, $10 was being asked for mezzanine seats to today's session, when Gov. Dewey will be nominated.

Here Is Text of the Republican National Platform for 1944 Presidential Campaign

The text of the platform of 1944 as adopted by the Republican national convention yesterday follows:

"The tragedy of wars is upon our country as we meet to consider the problems of government and our people. We take this opportunity to render homage and enduring gratitude to those brave members of our armed forces who have already made the supreme sacrifice and to those who stand ready to make the same sacrifice that the American course of life may be secure. Mindful of the solemn hour and humbly conscious of our heavy responsibilities, the Republican party in convention assembled presents herewith its principles and makes these covenants with the people of our nation.

THE WAR AND THE PEACE

"At the earliest possible time after the cessation of hostilities we will bring home all members of our armed forces who do not have unexpired enlistments and who do not volunteer for further overseas duty.

"We declare our relentless aim to win the war against all our enemies: [1] for our own American security and welfare; [2] to make and keep the axis powers impotent to renew tyranny and attack; [3] for the attainment of peace and freedom based on justice and security.

World State Rejected.

"We shall seek to achieve such aims thru organized international coöperation and not by joining a world state.

"We favor responsible participation by the United States in post-war coöperative organization among sovereign nations to prevent military aggression and to attain permanent peace with organized justice in a free world.

"Such organization should develop effective coöperative means to direct peace forces to prevent or repel military aggression. Pending this, we pledge continuing collaboration with the united nations to assure these ultimate objectives.

International Tribunal Favored.

"We believe, however, that peace and security do not depend upon the sanction of force alone, but should prevail by virtue of reciprocal interests and spiritual values recognized in these security agreements. The treaties of peace should be just; the nations which are the victims of aggression should be restored to sovereignty and self-government; and the organized coöperation of the nations should concern itself with basic causes of world disorder. It should promote a world opinion to influence the nations to right conduct, develop international law, and maintain an international tribunal to deal with justiciable disputes.

"We shall seek, in our relations with other nations, conditions calculated to promote world-wide economic stability, not only for the sake of the world, but also to the end that our own people may enjoy a high level of employment in an increasingly prosperous world.

Constitution to Be Upheld.

"We shall keep the American people informed concerning all agreements with foreign nations. In all of these undertakings, we favor the widest consultation of the gallant men and women in our armed forces, who have a special right to speak with authority in behalf of the security and liberty for which they fight. We shall sustain the Constitution of the United States in the attainment of our international aims; and, pursuant to the Constitution of the United States, any treaty or agreement to attain such aims made on behalf of the United States with any other nation or any association of nations shall be made only by and with the advice and consent of the senate of the United States provided two-thirds of the senators present concur.

"We shall at all times protect the essential interests and resources of the United States.

WESTERN HEMISPHERE RELATIONS

"We shall develop Pan-American solidarity. The citizens of our neighboring nations in the western hemisphere are, like ourselves, Americans. Coöperation with them shall be achieved thru mutual agreement and without interference in the internal affairs of any nation. Our policy should be a genuine good neighbor policy commanding their respect, and not one based on the reckless squandering of American funds by overlapping agencies.

POST-WAR PREPAREDNESS

"We favor the maintenance of post-war military forces and establishments of ample strength for the successful defense and the safety of the United States, its possessions and outposts, for the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine, and for meeting any military commitments determined by congress.

"We favor the peace time maintenance and strengthening of the National Guards under state control with federal training and equipment as now provided in the national defense act.

DOMESTIC POLICY

"We shall devote ourselves to reëstablishing liberty at home.

"We shall adopt a program to put men to work in peace industry as promptly as possible and with special attention to those who have made sacrifice by serving in the armed forces. We shall take government out of competition with private industry and terminate rationing, price fixing, and all other emergency powers. We shall promote the fullest stable employment thru private enterprise.

Individual Freedom Again.

"The measures we propose shall avoid federalization of government activities, to the end that our states, schools, and cities shall be free; shall avoid delegation of legislative and judicial power to administrative agencies, to the end that the people's representatives in congress shall be independent and in full control of legislative policy; and shall avoid, subject to war necessities, detailed regulation of farmers, workers, business men, and consumers, to the end that the individual shall be free. The remedies we propose shall be based on intelligent coöperation between the federal government, the states, and local government, and the initiative of civil groups, not on the panacea of federal cash.

"Four years more of New Deal policy would centralize all power in the President, and would daily subject every act of every citizen to regulation by his henchmen; and this country could remain a republic in name only. No problem exists which cannot be solved by American methods. We have no need of either the communistic or the fascist technique.

SECURITY

"Our goal is to prevent hardship and poverty in America. That goal is attainable by reason of the productive ability of free American labor, industry, and agriculture, if supplemented by a system of social security on sound principles.

"We pledge our support of the following:

"1. Extension of the existing old age insurance and unemployment insurance system to all employes not already covered.

"2. The return of the public employment office system to the states at the earliest possible time, financed as before Pearl Harbor.

"3. A careful study of federal-state programs for maternal and child health, dependent children, and assistance to the blind, with a view to strengthening these programs.

"4. The continuation of these and other programs relating to health, and the stimulation by federal aid of state plans to make medical and hospital service available to those in need without disturbing doctor-patient relationships or socializing medicine.

"5. The stimulation of state and local plans to provide decent low cost housing properly financed by the federal housing administration, or otherwise, when such housing cannot be supplied or financed by private sources.

LABOR

"The Republican party is the historical champion of free labor. Under Republican administration, manufacturing developed and American workers attained the most progressive standards of living of any workers in the world. Now the nation owes those workers a debt of gratitude for their magnificent productive effort in support of the war.

Economic Life Destroyed.

"Regardless of the professed friendship of the New Deal for the working man, the fact remains that under the New Deal American economic life is being destroyed.

"The New Deal has usurped selfish and partisan control over the functions of government agencies where labor relationships are concerned. The continued perversion of the Wagner act by the New Deal menaces the purposes of the law and threatens to destroy collective bargaining completely and permanently.

"The long series of executive orders and burocratic decrees reveal a deliberate purpose to substitute for contractual agreements of employers and employes the political edicts of a New Deal burocracy. Labor would thus remain organized only for the convenience of the New Deal in enforcing its orders and inflicting its whims upon labor and industry.

Freeze Edicts a Peril.

"We condemn the conversion of administrative boards, ostensibly set up to settle industrial disputes, into instruments for putting into effect the financial and economic theories of the New Deal.

"We condemn the freezing of wage rates at arbitrary levels and the binding of men to their jobs as destructive to the advancement of a free people. We condemn the repeal by executive order of the laws secured by the Republican party to abolish "contract labor" and peonage. We condemn the gradual but effective creation of a Labor Front as but one of the New Deal's steps toward a totalitarian state.

"We pledge an end to political trickery in the administration of labor laws and the handling of labor disputes, and equal benefits on the basis of equality to all labor in the administration of labor controls and laws, regardless of political affiliation.

"The department of labor has been emasculated by the New Deal. Labor bureaus, agencies, and committees are scattered far and wide, in Washington and thruout the country, and have no semblance of systematic or responsible organization. All governmental labor activities must be placed under the direct authority and responsibility of the secretary of labor. Such labor bureaus as are not performing a substantial and definite service in the interest of labor must be abolished.

Labor Should Be in Cabinet.

"The secretary of labor should be a representative of labor. The office of the secretary of labor was created under a Republican President, William Howard Taft. It was intended that a representative of labor should occupy this cabinet office. The present administration is the first to disregard this intention.

"The Republican party accepts the purposes of the national labor relations board, the wage and hour act, the social security act, and all other federal statutes designed to promote and protect the welfare of American working men and women, and we promise a fair and just administration of these laws.

"American well-being is indivisible. Any national program which injures the national economy inevitably injures the wage earner. The American labor movement and the Republican party, while continuously striving for the betterment of labor's status, reject the communistic and New Deal concept that a single group can benefit while the general economy suffers.

AGRICULTURE

"We salute the American farmers, their wives, and families for their magnificent job of war time production and their contribution to the war effort, without which victory could not be assured. They have accomplished this in spite of labor shortages, a bungled and inexcusable machinery program, and confused, unreliable, impractical price and production administration.

"Abundant production is the best security against inflation. Governmental policies in war and in peace must be practical and efficient with freedom from regimentation by an impractical Washington burocracy in order to assure independence of operation and bountiful production, fair and equitable market prices for farm products, and a sound program for conservation and use of our soil and natural resources. Educational progress and the social and economic stability and well-being of the farm family must be a prime national purpose.

Ten Points in Farm Program.

"For the establishment of such a program we propose the following:

"1. A department of agriculture under practical and experienced administration free from regimentation and confusing government manipulation and control of farm programs.

"2. An American market price to the American farmer and the protection of such price by means of support prices, commodity loans, or a combination thereof, together with such other economic means as will assure an income to agriculture that is fair and equitable in comparison with labor, business, and industry. We oppose subsidies as a substitute for fair markets.

"3. Disposition of surplus war commodities in an orderly manner, without destroying markets or continued production and without benefit to speculative profiteers.

Would Control Surpluses.

"4. The control and disposition of future surpluses by means of [a] new uses developed thru constant research, [b] vigorous development of foreign markets, [c] efficient domestic distribution to meet all domestic requirements, and [d] arrangements which will enable farmers to make necessary adjustments in production of any given basic crop only if domestic surpluses should become abnormal and exceed manageable proportions.

"5. Intensified research to discover new crops, and new and profitable uses for existing crops.

"6. Support of the principle of bona fide farmer owned and farmer operated coöperatives.

"7. Consolidation of all government farm credit under a non-partisan board.

Rural Benefits Promised.

"8. To make life more attractive on the family type farm thru development of rural roads, sound extension of rural electrification service to the farm, and elimination of basic evils of tenancy wherever they exist.

"9. Serious study of and search for a sound program of crop insurance, with emphasis upon establishing a self-supporting program.

"10. A comprehensive program of soil, forest, water, and wild life conservation and development, and sound irrigation projects, administered as far as possible at state and regional levels.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY

"We give assurance now to restore peace time industry at the earliest possible time, using every care to avoid discrimination between different sections of the country, [a] by prompt settlement of war contracts with early payment of government obligations and disposal of surplus inventories, and [b] by disposal of surplus government plants, equipment, and supplies, with due consideration to small buyers and with care to prevent monopoly and injury to existing agriculture and industry.

"Small business is the basis of American enterprise. It must be preserved. If protected against discrimination and afforded equality of opportunity thruout the nation, it will become the most potent factor in providing employment. It must also be aided by changes in taxation, by eliminating excessive and repressive regulation and government competition, by the enforcement of laws against monopoly and unfair competition, and by providing simpler and cheaper methods for obtaining venture capital necessary for growth and expansion.

Insurance Must Be Supervised.

"For the protection of the public, and for the security of millions of holders of policies of insurance in mutual and private companies, we insist upon strict and exclusive regulation and supervision of the business of insurance by the several states where local conditions are best known and where local needs can best be met.

"We favor the reëstablishment and maintenance, as early as military considerations will permit, of a sound and adequate American merchant marine under private ownership and management.

"The Republican party pledges itself to foster the development of such strong privately owned air transportation systems and communications systems as will best serve the interests of the American people.

"The federal government should plan a program for flood control, inland waterways, and other economically justifiable public works, and prepare the necessary plans in advance so that construction may proceed rapidly in emergency and in times of reduced employment. We urge that state and local governments pursue the same policy with reference to highways and other public works within their jurisdiction.

TAXATION AND FINANCE

"As soon as the war ends, the present rates of taxation on individual incomes, on corporations, and on consumption should be reduced as far as is consistent with the payment of the normal expenditures of government in the post-war period. We reject the theory of restoring prosperity thru government spending and deficit financing.

"We shall eliminate from the budget all wasteful and unnecessary expenditures and exercise the most rigid economy.

"It is essential that federal and state tax structures be more effectively coördinated to the end that state tax sources be not unduly impaired.

"We shall maintain the value of the American dollar and regard the payment of government debt as an obligation of honor which prohibits any policy leading to the depreciation of the currency. We shall reduce that debt as soon as economic conditions make such reduction possible.

"Control of the currency must be restored to congress by repeal of existing legislation which gives the President unnecessary and dangerous powers over our currency.

FOREIGN TRADE

"We assure American farmers, live stock producers, workers, and industry that we will establish and maintain a fair protective tariff on competitive products so that the standards of living of our people shall not be impaired thru the importation of commodities produced abroad by labor or producers functioning upon lower standards than our own.

"If the post-war world is to be properly organized, a great extension of world trade will be necessary to repair the wastes of war and build an enduring peace. The Republican party, always remembering that its primary obligation, which must be fulfilled, is to our own workers, our own farmers, and our own industry, pledges that it will join with others in leadership in every coöperative effort to remove unnecessary and destructive barriers to international trade. We will always bear in mind that the domestic market is America's greatest market and that tariffs which protect it against foreign competition should be modified only by reciprocal bi-lateral trade agreements approved by congress.

RELIEF, REHABILITATION

"We favor the prompt extension of relief and emergency assistance to the peoples of the liberated countries without duplication and conflict between government agencies.

"We favor immediate feeding of the starving children of our allies and friends in the Nazi dominated countries and we condemn the New Deal administration for its failure, in the face of humanitarian demands, to make any effort to do this.

"We favor assistance by direct credits in reasonable amounts to liberated countries to enable them to buy from this country the goods necessary to revive their economic systems.

BUROCRACY

"The national administration has become a sprawling, overlapping burocracy. It is undermined by executive abuse of power, confused lines of authority, duplication of effort, inadequate fiscal controls, loose personnel practices, and an attitude of arrogance previously unknown in our history.

"The times cry out for the restoration of harmony in government, for a balance of legislative and executive responsibility, for efficiency and economy, and pruning and abolishing unnecessary agencies and personnel, for effective fiscal and personnel controls, and for an entirely new spirit in our federal government.

"We pledge an administration wherein the President, acting in harmony with congress, will effect these necessary reforms and raise the federal service to a high level of efficiency and competence.

"We insist that limitations must be placed upon spending by government corporations of vast sums, never appropriated by congress but made available by directives, and that their accounts should be subject to audit by the general accounting office.

TWO TERM LIMIT FOR PRESIDENT

"We favor an amendment to the Constitution providing that no person shall be President of the United States for more than two terms of four years each.

EQUAL RIGHTS

"We favor submission by congress to the states of an amendment to the Constitution providing for equal rights for men and women. We favor job opportunities in the post-war world open to men and women alike without discrimination in rate of pay because of sex.

VETERANS

"The Republican party has always supported suitable measures to reflect the nation's gratitude and to discharge its duty toward the veterans of all wars.

"We approve, have supported, and have aided in the enactment of laws which provide for reëmployment of veterans of this war in their old positions, for mustering out pay, for pensions for widows and orphans of such veterans killed or disabled, for rehabilitation of disabled veterans, for temporary unemployment benefits, for education and vocational training, and for assisting veterans in acquiring homes and farms and in establishing themselves in business.

"We shall be diligent in remedying defects in veterans' legislation and shall insist upon efficient administration of all measures for the veterans' benefit.

RACIAL AND RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE

"We unreservedly condemn the injection into American life of appeals to racial or religious prejudice.

"We pledge an immediate congressional inquiry to ascertain the extent to which mistreatment, segregation, and discrimination against Negroes who are in our armed forces are impairing morale and efficiency, and the adoption of corrective legislation.

"We pledge the establishment by federal legislation of a permanent fair employment practice commission.

ANTI-POLL TAX

"The payment of any poll tax should not be a condition of voting in federal elections and we favor immediate submission of a constitutional amendment for its abolition.

ANTI-LYNCHING

"We favor legislation against lynching and pledge our sincere efforts in behalf of its early enactment.

INDIANS

"We pledge an immediate, just, and final settlement of all Indian claims between the government and the Indian citizenship of the nation. We will take politics out of the administration of Indian affairs.

PROBLEMS OF THE WEST

"We favor a comprehensive program of reclamation projects for our arid and semi-arid states, with recognition and full protection of the rights and interests of those states in the use and control of water for present and future irrigation and other beneficial consumptive uses.

"We favor [a] exclusion from this country of live stock and fresh and chilled meat from countries harboring foot and mouth disease or rinderpest; [b] full protection of our fisheries whether by domestic regulation or treaties; [c] consistent with military needs, the prompt return to private ownership of lands acquired for war purposes; [d] withdrawal or acquisition of lands for establishment of national parks, monuments, and wild life refuges, only after due regard to local problems and under closer controls to be established by the congress; [e] restoration of the long established public land policy which provides opportunity of ownership by citizens to promote the highest land use; [f] full development of our forests on the basis of cropping and sustained yield; coöperation with private owners for conservation and fire protection; [g] the prompt reopening of mines which can be operated by miners and workers not subject to military service and which have been closed by burocratic denial of labor or material; [h] adequate stock-piling of war minerals and metals for possible future emergencies; [i] continuance, for tax purposes, of adequate depletion allowances on oil, gas, and minerals; [j] administration of laws relating to oil and gas on the public domain to encourage exploratory operations to meet the public need; [k] continuance of present federal laws on mining claims on the public domain, good faith administration thereof, and we state our opposition to the plans of the secretary of the interior to substitute a leasing system; and [l] larger representation in the federal government of men and women especially familiar with western problems.

HAWAII

"Hawaii, which shares the nation's obligation equally with the several states, is entitled to the fullest measure of home rule looking toward statehood; and to equality with the several states in the rights of their citizens and in the application of all our national laws.

ALASKA

"Alaska is entitled to the fullest measure of home rule looking toward statehood.

PUERTO RICO

"Statehood is a logical aspiration of the people of Puerto Rico, who were made citizens of the United States by congress in 1917; legislation affecting Puerto Rico, in so far as feasible, should be in harmony with the realization of that aspiration.

PALESTINE

"In order to give refuge to millions of distressed Jewish men, women, and children driven from their homes by tyranny, we call for the opening of Palestine to their unrestricted immigration and land ownership, so that in accordance with the full intent and purpose of the Balfour declaration of 1917 and the resolution of a Republican congress in 1922, Palestine may be constituted as a free and democratic commonwealth. We condemn the failure of the President to insist that the mandatory of Palestine carry out the provision of the Balfour declaration and of the mandate while he pretends to support them.

FREE PRESS AND RADIO

"In times like these, when whole peoples have found themselves shackled by governments which denied the truth, or worse, dealt in half-truths or withheld the facts from the public, it is imperative to the maintenance of a free America that the press and radio be free and that full and complete information be available to Americans. There must be no censorship except to the extent required by war necessity.

"We insistently condemn any tendency to regard the press or the radio as instruments of the administration and the use of government publicity agencies for partisan ends. We need a new radio law which will define, in clear and unmistakable language, the role of the federal communications commission.

"All channels of news must be kept open with equality of access to information at the source. If agreement can be achieved with foreign nations to establish the same principles, it will be a valuable contribution to future peace.

"Vital facts must not be withheld.

"We want no more Pearl Harbor reports.

GOOD FAITH

"The acceptance of the nominations made by this convention carries with it, as a matter of private honor and public faith, an undertaking by each candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth.

CONCLUSION

"The essential question at trial in this nation is whether men can organize together in a highly industrialized society, succeed, and still be free. That is the essential question at trial thruout the world today.

"In this time of confusion and strife, when moral values are being crushed on every side, we pledge ourselves to uphold with all our strength the Bill of Rights, the Constitution, and the law of the land. We so pledge ourselves that the American tradition may stand forever as the beacon light of civilization."

Lt. R. F. Atkins, Bombing Pilot, in German Prison

Mr. and Mrs. Philip S. Nunn, 925 Lawler av., were notified yesterday that their foster son, Lt. Robert F. Atkins, 24, a bomber pilot reported missing since a raid over Germany on May 24, is a prisoner of war. Lt. Atkins, who had participated in more than 15 bombing raids, is a graduate of Austin High school and has been in the army three years.

MAPLE sugar and honey were generally used for sweetening in Martha Washington's time. But housewives of elegance always had loaf sugar on hand for company. It came in a large cone covered with blue paper (they used that later to make indigo dye)—and the ladies of the house fluttered about the dining-room table, ceremoniously cutting the sugar for the day with some special scissors.

A Treat FOR THE SWEET-TOOTH

Nearly all of us have a hankering for something sweet, at least now and again. Sugar alone would probably do—but how much more satisfying and delicious is the old-fashioned goodness of Martha Washington Candies. There's a wonderful variety of tempting varieties to please every taste . . . and all are of exactly that same superior quality which has for so long been a proud Martha Washington tradition.

U. S. WANTS 30 FREEDOMS, NOT 4, SAYS HOOVER

Cites Shackles New Deal Has Put on Liberty.

High points of the address of former President Herbert Hoover to the Republican national convention last night follow:

"Tonight I propose to speak to you upon some larger forces which are contending in this world convulsion, and the direction our country should take if freedom of men is to be preserved.

"By whatever failures of statesmanship the world was brought to this ghastly Second World War, the realistic fact is that we are in it. There is only one way out of the war—that is to win it. And victory will come again to our armies and fleets, for the sons of America do not quit.

Pledges "No Compromise."

"By winning the war I mean absolute victory over the enemy armies. Any compromise with Hitler or Tojo will destroy all hope of either freedom or a lasting peace. That is our pledge to these thousands of our men who are dying in the islands of the Pacific and upon the fields of Italy and France.

"We are fighting not alone for preservation of freedom, but also for the moral and spiritual foundations of civilization. And it is not alone these foundations under other parts of the world which concern us today. We have need to look to our American house.

"Recently a canvass was made among youth, both in the armed forces and on the home front to learn what sort of a world they wanted after this war.

Want Security and Job.

"I may tell you:

"They want a home with a family, a dog, and an automobile. They want the security and self-respect of a job. They want to be free to choose their own jobs and not to be ordered to them by a burocrat. They want to prove their own worth and have the rewards of their own efforts. They want to be free to plan their own lives. They want to be free to undertake their own adventures.

"They want the pleasure of creative work. They want the joy of championing justice for the weak. They want to tell every evil person where he can go. They want a government that will keep down oppression whether from business or labor. They want a fair chance. They want peace in the world that their children never need go thru the agonies and sacrifices they have themselves endured.

Want to Be Free Americans.

"They want to be free Americans again. Unexpressed in all this there is deep in their souls a force that reaches back into a thousand generations. That is, the ceaseless yearning of humankind to be free. Its advance is as sure as the movement of the stars in the universe. It is as real as the law of gravitation. It is as everlasting as the existence of God."

Here Hoover recalled that in past campaign years he warned his party that American freedom was in danger; that the New Deal "in milder form followed the tactics of European revolutions." The method in Europe, he said, was to destroy all personal freedom, regiment under central government and destroy the ruling regime's enemies by purge and character assassination. Then he asked:

"Do you recognize any similarity between these practices and the ten years of the New Deal?

"Has not every distress, every sorrow, every fear of the people been used to further fasten some part of these totalitarian practices upon us?

"With the blessing of the attorney general, the Communists and the fellow travelers are spending vast sums to reëlect this regime. Would they spend their money to support the freedom of men?

"We all recognize that to win this war many liberties must temporarily be suspended at home. We have had to accept much dictatorship of burocracy. We must adopt some of the very practices against which we are fighting. In former wars we had no fear of such temporary suspension of liberty. Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson believed in freedom of men.

"Long before the war in an address on Jan. 3, 1936, Mr. Roosevelt recounted how he had 'built up new instruments of public power' which could 'provide shackles for the liberties of the people' in any other hands. Freedom is not promoted by shackles in anybody's hands.

"Conflict Instead of Unity."

"We now know the peace-time shackles they provided for the liberties of the people. They put shackles on our farmers. They put them on honest labor unions, on the freedom of workmen, on honest business enterprise. They have done more. These burocrats with these 'instruments of power' fanned bitter hatreds between labor unions which have divided the ranks of labor. And they fanned hate between employers and workmen. They built class conflict instead of national unity.

"Can a regime which forged 'shackle on the liberties of the people' in peace time be trusted to return freedom to the people from the shackles of war?

Asks 30 Freedoms, Not Four.

"Our present rulers have now issued an abridged edition of the bill of rights and the other constitutional guarantees of the citizens from oppression by government. They call the new version the four freedoms. The original edition, issued and perfected by the fathers, contains 30 freedoms, not four only.

"True freedom abides in the whole 30. They have enriched the soil and the soul of this land for 170 years. Not one or four, but all of them together have brought the greatest advance in civilization in the history of mankind. In this time of crisis to freedom should we amend or abandon any of them?

"The Constitution of the United States is a philosophy of government. It is not suspended even by war. But apparently some of these guarantees in our Constitution have not yet been approved by the OPA, the WLB, the NLRB, the FEC, the FCC, and some other parts of the alphabet.

Agencies Ignore Rights.

"If you happen to get into the clutches of these agencies you will find a lot of the spirit of even the Magna Charta has been forgotten, to say nothing of the Constitution. As an exercise in history you might read again some of those rights, such as, trial by jury; the right of appeal to the courts; just compensation for property taken for public use; the provisions against search and seizure; taking of property without due process of law, and others.

"These 30 freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution will survive only so long as their safeguards also survive. I need not remind you of the steady invasion of state rights; the packing of the courts; the dictation to congress; the constant proof that executive officials arrogate unlawful authority.

"Only by a change in administration will our returning soldiers find freedom preserved at home."

"Hard Task of Government."

Hoover said that government long ago began to aid its poorer citizens; that there had been centralization of these efforts in recent years, and that such activities must be taken out of politics. He added that in curing economic abuses, we "do not need to burn down the house of freedom with the fires of totalitarianism to destroy a few rats."

He said that in the period of transition to peace economy it would be easy enough to suppress individuals or to subsidize them to lean on government or a political party. He continued:

"The hard task of government, and the really liberal task is to build self-reliance, stimulate initiative, and thereby create men and women of energy, of dignity, and of independence. That is the motive power of America.

Must Make Decision Now.

"We will need every atom of this power in the nation, if we are quickly to convert from guns to plowshares in such fashion as to provide jobs and opportunity for all our people. That can never be had by burocratic curbing of initiative, class war, or any other mixture of this totalitarianism with freedom.

"The decision between these philosophies of government must be made now, for the plans must be established now. We cannot be without a peace program as we were without a preparedness program. We owe it to our fighting men that they find no delays in productive jobs.

"Only by a change in administration will these gigantic problems be solved in a climate of freedom.

Nationalism Rising From War.

"Already during this war we are making the mould in which the new world will be cast. Some of these shapes are already beginning to emerge:

"1. It is obvious that the hot fires of nationalism are rising out of the emotions of this war just as they do from every war. The communist internationalism of Russia has been driven out by the nationalist aspiration to free mother Russia and expand the empire. Other united nations are demanding the independent resumption of their possessions. Mr. Churchill has stated that he did not become his majesty's prime minister to preside over the liquidation of the British empire. I am sure that if the Republican party comes to power it will not be to liquidate either the economic welfare or the independence of the United States.

"2. It is obvious from the rise of nationalism that ideas of world super-government, no matter how idealistic, are already dead from these cold blasts of realism. Peace must be based upon coöperation between independent sovereign nations.

For Three World Divisions.

"3. It is obvious that three great dominant centers of power will emerge from this war—That is, the United States, Great Britain, Russia, and possibly China as a fourth. And France will some day return as a major power.

"4. It is obvious that there must be some sort of world organization to preserve peace. It is proposed that, like the league of nations, it shall have a general assembly representing all peaceful nations and a council in which the great centers of power have a permanent part. If the general assembly is not to be a mere debating society, it should be split into three divisions—one for Europe, one for Asia, and one for the western hemisphere. And each region should be given the primary responsibility for peace in its area before the central council is called upon. Especially should that responsibility be imposed on Europe where the dangers of world wars come from.

Foundations Must Be Sure.

"5. It is obvious that there must be a long transition period from war to stable peace. Before any organization to preserve peace can succeed, the foundations of political and economic reconstruction of the world must be laid in such a manner as to allay the causes of war. Unless these foundations are surely laid, any temple dedicated to preserving peace will be built upon sand. That was the disaster of the league of nations. A good league has never cured a bad peace.

"6. It is obvious that the great centers of power in Washington, London, and Moscow will dominate these vital political and economic settlements no matter what peace preserving machinery is set up. Their approach to these settlements must be that of trustee for all nations, not their selfish interests. They must not become a disguised military alliance or become the scene of power politics or balance of power. The whole history of the world is punctuated by the collapse of such methods into renewed wars.

Can't Finance World WPA.

"7. It should be obvious that there can be no lasting peace unless the productivity of the world be restored. That can come only by exertion from within nations and from political settlements which give them a chance. The United States must furnish food to thousands of starving towns and cities ravaged by the enemy. We should have long since been feeding the undernourished children, for compassion is not dead in America. The United States can be helpful to all mankind, but it is certain we cannot finance a world WPA.

"8. It is obvious that American people have but one purpose in this war. We want to live in peace. We do not want these horrors again. We want no territory except some Pacific island bases that will protect the United States. We want no domination over any nation. We want no indemnities. We want no special privileges."

Sacrifices Are for Freedom.

But the United States does want to see foreign nations liberated, Hoover asserted. He added that "history is more important than oratory," and that "the ideal of freedom, which took us into all our wars, still exists; it did not begin to take form with the Atlantic Charter." We are making our present huge sacrifices, he asserted, for freedom.

He quoted Forrest Davis, journalist, as saying that President Roosevelt had a "great design," exposed at Teheran, to make the United States a balance between Russia and England in power politics, and continued:

"If that be the case, you may be sure that we will sooner or later gain the enmity of both of them. The basis of lasting peace for America must be friendship of nations, not brokerage of power politics.

"There may have been no political commitments at Teheran. But certainly since that conference we have seen a series of independent actions by Russia which seem to be the negative of restored sovereignty to certain peoples. Certainly the Atlantic Charter has been sent to the hospital for major amputations of freedom among nations. The American people deserve a much fuller exposition of this great design.

"And the Teheran conference raises another question. Under our form of government the President cannot speak either for the congress or the conclusions of American public opinion. The only way for America to succeed in foreign relations is by open declaration of policies. They must first have seasoned consideration and public understanding. These do not come by secret diplomacy. America cannot successfully bluff, intrigue or play the sordid game of power politics."

Hoover said that secret diplomacy had much to do with the failure of the peace of Versailles. He advanced a belief that the President could be far more influential in the White House than in any foreign city, and should leave the task of conferring to the state department. He then said:

"America needs a change in administration to get out of personal power diplomacy.

"There is a force for freedom as old as life itself which will emerge with new vividness from the complexities of the times. Not only life, but freedom itself, must find regeneration from youth.

"In every generation youth presses forward toward achievement. Each generation has the right to build its own world.

"Older men declare war. But it is youth that must fight and die. And it is youth who must inherit the tribulation, the sorrow, and the triumphs that are the aftermath of war.

New Generation Coming On.

"The convention is handing the leadership of the Republican party to a new generation. And soon to support these younger men there will be an oncoming generation who will differ from all others. Twelve million young men matured far beyond their years under the supreme tests of war will be coming home. To them will be added the other millions of young men and women serving in the shops, on the farms, and in the offices. They also, by the responsibilities they have shared, have had their minds and understanding advanced beyond their age.

"From the tremendous experience in this war this new generation will have grown in responsibility, in dignity, in initiative, and skills. These young men will return to demand justification for their sacrifices, and for the sacrifice of their buddies who have died.

"Today, more than any new generation that we have known, youth will demand a voice in its own destiny.

Sounds Call to Youth.

"I rejoice that this is to be. Youth can bring the courage, the ideals, and confidence which can erect a new society in America upon the debris of two world wars. We need their courage as never before.

"And may I say this to youth. You have a great material heritage. But you have even a greater heritage. That is a heritage of religious faith of morals and of liberty. There is no problem which confronts the nation that you cannot solve within this framework.

"You in your own manner can lead our people away from the jungle of disorderly, cynical, and bitter ideas, the topsy-turvy confusions, the hopelessness and lack of faith and defeatism that have haunted this nation over these dozen years. You can lead our nation back to unity of purpose again."

Dewey Elephant

Mrs. Mildred Hughes with plush elephant she hopes to present to Gov. Dewey. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

A red and white elephant of plush from Gov. Dewey's adopted state of New York and stuffed with cotton from the maker's home state of Alabama, is ready for presentation to the man who is expected to be nominated for President today at the Republican national convention.

The oversize toy—it is 3 feet long and 2½ feet high—bears the name "Dewey" on one side and "G. O. P." on the other of its white blanket. Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Hughes, 1960 Ogden av., displayed it yesterday before convention delegates.

Today, if Gov. Dewey is nominated and comes to Chicago and the Hughes family can get near him, their daughter, Carmelita, 8, will present him the elephant, the product of Mrs. Hughes' expert needlework.

WILLKIE SEEKING PLACE ON F. D. R.'S TICKET: SHAFER

BY WALTER TROHAN.

Wendell Willkie.

The bitter attack by Wendell L. Willkie on the foreign policy plank Monday night was viewed yesterday by members of congress attending the Republican convention as a bid by the "Barefoot Boy of Wall st." for the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination.

"In his vicious assault on the earnest efforts of the conscientious members of the platform drafting committee, I am certain Wendell was telling President Roosevelt he is willing to be his running mate," said Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.].

"In his vaunting ambition to occupy the White House, Willkie would do anything. He jumped the Democratic party, and is now prepared to return. For all his efforts, I nominate him for president of the political switchman's union."

Cite Palace Guard Plot.

Representatives Day [R., Ill.] and Allen [R., Ill.] joined in voicing suspicion that personal ambition prompted Willkie's attempt to destroy the harmony of the platform builders. They recalled reports of a White House palace guard plot early in May to place in the second spot on the fourth term ticket the man who captured the Republican nomination in 1940.

An effort was made to promote Willkie for the then vacant post of secretary of the navy in the hope that by close contact with President Roosevelt he might offset the latter's reported dislike for him, and so ingratiate himself that F. D. R. would accept him as his running mate.

Scheme Angers President.

The plot reportedly was hatched by Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter, who is credited with masterminding the internationalist strategy at the 1940 Republican convention in Philadelphia which enabled seizure of the nomination for Willkie so that the third term would have only phony opposition. David K. Niles [Neyhaus], White House hatchet man, and Isadore Lubin, head of the bureau of labor statistics, were said to be Frankfurter's lieutenants in the drive to persuade Mr. Roosevelt that Willkie would make the best running mate in November.

Mr. Roosevelt, evidently angered by the scheming of his aids, crushed the plot by naming James Forrestal to the navy post. This appointment was regarded as serving notice that Vice President Wallace again would take the second place on the Democratic ticket.

EVERY SESSION HOLDS A THRILL FOR MRS. WARREN

Skips Meals So She Won't Miss Moment of It.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Mrs. Earl Warren.

The average person holding tickets to the Republican convention picks his sessions with care. He tries to avoid the roll calls, the committee reports, the hours of emptiness waiting for roll calls or committee reports. But Mrs. Earl Warren attends every session. She says that is why she came.

About 200 persons were in the Stadium yesterday morning when Mrs. Warren and her daughter, Virginia, 15, arrived. They had skipped breakfast just as they skipped dinner Monday night. After all, Mrs. Warren reminded one writer, Gov. Warren was presiding.

Mrs. Warren is just about the prettiest official wife in the Stadium. She is blonde with blue eyes and naturally curly yellow hair, a blondness that was immediately understood when she explained that she was born in Sweden, was brought to the United States as a baby, and that her maiden name was Nina Palmquist.

Brought to Chicago When Baby.

Mrs. Warren, one of five children, was 2 months old when her family moved to America. They came first to Chicago and later lived for three years in South Bend, Ind. They next moved to San Diego and finally to Oakland, Cal., where Mrs. Warren lived until official duties took her husband to Sacramento.

She seems to be excited by everything, even the music, and she leans forward, gay and alert, to catch every nuance and word. She thought her husband's keynote address Monday night the best speech he ever made. "But," she added, "every time he makes a speech I think it's the best speech he has made."

'Entirely Different Life.'

"I've barely learned the role of being a governor's wife," she continued. "I've only been that two years. Its taken a great deal of adjusting. Earl has always been so busy with every job he held that there hasn't been much time for anything social, and now that he is governor, it is an entirely different life—for me, I mean."

Until he became governor, she was far too busy raising six children to bother about the outer world. She is still busy, for only one, Jim, is grown. He is a 2d lieutenant in the marine corps undergoing indoctrination at Quantico, Va. Jim's son, Jimmy Lee, three months old, telegraphed the governor after his keynote speech Monday. "I was listening at the radio," said the wire, sent his aunt, Dotty, who is 13. "You were fine, grandpop."

The complete Warren roster is Jim, 24, Virginia, who will be 16 next month; Dotty, Earl Jr., who is 14; Nina, who is 10, and Bobby, who is 8. All wanted to come to the convention. Mrs. Warren compromised by promising to bring them all presents. She bought them at the Stadium—war stamp corsages.

BRITAIN ACTS TO BROADEN RULES OF BY-ELECTIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 27.—Britain today discussed a bill to be used only in by-elections to replace members of the longest parliament since Cromwell's day. The last general election was held in 1935, and the next, scheduled for 1940, was postponed. Every year since a bill prolonging parliament another 12 months has been passed on the ground a general election would not be in the public's interest in war time.

The new bill, which is temporary, provides that citizens qualified to vote in a particular constituency can do so if they reside there for not less than two months before the by-election. The present law, passed in 1943, required "permanent" residence.

Home Secretary Herbert Morrison promised parliament the law was not intended to be used for a general election. He said it was his intention that a general election should not come before the end of the war.

SEDITION TRIAL LAWYER AGAIN FINED BY JUDGE

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—A defense attorney at the mass sedition trial of 29 persons was fined $200 by the presiding judge today for assertedly prolonging a cross-examination beyond reasonable limits.

The jurist, Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher in United States District court, fined the attorney, Henry H. Klein, after several times ordering him to proceed with his questioning of a witness for the government. Klein earlier in the trial was fined $200 for arguing with tne court.

The witness, Roy P. Arnold of Los Angeles, testified about an alleged plan of the German-American bund to seize control of the government. Arnold quoted Hans Diebel, one of the defendants, as stating that a farmers' strike in the New York City area was to be the signal for the start of a bund "putsch" to take over the government.

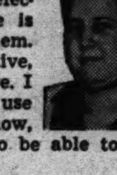
THE QUESTION.

What family possession would you like most for a keepsake?

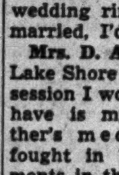
WHERE ASKED.

Mather Tower Bldg., 75 E. Wacker dr.

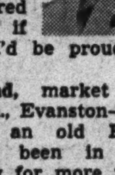
THE ANSWERS.



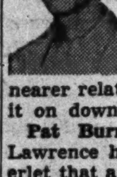
Bea Mueller, typist, 2640 N. Dayton st.—Mother has two old fashioned lamps that used to burn oil. She had them wired for electricity and unique is no word for them. They are decorative, useful, and effective. I have no particular use for them right now, but I'd just like to be able to say they were mine.



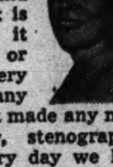
Mary Kaye Hampsch, receptionist, 120 S. Euclid av., Oak Park—A piece of my great-grandmother's wedding ring has been fitted into my grandmother's and mother's wedding rings. We still have a small piece left and I hope that I may have a small part of it in my wedding ring. Even if I don't get married, I'd still like to have it.



Mrs. D. A. Grant, housewife, 1400 Lake Shore dr.—One old family possession I would like to have is my grandfather's medals. He fought in 12 engagements in the Crimean war. Mother has his collection in England. They're a treasured possession of hers; if they were mine I'd be proud of them.



Stanley Berglund, market research, 908 Reba pl., Evanston—We have an old Bible that's been in the family for more than 100 years. It's written in Swedish and beautifully bound. I would like most to have this book. It has all the photographs of my nearer relatives and I'd like to pass it on down.



Pat Burns, radio writer, New Lawrence hotel—Mother has a coverlet that a great-aunt of mine made by hand. The wool is hand carded, woven, and dyed, and the work is gorgeous. I'd use it for a show piece, or put it where every one could see it. Many such blankets aren't made any more.

Marion Tecotsky, stenographer, 5414 Ellis av.—Every day we have coffee made in an old copper pot that has been used for generations. We had it made into an electric pot and it turns out excellent coffee. It's a quaint old utensil. We've all become attached to it. Coffee doesn't seem real unless it's made in this pot.

$1,700,000 BONDS BOUGHT BY FIELD STORE IN LOOP

A check for $1,700,000 from Marshall Field & Co. on behalf of its downtown store was turned over to the fifth war loan campaign yesterday by William S. Street, vice president and general manager of the firm, at a war bond breakfast at Field's loop department store. It was part of a corporate subscription of $3,000,000 by the company to the campaign. The check was accepted by Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, local chairman of the women's division of the war finance committee.

The breakfast was attended by 500 persons, each of whom had bought a $100 war bond. Speeches were made by four authors, Col. Carlos P. Romulo, who was aide to Gen. MacArthur when they left Bataan; Louis Bromfield, Martha Ostenso, and Sterling North. Four books, one by each author, were auctioned and brought $3,000.

A sale of $200,000 of fifth war loan bonds was credited to Cook county by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, whose vice president, F. T. Whiting, announced a total purchase by the company and subsidiaries thruout the country of $43,520,000. Bond purchases to all five war loans by the Westinghouse group total $124,174,000.

Lt. Robert J. Gallagher, Pilot, Killed Over Rome

Lt. Robert J. Gallagher, 23, a bomber pilot, was killed in action over Rome on May 23, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Gallagher, 1725 Wilson av., have been informed by the war department. Lt. Gallagher, a graduate of New Trier High school, entered the army in November, 1941. A brother, Lt. Thomas F. Gallagher III., is also an army pilot.

Police Captain Suffers Heart Attack at Stadium

Supervising Capt. John P. Ryan of the 6th police division suffered a heart attack yesterday while on duty at the Stadium. He was taken to his home at 5919 N. Kilbourn av., where he suffered a second seizure, after which he was removed to the Edgewater hospital. He was reported improved last night. Capt. Ryan is 59.

MOTHER ARRIVES TO WATCH G. O. P. SELECT DEWEY

One of the most interested spectators at the convention today and one who is certain to draw attention will be Mrs. George Martin Dewey of Owosso, Mich., mother of Gov. Dewey of New York.

Attending her first political convention, Mrs. Dewey said last night she never had been in politics, unlike her famous son and his father before him, but that she always voted the Republican ticket. She talked about her son at a press conference in the Stevens hotel shortly after her arrival in Chicago.

The Presidency would be a "big job, a burden for any one in war time," but she knows "Tom will do a good job," said Mrs. Dewey.

Aids Red Cross, Hospital.

A Red Cross worker in two wars, Mrs. Dewey also assists at a hospital desk one-half day a week. With a housekeeper, she maintains an "old-fashioned" home in Owosso, is a member of three bridge clubs, and once won a cup and a pin in a bridge tournament.

Born Anne Thomas in Owosso of an Irish born mother and a Canadian born father of English stock, Mrs. Dewey gave her only child her surname. She raised him to be "a good boy," but the thought that he might some day be President never occurred to her, she said.

"Like most of the boys," she said, "he wanted to be a street car conductor or a fireman."

Tom Dewey sat down at the piano for his first music lessons at the age of 7, his mother continued, and, liking music, he was "pretty good about practicing," she said. When he returned from a European trip in 1923, after his graduation from Columbia university, he had a moustache.

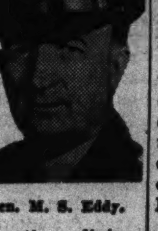
Father Active in Public Life.

"I liked it," said Mrs. Dewey. "His father had always worn one."

Her husband, before his death years ago, had held office as postmaster of Owosso, alderman, county board chairman, and for six years was chief clerk in the auditor general's office at Lansing, Mich. He was born in Hastings, Mich., and was a third cousin of Admiral Dewey, Spanish-American war hero.

Mrs. Dewey is a guest of her cousin, Leonard C. Reid, Chicago attorney, who lives at 4810 Ellis av.

9TH DIVISION LED INTO CHERBOURG BY A CHICAGOAN



Gen. M. S. Eddy.

Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy of the 9th United States infantry division, which was identified in invasion dispatches as one of the divisions that captured Cherbourg, is a Chicagoan who was born 52 years ago in the Buena park district, the area around Buena av. and Sheridan rd.

Gen. Eddy, an army officer for 27 years, has three brothers living in Chicago suburbs. They are John E. Eddy, 311 6th st., Hinsdale, vice president of the Miehle Printing Press and Manufacturing company; W. Sprague Eddy, 840 Foxdale av., Winnetka, a broker, and George Eddy Jr., 920 Washington st., Evanston, member of an insurance firm.

A captain when the United States entered the World War I., Eddy fought in France and was wounded twice in the summer of 1918. A colonel when we entered this war, Gen. Eddy led his division thru the African and Sicilian campaigns last year and for his brilliant work received the Legion of Merit and Legion of Honor.

MOVE TO PLACE MAYOR KELLY IN PAT NASH'S POST

First Step Is Taken by 50th Ward Club.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Democratic precinct captains of the 50th ward took the first step last night in the plan to elect Mayor Kelly to membership in the Cook County Democratic Central committee and then make him its chairman. They recommended the mayor, who lives in the 42d ward, as the successor to their committeeman, City Collector Louis Rixmann, who died last week.

The county committee is expected to act favorably on the recommendation and it was reported that the mayor has made known his willingness to accept.

Ald. Quinn Explains Plan.

Ald. James R. Quinn told his fellow members of the 50th ward club of the plan and they said they would be honoring their own organization and the county committee as well.

If Quinn's expectations are fulfilled, Mayor Kelly will take the place made vacant last October by the death of Patrick A. Nash, who had been a Democrat boss for many years, and who shared with Kelly the leadership of the Kelly-Nash political machine. No one explained to the 50th ward democrats why Kelly should want the county chairmanship.

Mayor Has Power of Boss.

No Chicago mayor has been a ward committeeman or county chairman for several generations, Democrats remarked, but every mayor was in a position to be his party's boss.

Nash was made county chairman when the late Anton Cermak became mayor. Nash was regarded as one of the men who put Kelly into the mayor's chair after Cermak died. No temporary chairman of the county committee was chosen after Nash's death.

There was not a dissenting voice when Ald. Quinn told his constituents of the program. George Smith, brother of County Board President Smith, presided over the meeting. There are 86 precincts in the ward, and approximately 86 men and women were present.

STAMBAUGH, NYE LEAD IN PRIMARY IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., June 27 (AP).—Former National American Legion Commander Lynn U. Stambaugh of Fargo had a 724 vote lead over incumbent Gerald P. Nye with 540 of North Dakota's 2,254 precincts reported in today's primary election.

Nye had the endorsement of the Republican organizing committee and Stambaugh ran as an independent. Stambaugh had 12,999 votes; Nye, 12,275.

United States Rep. Usher L. Burdick, nonpartisan league endorsee, had 9,683 and A. C. Townley, founder of the league but running as an independent, 390.

Lemke Takes Lead.

William Lemke, incumbent, and Milton Young, Lamoure farmer, both endorsed by the Republican organizing committee, were leading in the race for nomination for United States representative with 34 precincts reported. Lemke had 616, Young 483, former Congressman Charles R. Robertson 431, and Ralph Beede 219. Robertson and Beede have the endorsement of the league.

Three independent candidates for the representative nomination were trailing well behind the other four candidates. Cal Danielson, Minto paint salesman, had 140; Zdena Trinka, Lidgerwood authoress, 23, and George McClellan Beach, real estate dealer, 78.

Rains, ranging up to five inches at Minot in the past 40 hours, had cut heavily into the anticipated rural vote in northwestern North Dakota and indications are that the total vote cast will be below that of the 1940 and 1942 primaries, when the Republican balloting totaled 152,250 and 100,285 respectively.

Aandahl Ahead for Governor.

Fred G. Aandahl, Republican organizing committee candidate for governor, was leading nonpartisan league endorsee Alvin C. Strutz, 1,802 to 829, with 43 precincts reported.

The CIO political action committee, with regional headquarters in Minneapolis, was active in opposing Nye, who has been a thorn in the flesh of the New Deal since his early attacks on the NRA and his active part in the fight against packing of the Supreme court.

BOY, 3, FATALLY HURT BY TRUCK IN BROADVIEW

Howard Vogel, 3, of 2320 S. 13th av., Broadview, was fatally injured yesterday when he was hit by a truck at 20th st. and Roosevelt rd., in the suburb. He died later in Hines Veterans' hospital. The truck driver, Abe Sedler of the Calvert hotel, 1803 Wabash av., told Chief Edward Grant of Broadview that the Vogel boy ran out from behind a parked car in front of his truck. Sedler was charged with reckless driving.

Martin Machtel, 59, of 1634 Bloomingdale av., a watchman, died in North Avenue hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Monday night when he was struck in front of 1805 N. Paulina st. by an automobile driven by Chester Koscielniak, 34, of 1953 N. Paulina st.

Gordon H. Rink, 22, who lived on route 1, Naperville, was killed when his motorcycle collided with an automobile driven by Charles Lohf, 29, of 35 Locks st., Aurora, in West Fox River rd. several miles north of Aurora.

F.D.R. INDICATES HE MAY TRAVEL TO NORMANDY

De Gaulle Plans Visit to U.S. July 5.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—President Roosevelt is toying with the idea of duplicating Prime Minister Churchill's visit to the Normandy bridgehead for a survey of the French situation, it was indicated at the White House press conference with the President today.

Mr. Roosevelt had just announced that Gen. de Gaulle, head of the French committee of national liberation in Algiers, would come to Washington for a conference from July 5 to 9 and was discussing the French resistance movement in Normandy when he said he might go to Normandy personally, as few people so far had gone to France and come back here to report.

Indicates Progress.

A correspondent asked if this meant he was contemplating a flying trip to Cherbourg and the President dodged a direct answer by saying with a laugh he was perfectly unpredictable and might go to France tomorrow or maybe later.

The De Gaulle visit to Washington was taken to mean that progress has been made between the French committee in Algiers and the White House over the future role of De Gaulle in the administration of liberated France. It was not thought likely De Gaulle would risk a visit here unless he has some reason to believe that successful negotiations could be concluded.

Hitherto the Washington government has refused to recognize the De Gaulle setup as the future government of France, the state department's attitude being that no one knows yet what government or persons in it the French people would choose.

De Gaulle Suggested Time.

On the contrary, the British have recognized De Gaulle as the future French leader and during his trip to London last week De Gaulle managed to get recognition for himself from several other phantom governments of small nations in London.

Roosevelt announced that De Gaulle himself proposed the dates for the conference.

Reporters today sought again to draw Roosevelt out on whether he would run for a fourth term. "Is there anything to be said about the Democratic candidate," Mr. Roosevelt was asked, and he replied jokingly that they saddled that question on you today.

U. S. MINT MAKES COINS FOR DUTCH OF U. S. SILVER

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—United States mints have completed one large order of coins for the Netherlands government-in-exile in London and have started work on a second order, the treasury disclosed today.

The coins, to be used in the liberation of Holland and the East Indies, are being stamped from silver lend-leased by this country. Minting costs are being paid by the Netherlands.

Officials said the Dutch government asked to buy the silver outright but that this country preferred to retain title to the metal. Eventually the coins are to be melted into bullion and returned to the United States. They were minted in three denominations—10 cent, 25 cents, and 1 guilder. Par value of the guilder is 40.2 cents.

CONGRATULATIONS ON CHERBOURG SENT BY MONTY TO BRADLEY

WITH MONTGOMERY'S FORCES IN FRANCE, June 27 (AP).—Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, allied ground commander, hailed the fall of Cherbourg in a message of congratulations sent to Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the American forces.

"My dear Bradley," Montgomery said, "I want to congratulate you personally and the whole of your forces on the capture of Cherbourg and on the operations which have led up to the capture. You have a fine army full of brave fighting men and it is a great honor to me to have such an army under my command.

"I would like you to convey my congratulations to every officer and man in your army. With such troops as we have in the allied armies and supported as we are by the splendid work of the allied navies, there can be only one end to this war—and that is complete victory."

HOPES TO HOIST SAME OLD FLAG OVER GERMANY

LONDON, June 27 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Raymond O. Barton, commander of the 4th infantry division which helped take Cherbourg, is going back to Germany in this war to rehoist the Stars and Stripes he hauled down as commander of the last United States troops to leave after World War I. He has under his command the same two infantry companies he led out of Germany on Jan. 23, 1923.

Barton, a major back then, recalled the flag lowering ceremony as he prepared to jump the channel on D-day eve.

"I hope to parade the same two companies and plant the same flag over Fortress Ehrenbreitstein just across the Moselle from Coblenz," he said. "That flag has rested in the secretary of war's office since the last war. I hope we can borrow it for the occasion."

YANKS RETURN CHERBOURG TO FRENCH PEOPLE

General Presents Tricolor to Mayor of City.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. FORCES IN CHERBOURG, June 27.—In the sun dappled Place de la Republique before Cherbourg's city hall, Maj. Gen. Josept Lawton Collins, commanding the American 7th corps, this afternoon returned the liberated city to its citizens in the name of his soldiers who captured it yesterday.

Surrounded by his fighting troops and their commanders, Gen. Collins, 48, spoke in French to the populace, giving the city as a memorial of this occasion a French tricolor flag made from the silk of paratroopers' supply chutes. He said it was particularly fitting in that the first Americans to land on the Cotentin peninsula on June 6 were paratroopers.

The last fighting within Cherbourg had ceased early this morning when a strong point in the wrecked arsenal was taken by storm.

Silence Fort's Batteries.

Earlier engineers and doughboys had hurled explosives into the casemates on the rock wall of Fort du Roule, silencing its last guns. The mysteries of its intricate system of underground tunnels still were not completely solved with the possibility that there still may be Germans deep within.

The last enemy pockets in the area of the Cap Levy east of the city were being wiped out or taken intact. But as we entered Cherbourg for the afternoon ceremony three large shells from a railway gun on Cap de la Hague to the west sent up geysers of dust and dirt in a western suburb.

Damage to the city was less than we expected, possibly due to the speed of our advance. Vast quantities of stores of all kinds were taken intact in warehouses, which had not been damaged. In the tunnels under Fort du Roule other tremendous supplies of food, ammunition, whisky, cognac, and wine worth millions of dollars were uncovered.

Stroll with Doughboys.

Cherbourg's outer perimeter of houses and shops bore scars from American shells directed at German strong points, but the center of the city seemed relatively untouched. Citizens strolled the streets, often arm in arm with doughboys. From the windows hung the red, white, and blue of French, American or British flags.

At 4 p. m. the square began filling with French men and women. The windows of every building were jammed with the stained khaki of our soldiers or the gayer clothing of French women watching the scene. At one end of the square, surrounded by rolls of barbed wire put there by the Germans, was a statue of Napoleon on a horse with one hand pointing toward England.

Massed on the steps of the city hall stood the commanders of the divisions, who had made the invasion three weeks ago and those whose troops had come in to exploit the break-thru.

Representatives of All Divisions.

In front stood one company of American troops. They represented selected front line fighters from the divisions which had made the final four day assault on the fortress of Cherbourg. Some were in mud encrusted battle garb, freshly shaven, but still showing the fatigue of the last few days. Before them fluttered the American flag and the blue and white flag of the 7th corps.

From the end of the square, past Napoleon, came Gen. Collins in his armored scout car. As he stepped out, bandsmen played "The General's March." British technicians completed last minute adjustments to their psychological warfare sound truck. Then a black coated Frenchman with a drooping white mustache, Eugene Simon, introduced Mayor Paul Reynaud.

With bared head, Gen. Collins then spoke in West Point French, thanking Cherbourg citizens for the joyful reception of his soldiers.

Count of Prisoners Mounts.

Military police guarding the bulging prisoner compounds tonight were running out of numbers trying to tabulate the totals taken in the last days of fighting, but the best estimate from the 7th corps was that more than 15,000 had been taken since the Cherbourg assault opened up on June 22. Since D-day this corps estimates it has captured about 22,000 prisoners.

The German Gestapo chief, it was learned today, fled Cherbourg soon after our landings. But his underlings hung on and their headquarters and pillbox not far from the city hall was one of the last strong points taken by the Yanks. The Germans finally fled thru a tunnel to the city hall which had another casemate built on the outsides but they were captured there.

Nazi General Surrenders.

Lt. Gen. Carl Wilhelm von Schlieben, commanding the fortress of Cherbourg, surrendered late yesterday with his second in command, Rear Adm. Walter Hennecke, and 800 soldiers from his underground headquarters.

As the tall, tired looking German commander, veteran of the Russian front, saluted Gen. Collins the roads were lined with trucks and marching columns of German prisoners.

Von Schlieben fell as a prize to an American general.

The general was on a tour and returned to a point west of Fort du Roule across the Divette river. There he found his men had just drawn fire from a position at the mouth of the fort tunnel. The general heard some one calling from the tunnel to cease fire.

As the firing dwindled away a goose stepping German lieutenant came out of the tunnel. Stiffly he presented himself and thru an interpreter announced that Von Schlieben was inside the tunnel and would like to have an American officer call upon him and arrange for the surrender of his tunnel party.

The American general sent in an officer. After some minutes the tunnel began disgorging German officers and soldiers at a great rate, led by Von Schlieben and Hennecke.

With all the honors due his rank, Von Schlieben, Hennecke, and staff officers were escorted back in a command car to Gen. Collins' headquarters.

The American general, short and stocky, with widely spaced blue eyes and a bulldog chin, stood in dress shirt to receive the helmeted German. Thru an interpreter the general asked if Von Schlieben was surrendering for all his troops. The German said no that he was not in touch with them.

From Experience in Russia.

When the American offered to put him in touch by radio, Von Schlieben, his lips straining tightly, again said: "Nein."

Our general asked how, from a moral point of view, he could surrender while his troops still fought a hopeless battle. Slowly the German answered that it had been his experience in Russia that determined groups of men could hold out and cause much damage and delay. For that reason he would not, he said, change his order to his men.

The American general shrugged his shoulders. As far as he was concerned that was all. He had already started action to blast loose the last German strong point in the arsenal and silence the guns of Fort du Roule.

Fort Sheridan Fugitive Is Captured in Wilmette

OFFICIAL BULLETINS

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 27 (AP).—The text of war bulletin No. 44 issued tonight said:

"Allied forces in the Tilly-Caen area have crossed the Caen-Villers-Bocage railways near Mouen.

"Our advance has been made in torrential rain and against determined resistance by enemy infantry and armor.

"In the Cherbourg peninsula we are continuing our attacks against the last remnants of organized opposition. Elements of the enemy's forces are holding out in the Maupertus air field, east of Cherbourg, and in the northwest tip of the peninsula.

"Prisoners taken in the peninsula total at least 20,000, and more are being brought in.

"Bad weather during the morning severely curtailed air activity but fighter-bombers attacked a train at Parennes [east of Laval] and road transport in the Laval and Alencon areas.

"Early this morning light coastal forces intercepted and engaged a force of enemy trawlers and minesweepers off Jersey. Considerable damage was inflicted on the enemy in a gun action in which coastal batteries from the island joined, and one minesweeper was hit by a torpedo. It is considered that this enemy ship may have sunk."

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Tuesday's German war bulletin, as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press in London, said:

"At Cherbourg, fighting for several bases continued thruout the day [Monday] with great ferocity. Only Monday evening did the enemy succeed in taking the greater part of the town after he had suffered heavy losses in bloody street fighting. Some of our nests of resistance are still fighting with unprecedented braveness.

"In the arsenal and a number of naval and army strongholds, our gallant troops maintain their position in spite of all the enemy's assaults, inflicting heavy losses. Land and coastal batteries of the peninsula northwest of Cherbourg belonging to our fighting troops support the defense at Cherbourg with effective artillery fire.

"Navy troops of coastal batteries of signaling and commanding posts and authorities on land as well as crews of ships employed on land particluarly excelled in the battle of Cherbourg under the command of Rear Adm. Hennecke, naval commander of Normandy, and under Harbor Commander Witt.

"The naval coastal battery "Yorck" sank a light cruiser off Cherbourg.

"The enemy extended his attacks to further sectors in the Tilly-sur-Seulles area. The heaviest infantry and tank battle was raging all day long. The enemy, whose advance was checked by counter-thrusts, gained little ground.

"Our coastal batteries forced several transports to turn tail off the Orne river mouth.

"Numerous of the enemy's sabotage troops who in the course of the last few days had bailed out over the French area were annihilated in combat.

"Heavy 'V-1' harassing fire has been continued against the city area of London."

move to encompass that road and railroad center. "This was shown," he said, "by the enemy's tendency to wheel to the east and southeast toward Caen."

Predicts Other Landings.

Sertorius predicted other landings on the bridgehead "as well as adjacent landings in the eastern part of the Seine mouth and even as far south as St. Michel bay."

The fall of Cherbourg late Monday night gave the allies the port and railhead for the double track railway leading to Paris. A 75 mile section of the track now is in allied hands, extending from Cherbourg thru Carentan and Bayeux to a point only a few miles west of razed Caen, the "hinge" of the German eastern positions.

"We are continuing our attacks against the last remnants of organized opposition by elements of the enemy's forces holding out in Maupertus air field, east of Cherbourg, and in the northwest tip on the peninsula," the bulletin said.

Twenty thousand Germans have been captured in the cleanup of the Cherbourg peninsula, the allied war bulletin said, "and more are being brought in." A dispatch from the front, however, said the Americans had taken 22,000 in the peninsula drive, and that the captives still were being counted. The total prisoner bag thus far in the Normandy invasion is at least 32,000 and the Germans' total casualties are estimated at 70,000.

Veteran of Guadalcanal.

Cherbourg fell to the American 7th corps under Maj. Gen. Collins, who commanded American troops at Guadalcanal. The corps comprises the 4th, 9th, and 79th divisions, it was disclosed by Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley.

Without permitting disclosure of how many American divisions now are in Normandy, Gen. Bradley said that Maj. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow was commanding the United States 5th corps, which has advanced to the Caumont-St. Lo region in the middle of the front. Bradley decorated both Gerow and Collins for distinguished service in the invasion.

Eight American divisions now have been identified as fighting in France. The 79th, the eighth to be disclosed, is from Pennsylvania with some troops from Maryland and is commanded by Maj. Gen. Ira T. Wyche. With it in crumpling Cherbourg's defenses were the 4th division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Raymond O. Barton, and the 9th, led by Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy.

The 79th division, known as the Lorraine Cross division, made an enviable record in the latter stages of World War I.

Clash of Naval Units.

Naval headquarters reported a battle between German trawlers and minesweepers and British light coastal forces near the channel island of Jersey Monday night, with one enemy vessel believed sunk and "considerable damage" done to others.

A southwesterly wind in Dover strait freshened during the morning to near gale strength. Heavy seas were running this afternoon on the English side but conditions were not quite so bad along the French coast, which had an off-shore wind.

MIDWEST FLYERS TAKE INFANTRY ROLE IN FRANCE

ADVANCED 9TH AIR FORCE FIGHTER BASE IN FRANCE, June 26 — [Delayed] — (AP). — Advanced units of the 9th air force have flown so low while working with ground troops that they have received bombing instructions from the ground.

"I believe we have inaugurated the closest support of and coöperation with ground forces ever given," Maj. Harold Sparks of Frankfort, Ky., said today in describing Normandy operations. Col. Gilbert Meyers of Milford, Ia., said ground forces had directed a flight he was leading to a target southeast of Cherbourg by the use of red flares.

The pilots have seen only a few enemy planes but Lt. Albert Larson of Clinton, Ia., is credited with one kill and one probable, and Lt. David Parrish of Paris, Ky., has bagged one.

Ninth air force squadrons are now generally known in France as "our flying infantry."

AMERICANS GAIN 10 MILES IN PUSH UP ITALY COAST

Rain Slows Up Advance; British Retake Chiusi.

ROME, June 27 (AP). — British troops, striking hard at the core of German resistance 80 miles above Rome, have recaptured the ruins of Chiusi in heavy fighting. Tonight they were slugging with infantry and tanks in the outskirts of Castiglione del Lago, nine miles northeast of Chiusi on the shore of Lake Trasimento.

Chiusi has been the site of the bitterest fighting since the fall of Rome. South African troops entered the town a week ago, but were thrown out by a German armored counter-attack. Since then the 8th army has been gathering its strength for the blow delivered yesterday.

Lt. Gen. Oliver Leese's 8th army headquarters announced that heavy casualties were inflicted on the Nazis at Chiusi, with more than 200 captured.

Yanks Gain Five Miles.

Stubborn enemy resistance slowed but did not stop American and French divisions along the 70-mile line between Chiusi and the west coast. Fierce fighting was in progress southwest of the key city of Siena, 31 miles below Florence, with Yank forces reported gaining another five miles after occupying the rubbled town of Montieri.

American units, advancing directly up the west coast toward Livorno [Leghorn] and Pisa, put 10 miles between themselves and the port of Piombino, captured two days ago. A driving rain again was slowing the advance of allied heavy equipment along much of the front.

It was announced that the American 1st armored division, veterans of the Tunisian campaign and the successful onslaught on Rome, destroyed or captured 22 enemy tanks, 25 motor vehicles, 26 anti-tank guns, 12 field guns and killed an estimated 300 of the enemy in a three-day period last week.

Capture Magione Hills.

In the Perugia sector, directly north of Rome and east of Lake Trasimento, 8th army troops carved out limited gains and captured high ground overlooking Magione, on the eastern shore of the lake.

[Prime Minister Churchill announced in London that total British casualties in Italy thru the fall of Rome June 4 numbered 73,122 killed, wounded, and missing. Canadian army casualties were 11,340, made up of 2,268 killed, 8,572 wounded, and 500 missing and prisoners of war. From Sept. 9 to June 15 American army casualties were 64,992, of whom 11,610 were killed, 44,426 wounded, and 8,956 missing.]

Allies March On in Italy

ITALY BASED U.S. BOMBERS BLAST BUDAPEST AREA

Yanks in Russia Bomb Poland.

LONDON, June 27 (AP).—American heavy bombers and fighters from Italy attacked Budapest military targets and a Yugoslav railway yard at Brod today, while the R. A. F.'s heavy Halifaxes, in one of their rare daylight missions, attacked German flying bomb installations across the channel from England in unfavorable weather. Tonight the R. A. F. struck again at targets in France.

[The German controled Luxembourg radio sounded an alert at 7 a. m. (12 p. m. Chicago time) today warning of the approach of hostile aircraft.]

Bomb Poland from Russia.

Between 500 and 750 American Fortresses and Liberators bombed Budapest. They met strong enemy fighter opposition and knocked down an undisclosed number.

[The German and Hungarian radios said the bombers caused "fires and damage in several parts of the capital," and claimed German and Hungarian interceptors shot down "several" of the attackers. The Germans also said there was an air alarm at Bratislava, capital of the puppet state of Slovakia.]

The eastern command of the United States strategic air forces announced that Russian based American heavies attacked a German synthetic oil plant at Drohobycz, Poland, on Monday. This raid was at a point about 75 miles west of the German-Russian front lines. American Mustangs and Russian Yak fighters accompanied the bombers, and good results were reported in excellent weather.

Five Countries Hit.

With Monday night's R. A. F. "mystery" raid on the little north Ruhr town of Gottingen these attacks raised to five the number of European countries bombed by the allies in less than 24 hours.

Over the battlefronts in France air operations continued to be limited by poor flying weather.

EX-RECRUITER HERE AIDS FIGHT FOR CHERBOURG

Capt. Elliot M. Senn, who commanded the navy cruiser Quincy last Sunday when that ship and 13 other allied warships silenced the Cherbourg shore batteries, formerly commanded the Chicago naval recruiting office and later was inspector of naval recruiting in the central district.

Capt. E. M. Senn.

Capt. Senn was relieved of his Chicago duty May 19, 1941, and four months later was promoted from the rank of commander to captain and assigned to sea duty in the South Atlantic, where he remained for 18 months.

RECALL ARMOUR IN NEW BLOW AT ARGENTINE RULE

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—The state department announced tonight that American Ambassador Norman Armour has been recalled from Buenos Aires "for consultation," in a move hitting sharply at the military junta government of Argentina.

The United States and all but three other American republics have refused to recognize the regime of Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, since it established itself by revolution four months ago. Until the present, Armour has stayed on in Buenos Aires, presumably in the hope that Argentina would swing in line with other nations opposing Germany.

Armour is expected to leave Buenos Aires tomorrow or the next day and his wife plans to come later. Armour's recall indicates a stiffening of the American attitude toward Farrell's government.

Speculation that some move of emphatic disapproval was in the making had been generated by a series of unusual conferences between Secretary of State Hull and Latin American ambassadors.

YANKS RUSHING HARBOR REPAIR AT CHERBOURG

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, June 27.—Cherbourg had hardly fallen into allied hands when army engineers and navy repair units went to work to restore its great harbor entrance to continental Europe.

Where in previous similar situations the Germans had been able to cripple ports for long periods by the mere sinking of ships at harbor entrances they were unable at Cherbourg to attain this objective. With their navy in its present shrunken state there were no warships or merchant vessels which could be spared for such a blockade.

Landings Possible Now.

In the harbor area, which is protected by a three-mile breakwater of granite, flat beaches flank the principal port facilities so that even tho dock repair takes some time it is possible even now to land troops and equipment. Landing conditions on the beaches are infinitely superior to those of the beachheads.

Along with the harbor restoration units the army sent in railway operating battalions under the command of Brig. Gen. Clarence L. Burpea. These units will have the unusual advantage of working within an area already ringed by their own countrymen.

Rail Equipment Ready.

As soon as landing facilities are completed, streams of railroad equipment will be shipped to the continent. Waiting to go are long lines of new flat cars, box cars, rolling refrigerators and hospital trains. Reconnaissance has shown the extent of railroad damage and detailed restoration plans have been worked out to the number of rails, ties and men required for the job.

Use of Cherbourg harbor will bring a considerable saving in time in the shipping of troops and supplies from the United States. The port is 3,065 miles from New York, or 300 miles closer to New York than is London.

POLETTI OUSTS 3,750 FASCISTS AND ARRESTS 198

ROME, Italy, June 27 (AP).—In a wholesale purge of Fascists from public agencies in Rome, Lt. Col. Charles Poletti, allied military government commissioner for the city, announced today that 3,750 Fascists had been dismissed from office, and 198 arrested. Between 500 and 600 additional arrests are contemplated.

Poletti said that among those under arrest were Prince Gabriele D'Annunzio, Vincenzo Azzolini, former governor of the bank of Italy, Baroness Elizabeth Koke, Capt. Koch, a grenadier who was notorious for his reprisals during the German occupation of Rome, Gen. Presti, chief of the Polizia Africana Italiana, a police group composed of veterans of the Ethiopian war, and former Inspector General of Police Colletti.

The commissioner said most of those dismissed were policemen, including 1,700 members of the Polizia Africana Italiana. D'Annunzio is believed to be a son of the famed poet and forerunner of Fascism.

Iowa Yank Shoots Down First Nazi Robot Bomb

LONDON, June 27 (AP).—Sgt. Jack Barron, 20, of West Des Moines, Ia., a top turret gunner of a Liberator, has been credited as being the first bomber crewman to shoot down a German flying bomb. "It was 250 feet above us, about 300 yards back," he said. "I shot it down with a few bursts."

WACs Practice Shooting; May Be Given Carbines

LONDON, June 27 (AP).—WACs going into France soon may carry firearms if their jobs call for it, it was disclosed today, and officers and enlisted girls have been practicing markmanship with carbines. Capt. Thelma Belford, Portland, Ore., who never fired a gun before, scored 96 out of a possible 100.

EXCLUSIVE! Commando Kelly's Own Dramatic Story!
"Told by the man who killed forty Germans in less than an hour"
PETER MARTIN

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK
X-ray of an Infantryman at War

COMMANDO KELLY has told Post writer, Pete Martin, much more than the story of one man's heroic action in war. He has given a nation far more than the record of a triumphal return to a hurricane of cheers.

This is an X-ray of the American foot soldier—war's almost forgotten man—of what he thinks in the stench and hell of man-to-man fighting—what he does between battles. It is a frank picture of the men who will "wrap it up and bring it home" in the end—told by the most talked-of infantryman in this war.

Post editors count it a rare privilege to bring this exclusive story to Post millions now—as millions of fighting infantrymen move into the battle scene.

It is another outstanding example, in a long and growing record, of the Post's editorial leadership. It demonstrates again that, when people of importance have something to say—Post millions are considered the people to say it to.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

PREPARE your fighting blood for the boiling point—whether you're "fighting Irish" or not. For here's the story of a Kelly who came through hell covered with glory. Only enlisted man of World War II holding both the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Silver Star.

It's the story of pop and mom Kelly—of their life "on the wrong side of the tracks"—of their proud and fighting days, raising the Kelly brood of nine sons.

It's "Chuck" Kelly's own story of the part the real G. I. Joe—the infantryman—takes in this war. And he told it to Pete Martin in a way that will bring tears to your eyes, warmth to your heart, and pride in these scrapping American kids who came up the hard way to win a nation's applause and gratitude.

FINNS TO REMAIN IN WAR; GERMANS MOVE IN TROOPS

Reach Understanding with Nazis on Aid.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 27 (AP).—Nazi troops marched thru Helsinki tonight bound for the eastern front as the Finnish government agreed to remain in the war at the side of Germany on the Germans' promise of troops.

Even before the Finnish government in an official bulletin announced that solidarity and "perfect understanding" had been reached between Germany and the Finns, Nazi troops moved thru the streets of the capital, singing army songs.

The bulletin announced that in answer to a request for military help by the Finns, German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had promised all the armed aid necessary for Finland to continue in the war against Russia.

Move Into All Finland.

The Germans appeared to be moving into all Finland, including Helsinki, and Associated Press Correspondent Robert Sturdevant telephoned from Helsinki thru the strict Finnish censorship that "I am moving—I emphasize moving—to the American legation tonight. Watch Berlin."

German divisions have been stationed in the northern part of Finland for some time.

The announcement issued by the Finnish government tonight said that Von Ribbentrop, Finnish President Risto Ryti, and Foreign Minister Sir Henrik Ramsay, in discussions of Finland's plight last week, had reached a "perfect understanding."

The negotiations, the announcement said, were "carried out in the spirit which has its root in the brotherhood of arms between the two armies and in the mutual friendship between the two nations. On all points perfect understanding was reached concerning the views of the Finnish and German governments."

Nazis Promise Five Divisions.

A report here said Von Ribbentrop had promised the Finns five German divisions and 500 war planes to continue the struggle against the soviet army.

Correspondent Sturdevant said President Ryti took the initiative a week ago in turning to the Germans for aid and last Thursday Von Ribbentrop flew to Helsinki.

Thruout the negotiations the Finnish parliament was left out of the picture, with Ryti and his associates acting in the same manner as they did in 1941 when Finland entered the war with Germany against Russia.

As a result of the developments, relations between the United States and Finland were said to have been put on a "day to day basis."

JAPS OPEN DRIVE FROM SOUTH TO CUT HENGYANG

CHUNGKING, China, June 27 (AP).—The Japanese, while pressing a frontal assault from the north toward the strategic Hunan province railway town of Rengyang, have begun a flanking movement to the southeast apparently aimed at cutting the railway south of Hengyang, a Chinese bulletin indicated today.

The Chinese high command reported severe fighting north of Hengyang, and while it said the city itself "remained calm," most quarters in Chungking were of the opinion that much stronger opposition would be needed if the Japanese were to be prevented from seizing all the Canton-Hankow railway.

Other Japanese forces, striking down from occupied Yihsien, had advanced against Anjen, 38 miles southeast of Hengyang, and were being engaged there. Their apparent objective was the rail town of Leiyang.

TITO AND PETER AGREE ON NEW REGIME, REPORT

Marshal Will Control Military Affairs.

BARI, Italy, June 28 [Delayed]—(AP).—King Peter of the Yugoslav government-in-exile and Marshal Tito of the Partisans have agreed on a unified cabinet in which Tito will have direction of the military forces, according to reliable reports here today.

Gen. Draja Mihailovitch, the Yugoslav Chetnik leader and former war minister in Peter's government, was not consulted, it was understood. As reported here, the agreement followed these lines:

Ivan Subasic, premier of Peter's recently reorganized regime, will head the cabinet, with two portfolios to go to Tito's Partisans, one of them being that of war minister. The national committee of liberation, the Partisan control body, will remain in existence.

The agreement is to continue for the duration of the war, with post-war government arrangements left open.

Fleet and Gold for Tito.

Further, warships and merchantmen of the royal government now under allied protection will be made available to the newly coördinated Yugoslav forces and gold deposits now credited abroad to the royal government will be used jointly to press the war against the Germans.

Subasic, who now has returned to London, reached the agreement in discussions with Tito at the marshal's secret headquarters inside Yugoslavia. King Peter, who came to Italy to be available for consultation, was said to have approved the agreement fully. A formal announcement is expected after details are worked out in London.

Nazis Launch New Attack.

LONDON, June 27 (AP).—German troops, supported by many tanks and planes, have launched an offensive in eastern Bosnia, but have suffered heavy losses in the Srebrenica area about 75 miles southwest of Belgrade, Marshal Tito declared today.

Tito's broadcast bulletin said the Germans had been forced to withdraw from Grahovo in western Bosnia.

SEND MORE AMERICAN WRITERS TO BRITISH FRONT, PAPER URGES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, June 27.—Commenting on the fact that there is some grumbling over the lack of publicity in American newspapers for the part British and Canadian troops have played in the battle for Normandy, the Daily Express said today:

"Now why not have a few more American newspaper correspondents accredited to the British fighting forces in France? At present there are only three.

"These few bear witness faithfully to the quality and value of the British, but many more Americans await the chance."

FRENCH GLEEFUL AS YANKS HERD NAZI PRISONERS

ON THE AMERICAN BEACHHEAD IN FRANCE, June 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—The Frenchman's traditional hate for the German conquerors showed plainly today as 15 truckloads of Nazi prisoners wheeled along the roads to American beach prison cages.

Farmers and fishermen waved gleefully at Negro soldiers bringing the Nordic "supermen," and made throat-slitting signs with their forefingers. The Negroes grinned back.

The prisoners—about 750 standing packed closely in the trucks—seemed to enjoy being thru with the war. Some smiled, and all looked with interest at the Normandy countryside.

JOHNSTON TALKS WITH STALIN ON POST-WAR TRADE

MOSCOW, June 27 (AP).—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, talked business with Marshal Stalin for two and a half hours last night. Johnston said the interview had been "very successful" and was confined largely to questions about future trade between the United States and the soviet union and direct answers by Stalin.

Stalin gave Johnston the following statement for publication:

"American business and American labor have done a remarkable job of production for the war. American agriculture also has performed unusually well. American machines of war and American food have contributed to the successes of the Red army in its victories.

"The United States government has played a major role in the development and coördination of this production and also in fostering coöperation between our two countries."

BATTLE JAPS IN SAIPAN CAPITAL HOUSE TO HOUSE

Yanks Advance Slowly in Garapan Streets.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, June 27 (AP).—A bitter struggle raged today for Saipan, key to the Marianas Islands, and its capital of Garapan, with heightened Japanese resistance.

Frontline dispatches pictured desperate street fighting in Garapan. American marines and infantry held the southern outskirts of the town, which had a population of 10,000.

Patrols cautiously probing into the city met the fire of Nipponese snipers and machine gunners. Every house and cellar was the hideout for enemy soldiers. Every street and alley was littered with dead. The town was a pile of wreckage.

Stage Last Defense.

The island-wide battelines hinged at the center on Mount Tapotchau, now partly in American hands. From that dominating height at the island's center the front reached westward to coastal Garapan and eastward to Donnay village.

Japanese resistance had stiffened all along the front, said a dispatch from Howard Handleman, representing the combined American press. It appeared the American invaders had reached a sector which the enemy had selected to stage a last ditch defense.

There were sporadic night raids by enemy planes, probably based at Tinian Island, three miles south of Saipan. American artillery and war planes were pounding Tinian constantly.

Two Approaches to Town.

GARPAN, Saipan, June 25 [Delayed]—(AP).—Approaches to Garapan consist of one highway and one narrow gauge railroad track.

Down in Charan Kanoa, four miles south, marines turned railroaders have some pint sized locomotives of this much blasted railroad working again, altho they leak steam around the cylinder packing. But here this is just a railroad track down which the Japs have a nasty habit of shooting and along which yesterday they staged an abortive tank counter-attack.

The highway is as bad as the track. It runs along the beach, and first aid jeeps tear along it at full speed, slewing around foxholes and shell craters while hospital corpsmen try to prevent the wounded from falling out.

Fight Street to Street.

Drivers hurry for good reason. The road is under occasional mortar and frequent sniper fire. Jeeps have been going along it for two days now and most of them reek with blood smells.

The road leads into what must have been Garapan's slums. Here the houses never were more than shacks surrounded by goats and pigs. Now they're rubble and the animals are starving.

Marines are fighting from miserable streets to streets more miserable still. Dead men lie in the alleys and flaming gasoline dumps sear whole neighborhoods. So far the marines have penetrated half a dozen of Garapan's worst streets.

ALLIES CAPTURE MOGAUNG; TRAP HUGE JAP FORCE

Americans Make Gain at Myitkyina.

KANDY, Ceylon, June 27 (AP).—Chinese and British Chindit forces have captured the Japanese stronghold of Mogaung in north Burma and trapped a large force of Japanese between there and Kamaing, 20 miles to the northwest, allied southeast Asia headquarters announced today.

American troops advanced another 100 yards einto the northern sector of Myitkyina, 35 miles east of Mogaung, and are near contact with Chinese attacking from the west.

Three-day Assault.

Other Chinese have established a bridgehead on the west bank of the Irrawaddy river just east of Myitkyina, and the Chindits have attacked Maingna on the east bank of the river, south of Myitkyina. The city thus is almost entirely cut off by the allies.

The Chinese 38th division and the Chindits, aided by fighter-bombers took Mogaung Monday after a three-day assault.

The city is an important rail point in the wilds of upper Burma and has served as a supply center for the Japanese forces thruout the Hukawng and Mogaung valleys.

A Chunking bulletin said that in addition to these successes, the Chinese in the Salween front in Yunnan province, China, had cut the old Burma road three miles north of Mangshih.

Chinese Block Road.

The Chinese blocked the road after a westward advance from newly-occupied Hsiangta. American B-25 medium bombers heavily attacked Mangshih to pave the way for an expected Chinese assault and cut off Japanese reinforcements by destroying a bridge on the Burma road south of Mangshih.

On the India border, allied troops ten miles west of Bishenpur captured a disputed water point after strong artillery preparation and repulsed two Japanese counter-attacks.

VETERAN LOSES WALLET.

Louis Loszach, 3343 W. 64th st., lost his wallet containing his army discharge papers, draft card, and a check for $28 near 63d st. and Kedzie av., he told police yesterday.

FLYERS POUR 35 TONS OF BOMBS ON ISLE OF YAP

ADVANCED ALLIED HDQ., New Guinea, June 28 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Planes from the Southwest Pacific hit Yap Island in the Carolines with 35 tons of bombs and destroyed nine enemy planes in the newest sweep from this sector in support of the Saipan operations farther north.

Gen. MacArthur's bombers also sank a Japanese freighter and damaged three merchantmen off northwest New Guinea. Noemfoor Island and nearby Manokwari on the New Guinea mainland were heavily bombed Monday.

Other bombers from the Southwest Pacific hit Woleai and Palau in the Carolines. Wewak, in British New Guinea, and Rabaul, on New Britain, were bombed Sunday.

Lt. Comdr. Clarkson Sent to Duty in New Orleans

Lt. Comdr. John L. Clarkson, executive officer of naval officer procurement in Chicago since March 17, 1942, will leave today for New Orleans, La., to become director of officer procurement for the 8th naval district. Clarkson, a veteran of World War I. and wearer of the Purple Heart, lives in Lake Forest. Before entering the navy he was partner in an insurance firm. His successor in the Chicago office will be Lt. Comdr. Edison Dick, also a Chicagoan. Capt. E. S. Root is director of the office.

ARTHUR MURRAY SAYS:

"After 9 years I hit on THE SECRET OF THE RUMBA"

You can grasp it in 5 minutes! No need to say, "Let's sit this one out," when the Rumba plays . . . or bluff it through with a Fox Trot that doesn't look right or feel right, either.

WHY miss out when you can learn a beautiful Rumba in a few short hours at Arthur Murray's? He has discovered a secret that makes this sophisticated dance as easy as A-B-C. It's fun to learn with his talented experts . . . you catch on to the step and the movement so quickly. In no time you'll have a half-dozen fascinating variations at the tips of your toes.

Then see what a surprise you can give your friends. The very best dancers will seek you out—tell you you're wonderful. You'll say never in all your life was dancing such a thrill.

Take the first step toward this magic realm of fun and popularity. Enroll for a few lessons at Arthur Murray's and be ready to claim it at your next party. Rates are surprisingly low now. Don't wait—visit the studio TODAY. Open until 10 P. M. Phone WAB. 8510.

Although it took me 9 years to discover the trick of doing the Rumba like a Cuban, we can now teach it to you in 5 minutes—Arthur Murray.

The Invasion is on! We have unleashed our full might for military victory. We have confidence that our great strength will bring success. We are strong because we have achieved unity in mobilization and in combat.

Though victory appears assured, we cannot rest until we have done everything in our power to speed the day when death and destruction are halted.

The home front is an important factor in this time element, for the fighting power of our Armed Forces depends upon their weapons. Napoleon's army fought "on its stomach"—man against man. Eisenhower's men fight on their tonnage—tanks, artillery machine guns, heavy bombers.

As never before in the long succession of wars, the legends of heroic deeds on the battlefronts in this world conflict will be paralleled in history by the great accomplishments on the production fronts. Along with these heroic achievements of our Armed Forces, the world will long remember the record of our production accomplishments which have made us the strongest military power in the world, as well as the arsenal of democracy.

As the conflict reaches its climax, as battles grow fiercer and more destructive, our responsibility becomes greater and more critical. We must coordinate our productive efforts with the same ingenuity and the same precision with which our Armed Forces have coordinated theirs. We dare not waste the productivity of a single man or machine in these critical days.

As our landing craft are discharging our fighting men on the beaches of Europe and the Pacific, they must not want for equipment. No interference with war production for any reason can be justified There must be no picket lines in America!

The landing of American troops in France virtually has stopped all strikes in the United States. This is important and encouraging news because the prelude to Invasion, unfortunately, has been an epidemic of strikes. Time lost through strikes, during the first four months of 1944, was double that lost during the same period last year. April saw more strikes than any other month since Pearl Harbor, and in May the record again was broken. Here is what happened within two weeks in May:

Nine thousand men in six Chrysler plants in Detroit were out when a jurisdictional dispute in a "soda pop" war between the American Federation of Labor teamsters and the Congress of Industrial Organizations fired their discontent.

A three-day sit-down strike occurred among 950 employees in the B. H. Aircraft plant over the refusal of the company to discharge a superintendent unsatisfactory to the union.

Thirteen hundred men in the Chevrolet transmission and axle plant at Saginaw struck over a no-smoking rule and a change in shift-starting time.

Two thousand employees at the Browne and Sharpe Manufacturing Company walked out when a woman was hired to fill a job long held by a man.

Production of penicillin, blood plasma, and other medical supplies was halted at two Detroit plants of the Parke Davis Company as 1900 employees struck for a ten-cent raise.

Over 25,000 lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest struck because the War Labor Board denied their demand for a wage increase.

At the end of the third week of May, 70,000 workers in 26 plants in Detroit were idle because of strikes.

Strikes in Detroit alone reduced production as much as a moderately successful German air raid would have done. Far more important than their effect on output is the effect of strikes upon national unity and morale. To our home front and to our Armed Forces, strikes belie our pledge to back the attack with all the power at our command. Hence, strikes limit our all-out war effort.

Prompt and decisive action is needed to keep America free from strikes for the remainder of the war. Stoppages of work on the production lines cannot be condoned while lives are being lost in fighting the enemy.

Most union leaders realize this need and are preparing to impose discipline upon their members who violate the no-strike pledge. The Warehouse Division of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (C.I.O.) recently declared: "Strikes in this time of war are treason against the nation and betrayal of the interests of labor." A message sent by William Green to all heads of American Federation of Labor unions stated:

> "D-Day is here. From now on until Hitler is finally crushed, every worker enrolled in the army of production must consider himself a part of the invasion forces of the United States and conduct himself accordingly. I call on you in the name of the American boys who are risking their lives under enemy fire to maintain uninterrupted production under any and all circumstances. Until victory is won every worker must give the same all-out service that our Armed Forces are giving on the field of battle."

Strongest of all was the appeal of R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, to members of his union:

> "Our union cannot survive if the nation and our soldiers believe that we are obstructing the war effort . . . there can be no such thing as legitimate picket lines . . . I appeal to our membership. If you value your union, if you want to live and serve after the war, we must restrain ourselves and our hot-headed brothers today. If we do not, there will be no union after the war."

Union officers are entitled to vigorous support from management and government in their efforts to prevent strikes. Behind many a strike is an accumulation of unsettled grievances. Managements are overworked, and many union shop stewards are new and inexperienced and do not always do their part in turning down case which lack merit. Both of these conditions make it easy for large backlogs of unsettled grievances to pile up. A special drive to clean up unsettled cases and to prevent new accumulations of them is one way by which managements and local union officials can help shorten the war.

The government too has a contribution to make to the prevention of strikes—both through the prompt disposal of disputes and through firm action against the leaders of strikes. The National War Labor Board and the Regional Boards are disposing of over five thousand cases a month and have made an excellent record in reducing their backlogs. Nevertheless, the boards still have many old cases; and about one out of four strikes has been an effort to get action from one of the labor boards. The boards are entitled to cooperation from employers and unions in keeping down their docket. In instance after instance, cases are dumped in the lap of the board before the union and employer have made a real effort to get a meeting of minds and to work out settlements.

In the present emergency, strikes are an expression of the lack of adequate understanding and team work between unions and management. Any future great upsurge in industrial strife likewise will be due to misunderstanding. After this war this country must not go through another "1919" when the time lost from strikes reached an all-time high. With 13 million workers, or almost half of the non-salaried employees of the country, in trade unions, the power and prestige of unions is greater than ever.

The long-run prosperity of the country requires that business and labor learn how to cooperate in supporting the policies which produce the largest possible profits and the largest possible payrolls.

Although business is primarily interested in the largest possible profits, and labor is primarily interested in the largest possible payrolls, both objectives call for the same basic conditions. Payrolls depend upon the prospects for profits. If bad relations between business and labor or unwise public policies cause employers to take a pessimistic view of the outlook for profits, both employment and payrolls will be depressed.

Individual unions and individual employers always will have differences over wages and hours and the status of labor in particular plants or in particular occupations. Some disputes on such issues are inevitable, but resort to arbitration and calm intelligence can help greatly in avoiding strikes in the long run. Cooperation between labor and management is an economic necessity. In our kind of economy, payrolls and profits both depend upon the willingness and the ability of business and labor to work together in creating the conditions under which enterprise flourishes.

The foundation for intelligent and effective cooperation must be accomplished by skillful and imaginative managers in plants throughout the country who are willing to help unions with their problems, and who are able to interest union leaders and their members in the problems of business. Union members and their leaders are keenly interested as a rule in the efforts of management to win new markets. They know that jobs depend upon the success of management in improving the product, adding new items to the line, and, less frequently, cutting costs and prices. Employees like to be kept informed about what management is doing, what problems it is meeting, and what success it is having. Most of all, they like to have an opportunity to contribute their ideas and suggestions.

The recent epidemic of strikes should not blind us to the fact that even today there are more plants where managements and unions are on good terms than ever before in the country's history. Consider, on the one hand, the extensive and constantly growing efforts of unions to train and develop shop stewards and, on the other hand, the efforts of employers to teach foremen how to carry out the new responsibilities imposed upon them by union agreements. Unions and managements together are learning how to operate together such technical devices as time study and job evaluation. Management which, several years ago, opposed the provision of umpires to interpret union agreements and to settle deadlocked cases today are taking the lead in suggesting such arrangements.

The war is reaching a crisis, and all groups in the country must be aware as never before of their common interests. This presents an opportunity which should be seized to lay the permanent foundations for more effective team work in American industry. Let history record that the days when Europe was being liberated also were the days when unions and employers were making unprecedented progress in preparing American industry for the return of the service men by developing policies of cooperation between business and unions. Such cooperation will help achieve a peace worthy of our efforts and our sacrifices.

THE STRONGEST NATION.

The people of this country still do not realize how great is our strength. The United States is by far the most powerful nation in the world, a fact which is acknowledged everywhere except at home. Perhaps a few comparisons and contrasts will make this point clearer.

Ours is a continental nation which, if it had to, could get along pretty well without access to overseas sources of supply and markets. Across our northern frontier is Canada, many of whose products are complementary to ours. Canada looks and thinks more like us than like any foreign nation. It is no exaggeration to say that both the French speaking and English speaking Canadians prefer us to their fellow Canadians who speak a different language. Across our southern border is Mexico, which has slowly been making progress in republican government, which has an economy supplementary to ours, and whose people, tho they sometimes distrust us, feel more warmly toward us than toward any European or Asiatic power. The United States has nothing to fear from its immediate neighbors. No other important country in the world shares that initial advantage.

The United States is the only continental nation which possesses a navy worth talking about, and it so happens that we have the biggest and best navy in the world. We also have the biggest air force. Our army must be nearly the largest in the world, it is surely the best armed and equipped, and it is rapidly acquiring experience in combat.

Great Britain and Japan are islands and their national existence can be destroyed if they lose control of their respective seas and oceans. We don't need to control the seas and thru most of our national existence have not done so. Now we have this control also.

Another source of our strength is, of course, our enormous manufacturing, farming, and mining resources, which have no parallel anywhere else. Still another resource is our people themselves. The melting pot has melted. The diverse peoples who came to these shores have fused and we have every reason to be proud of the product. The names on the casualty lists and on the lists of the winners of medals for heroism show the diversity of our racial stocks, but these boys are all Americans.

So far we have been able to function as a republic. In our national conventions and in congress we have been able to compromise our differences. Our only danger is that we may scrap the political, economic, and social systems that brought us to the top. That is the real danger, made more real by the fact that the Communists are deliberately striving to create class consciousness and promote class war.

Even so, America's position is relatively sound and strong. The countries of continental Europe and Asia have never been able to work in accord. As soon as any of them or any group of them became dominant, the others ganged up in self-defense. Certainly until the old world learns coöperation we may expect America to be stronger than any European nation or any combination of them that might threaten us.

LEND-LEASE GONE HAYWIRE.

Lend-lease officials, the Associated Press reports from Washington, are working on a scheme to continue lend-lease to Russia after the war for the rebuilding of its industrial plants.

The post-war shipments will not be gifts, as our present lend-lease seems to be regarded by our allies, if not yet by ourselves. The supplies will be turned over to the Russians on credit. This system is already being applied on such equipment as electrical generators, which will have a long life of peace time use after the war. They are being charged to the Russians.

The argument advanced for the scheme is one that the American public is undoubtedly going to hear a great deal more about. It is asserted that these shipments will prevent a post-war slump in many lines of manufacture and permit factories now busy on war orders to continue their activities. Unless we are eventually paid for the goods, of course, the same effect would be obtained by dumping them in the sea.

The United States should certainly do everything it can to foster trade after the war with Russia. The natural limitation on that trade is the ability of Russia to pay for what we ship to her, in money or materials, either immediately or over a term of years. The Russian shipments are being made on credit, but no information has been forthcoming as to what sort of credit Russia has established in this country.

But whether the Russians can establish credit or not, the present operations are clearly not within the purview of lend-lease as it has been authorized by congress. Lend-lease was presented to this country as a measure for our defense. The theory was that that defense would be aided by placing arms and ammunition in the hands of our allies. There is nothing in the lend-lease act to authorize the use of lend-lease funds for post-war rehabilitation of other nations.

Congress, in fact, thought it was excluding such activities by an amendment to the recent extension of the lend-lease act. The amendment, proposed by Representatives Wadsworth and Mundt, Republicans, provided that the President cannot, in making any final lend-lease settlement, "assume or incur any obligation on the part of the United States with respect to post-war economic or post-war military policy, except in accordance with established constitutional procedure."

It was the very evident intention of congress in passing this amendment that lend-lease should be lend-lease and not a post-war Christmas stocking. The Roosevelt administration has gone blithely ahead with its present program as if it had statutory authority for it when, as a matter of fact, the only statute bearing on the subject was intended to be a prohibition of just such action.

Nor has congress authorized—and it is virtually certain that it would not authorize, if it were asked—the engagement of the government in post-war export trade. The lend-lease credit shipments to Russia are a scheme to confine export orders to deserving Democrats. There is no reason why the government should be an intermediary in such trade. If Russia has orders to place and the credit to justify shipments, post-war trade with that country should be handled by the corporations that make the goods, not by a government agency.

HOME FROM THE WARS.

Gov. Warren's speech got the convention off to a good start. He said most of the things that needed to be said and he made his points clearly and well.

We'll confine our comment to one phrase because its importance may be overlooked. Gov. Warren said it will be the aim of the Republican party "to get the boys back home again, victorious and with all speed." There is no doubt that this phrase expresses the almost universal desire of the American people. It says what is in the hearts of the soldiers overseas as well as of those still in training in this country; and it voices the deepest yearning of the civilian population, especially the women.

When the last war ended, there were ambitious officials in Washington who wanted to keep a big army in Europe as a means of impressing our allies at the peace table. There were also a few professional military men who would have been glad to have an army in Europe to occupy them. All the scheming for delaying the return of the AEF collapsed against the insistence of the soldiers and their families that the boys come home.

That's going to happen again and, if possible, the insistence is going to be even stronger than it was in the early months of 1919 because this time the war has lasted longer and the number of men in uniform is about twice what it was then. The political consequences scarcely require much emphasis. Politicians abroad and at home will be impressed with the fact that the American people do not regard it as their highest mission to make themselves miserable for the sake of foreign nations.

The one-worlders, of course, will scream that the prompt return of our soldiers will mean that our allies will start quarreling among themselves at once like children without a nursemaid to watch them. Part of the answer is that the American people do not regard Uncle Sam as the world's nursemaid; and the rest of the answer is that nobody knows whether the coöperation of America with Europe will promote peace, but anybody can see that a little more coöperation within Europe, where all the big wars always start, could be helpful.

The prompt withdrawal of our forces from Europe, once the victory has been won, may bring the people of the most bellicose of continents to their senses and if so everybody will have reason to rejoice. At any rate, after the war when everybody will be thinking of bringing the boys home and a little later when they are home, there isn't going to be much enthusiasm about America's assuming additional obligations that may involve them and all of us in future wars.

STRIP MINING'S MONUMENT.

The current issue of a coal industry journal, Mechanization, Inc., contains an article by J. W. Woomer, a mining engineer, which calls upon the industry to join in fighting "punitive legislation" against strip mining methods. Strip mines are fairly common in Illinois and their presence is not difficult to detect. Where fertile fields end and great, ugly dunes of clay and rock begin, clawed into badlands, there has been a strip mine. Public resentment may have something to do with the "punitive legislation" which threatens the strip miners.

Mr. Woomer rightly points out that the coal taken out by stripping off the covering soil can be recovered by no other method. He states that the strip miners have performed valiantly in producing coal for the war program, and have set the pace for efficiency and mechanization in the whole industry. The economic value of a corn field is far less than that of the coal beneath it, particularly when coal is needed as urgently as it is today.

Still the thought that occurs to most people who travel thru the strip mine badlands is whether it is necessary to destroy for all time the usefulness of these fields and turn them into hideous eyesores just to remove the coal beneath them. The miners who use stripping shovels and drag lines may contend that their working margin does not permit them to consider saving the top soil and rehabilitating the land after the coal has been removed.

The war has introduced the bulldozer into the common language. Everybody has heard about the work these great earth moving machines have done in leveling air fields out of jungles, building roads, and removing obstacles from the path of advancing troops. A few bulldozers moving behind the strip mine shovels ought to provide enough rehabilitation without prohibitive cost for the land to fight its way back to usefulness.

Nobody wants to see strip mining penalized or outlawed by restrictive legislation, but public disgust at the desolation strip mining causes may bring about such legislation if the operators do not undertake to reform their methods thru their own enterprise.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of these creatures will eventually be the usual source of cheese?

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

A FEW MORE ISLANDS.

To keep ahead of the war news, now that Cherbourg is in the bag, let's glance at the Channel Islands, off the west coast of the Norman peninsula. The Germans are there and will have to be speedily removed. Oddly enough, these islands belong to England; thus the invasion will have to do a little invading of the realm from which it sprang, as a side line.

The English possession of this scramble of rocks and reefs dates from the time when Normandy was a feudal holding of English kings, who occasionally preferred to live in the castles of their ancestors. France has never made a serious attempt to assert her geographic rights. The Channel Islanders are bilingual, since they are in close communication with their French neighbors of the mainland. They ship agricultural products, including Jersey and Guernsey cattle, to England, but they are likely to go shopping at Cherbourg or St. Malo.

Summer resorters from England are fond of the islands, because of the equable climate and the general quaintness of views and customs. Their most famous visitor, however, was a French literary man, in exile because of his zeal in writing propaganda for a revolution. He lived on Jersey for a while and then settled down on Guernsey for 17 years, during which he wrote one of the world's best known books. Its title is "Les Misérables."

* * *

On one of these islands, we have forgotten which, about half the population of the old stock bears the name of Collins. The other half, more Frenchified, is named Collin [pronounced as in French]. That's one of the reasons, aside from the war, why this column casts a curious eye toward Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, and Sark.

MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S SCREEN.

Pajama pants and undershirt,
I read in, these hot nights;
I fill my pipe and get all set
And everything invites.

And then it starts: My window screens
In spots must be a wreck,
For little hoppers land upon
The back of my old neck.

And always moths, those silly things
That zoom around the lamp
And now and then, in need of rest,
Light on my head and camp.

I brush, I bat, I curse, I sweat—
Get just two chapters read—
When insect beachheads have me licked;
I quit and go to bed.

At 2 a. m. a firefly
Took off in frenzied flight;
Add shins and chairs to things that went
Bump in my room last night.

The Shearing of a Lamb.

It was a day of triumph which ended ingloriously when I was sent alone for the first time to the barber's shop for a haircut. In those days, in the place where I lived, it was called a hair-dressing saloon.

I remember the barber, an important gentleman he seemed and one greatly to be respected, finishing the haircut, and with comb upraised asking, "Which side will you have your hair parted, sir?" And my replying, being both unprepared for the question and overcome by being addressed as "sir," "Both sides, if you please." "Like a cock-a-doodle-doo, eh!" chortled the barber, so that the waiting customers could hear. I climbed down from the chair, discomfited and hurt, and subsided from the room amid the grins of the patrons.

In that far-off time I had dark, curly locks that were the silent envy of little girls and the loud scorn of small boys. The curls were climaxed on the forehead with a triumphant Disraelian flourish. The locks are scantier now, but there is still the shadow of a curling tuft on top like the tail of a proud but molting cockatoo.

In those early days the cost of a haircut was threepence. Today it costs almost a dollar, and the tip alone four times as much as the boyhood haircut. This is amusing when I remember how much was cut off then for threepence and how little today for a dollar. Then the sweepings of my rich brown curls would have yielded a soft and ample cushion for Queen Victoria's throne. Now, if I go down on my hands and knees and scrape together the leavings, there is scarcely enough to make two false eyebrows for a dowager.

ADVICE TO RADICALS.

Comrades!
Let us never stop
Beating with angry fists
Against the iron walls
That surround us. . . .

That we may not seem Too ludicrous
To those who built the walls,
Shall we not clothe our hands
In heavy gloves?

When Children Crawled Under Beds.

I didn't live "in the period following the Civil war," but I know something of shooting anvils [June 22]. That was the bane of my young existence.

In the little town where I live, when I was littler than I am now—and it was, too—there was a blacksmith shop on the main street, and at the end of the "business district" was our home. Almost directly across the street from the shop was my father's store. Every Fourth of July they shot the anvils—always about 5 o'clock in the morning. I hardly slept that night, and every Fourth of July found me under the bed with my fingers in my ears.

It's been several years since anybody here tried to shoot anvils, and I hope they don't get any inspiration from reading the Line! I'd have a hard time crawling under the bed today.

W. F. T. writes: "You have stated members of the maritime service are not eligible for national service life insurance. I have a son in this service for two years who is a third mate on a Liberty ship and an ensign in the navy. He applied for this insurance and received a certificate and has paid premiums for two years. If the policy became a claim, would it be paid or would it be claimed 'invalid'? If invalid, would the premiums be refunded?"

ANSWER: Unless your son served a minimum of more than 31 days on active duty after being commissioned, he was not eligible to apply; therefore any claim likely would be disallowed. If disallowed there might be some chance of recovery of premiums. Many men in your son's situation have found they have no valid insurance.

GASTRITIS—IRRITATION WITHIN THE STOMACH.

GASTRITIS means inflammation within the gastric pouch. We have all observed acute attacks and the green apple colic of childhood is an unhappy reminder. The "breadbasket" resents the undesirable edible and ejects its burden promptly. The contractions may cause intense pain. But it is not always necessary to swallow indigestible articles in order to demonstrate what will happen. Symptoms may accompany an infection. For example, influenza or even a severe cold may set up enough irritation of the mucosa to bring on nausea or diarrhea, or both. If one could peer at the interior of the organ during such an episode, the parts would look swollen and shaggy with patches which may be described as "bloodshot." While there may be no actual bleeding, dilatation of the capillaries may be sufficient to cause oozing. What we call "intestinal flu" is probably the result of toxins, manufactured by the initial virus or the complicating germs, attacking the surfaces within the alimentary tract.

Most of us are wise enough to realize that we are victims of likes and dislikes—that is, certain dishes do not agree with us. In consequence, we avoid them or use them sparingly. If we fail to take advantage of hints which have been telegraphed to consciousness [inside information], the condition may settle down to a chronic state. Eventually, it may be that every item in the diet will produce pain. We are not dealing with an organic lesion, but with extensive irritation within the mucous lining. A few spots will be completely denuded, almost stripped of their velvet-like cells, while others will exhibit deep congestion and oversecretion.

Many individuals who become steady users of bicarbonate tablets or alkaline powders are sufferers from distress, which lacks the characteristic clocklike regularity of a peptic ulcer. After a while, there is a loss of appetite, even a loathing for food because the patient knows full well that eating is followed by two or three hours of discomfort.

If a gastroscope is available and can be employed, diagnosis is not difficult. The appearance of the inner layers of the pouch will tell the story. But even without this, X-ray films will aid materially in ruling out the presence of ulcer.

Treatment is wholly dietary. Meals—eaten leisurely—must be small in amount, frequent, and free from fiber and other noxious elements. Even tho a few pounds are lost, no damage will be done. Gradually, as comfort is restored, the calories may be increased slowly. In long standing cases, complete rest in bed for a week or 10 days is desirable. The structure may be washed out daily. During this interval alcohol and tobacco are not allowed.

There may come a time when hydrochloric acid will need to be supplied artificially. We must not forget foci of infection, particularly from the teeth, tonsils, or sinuses. Furthermore, mastication must be practiced scrupulously. Overweight can be shunned. If tobacco has been employed to excess, the quantity may be cut in half, until recovery has been established fully.

So Sorry, Mr. Willkie.

O, Wendell, when you first unfurled
The shining banner of One World,
You made a slight mistake, we fear.

You thought you'd be its President,
You thought One World would let you run it.
And now the summer of your discontent
Is dawning. You have just begun it.

One world!
And you don't like it, brother?
Don't you wish you had another?

Convention Gleanings.

Nothing could be more appropriate for the Republican convention weather than the miniature gridirons worn on the lapels of Washington newspaper men who are members of the Gridiron club. And if you hear those radio commentators speak of some one receiving a warm welcome, it is a phenomenon of radio — an understatement.

Tuesday produced a flock of elephants. All were of white oilcloth stitched in black, and all were romping over the illimitable field of Mrs. Bertha Baur's hat. While on the subject of hats, Hedda Hopper wants to be confused only with herself. Her convention hat says "Hedda" on the front and "Hopper" on the back. The Dewey forces, by the way, are copping the pretty young girl vote by giving out red, white, and blue velvet hair bow-combs with a Dewey placard in the middle.

Two women wearing Stassen badges clambered aboard the crowded bus. Three high school boys gazed curiously at them.

"Who's Stassen?" the first asked in amazement.

"I never heard of him," said the second.

"Wonder what he's running for," mused the third.

"Maybe it has something to do with the Republican convention," the first suggested.

"Aw, naw!" the third said in reproof. "Dewey's got that all fixed up."

The press platform at the Stadium is so long that the man on the back row has to use field glasses to see the facial contortions of the speakers.

Hotel-life-is-fun-note: Some of the rooms in the Stevens hotel were issued clean strips of sheeting yesterday morning in lieu of face towels.

Leo Carrillo, the movie actor, who had planned to ride a white horse into the Stadium tomorrow upon the nomination of Gov. Warren of California for the Vice Presidency, dropped into Mrs. Warren's box. "You know," he mused, "I think I've seen you often in your garden." "I'm sure you have," Mrs. Warren replied promptly, "Hanging out the washing."

Herbert Hoover's son, Allan, and the latter's wife sat in a front box at both morning and evening sessions. With them was their niece, Peggy Ann Hoover, a pretty blonde girl of 15 or so, terribly excited at the prospect of hearing her grandfather speak. She has never heard him make a public address before. She is the child at whose birth Hoover presumably was told, "She looks just like you." "Why not?" Hoover is said to have replied, "All babies do." All the Hoovers deny the story, but it is still good, and Peggy Ann now does look like her grandfather.

Mr. McIntyre Faries of San Marino, Cal., came to the convention as an alternate and was very unhappy about it. Over and over he said to the delegate from his district, Leo E. Anderson, that he hoped he broke an arm or leg so he, Faries, could get to vote. An official report on the cause has not been received by this department, but Mr. Anderson now is lying in bed in a Chicago hotel with a broken leg.

BAND WAGON HOPPERS.

Chicago, June 24—From Mr. Henning's article in this morning's TRIBUNE, it would appear that the main objective of some of the delegates to the Republican convention is not that of trying to pick the candidate best qualified to be their standard bearer, but of trying to scramble aboard a band wagon, if it appears that there is going to be a band wagon.

Now it may well be that the considered judgment of the majority of the delegates would give the nomination to one candidate on the first ballot. But is the fact that such a possibility exists any good reason why a single delegate should change his plans for casting his vote on that first ballot? One would think that some sort of a stigma attaches to those who do not keep a weather eye upon the supposed band wagon, to hear how some people worry about "missing the bus."

Whoever the nominee may be, the ticket which the Republicans will present to the country will command more respect from the voters if it is chosen with deliberation and after a test of strength on the convention floor, with each delegate voting as his conscience dictates for the one he believes to be the best man [unless he is in honor bound by the rules of some preferential primary to vote for another] than it will if the delegates, sheep-like, allow themselves to be stampeded aboard a hypothetical band wagon.

VICTOR ELVING.

WHISKY FOR DELEGATES.

Newton, Ill., June 24.—The first resolution the Republican convention ought to adopt should be a blistering rebuke and repudiation of the assurance of the whisky dealers that the delegates could have all the whisky they could drink. There were two conditions: Each one must have a badge showing he belonged to the convention, and also a card showing he belonged to the whisky gang.

Under these conditions the delegates were welcomed to Chicago by the Illinois state whisky association. Isn't that fine? And delegates to a Republican national convention, too! Their answer to that ought to be a resolution to adjourn to another state, and still another declaring for the submission of a prohibition amendment.

WOULD BRAND STRIKERS.

Chicago, June 23.—The action of the crew of the U. S. S. Coos Bay in sending their poor pennies for use of the relief of the "money hungry strikers" certainly must make these strikers feel very proud of themselves.

I have a plan to stop all strikes during the war. Use some kind of branding ink which cannot be washed off for a year, and put a big "S" right up in the forehead of each person striking. Then when the brothers and sons and uncles and nephews of the strikers return they can readily tell what support they got.

J. B.

WANTS G. O. P. EXPOSE.

Washington, D. C., June 24.—There is only one crucial issue before the Republican convention—to expose or not to expose Roosevelt's activities in the Tyler Kent case and prior to Pearl Harbor, for if the Republicans decide to help Roosevelt cover, Roosevelt will be reëlected and nothing else the Republicans do at Chicago will matter.

RALPH BAERMAN.

NAVY CHECKOFF TO HELP STRIKERS.

Chicago, June 22.—The sentiments expressed by the boys of the U. S. S. Coos Bay, as reported by the Associated Press, should be put up to all branches of the services overseas.

I don't believe there is a patriotic soldier or sailor anywhere on our battle fronts who would not gladly contribute 5 per cent of his pay to supplement the pay rolls of the men and women of industry who are on strike, and thus get them back to the manufacture of munitions, blood plasma, planes and the other things so vitally needed in the war.

When a man's life is forfeit, what is a small matter like 5 per cent? I feel sure the families of our men at the front would appreciate it also. Perhaps a checkoff could be established in the various paymasters' departments, and the percentage deducted at the source. Then a check could be mailed immediately to union headquarters for the benefit of the needy strikers.

E. A. WHALEN.

WE'LL BE GLAD TO EAT CAKE.

Naperville, Ill., June 23.—There is such an oversupply of eggs that the government is spending huge sums, at the taxpayer's expense, to buy up the surplus and then feed the eggs to hogs.

The housewives of America could solve the egg problem in two weeks if we were not burdened with unnecessary sugar rationing. Home baking of pies, cakes, and puddings would use up the eggs if sugar were available, as it was in the days before rationing and forced curtailment of beet sugar production. We have never had a satisfactory explanation for sugar rationing.

J. R. DARNELL.

HENRY HIT THE CEILING.

Chicago, June 21.—I see our respected treasury chief, Henry Spendum Morgenthau, objected to the overcharge of 19 cents on a sandwich. What a laugh! The man who spends billions of your money and mine, who tosses our lettuce away into the four winds, has the unmitigated nerve to squawk about 19 cents for a sandwich. Doesn't this incident just about illustrate and epitomize the whole caboodle known as the New Deal?

AL COMPTON.

CAMPAIGN SONG SUGGESTION.

Chicago, June 24.—It seems to me that the Republicans could work out a campaign song around "Throw Out the Bunglers" to the tune of "Roll Out the Barrel."

HEALTH EXAMINATION.

Chicago, June 24.—Please tell me in what states a medical examination is not required to obtain a marriage license.

J. S.

The requirement of the health examination has the almost unanimous approval of informed persons. If one of the parties proposes evasion of this salutary requirement, even on plausible grounds of economy or secrecy, it is a basis for suspicion that such party would not pass the examination and hence is a reason for the other party to talk with a doctor as to the seriousness of the risk.

We are reluctant to assist in a proposed evasion of the Illinois requirement. If you feel that your facts are exceptional, please state them.

'One Is Missing'

By H. Vernor Dixon

(Copyright: 1944: By H. Vernor Dixon.)

SYNOPSIS: Camouflaged for jungle warfare, Capt. Jed Reed calls to his companion, Bart, a giant clad in loin cloth, and a man of unusual intelligence. A white man is approaching. Jed knocks him out, rifles his pockets, and finds he is Hugh Wescott St. John, engineer, London, Manila, and Hong Kong. In his wallet is a snapshot of a woman and child, and $900 in American money. They decide he is all right, return his belongings, revive him, and inform him, he is on the Malayan archipelago. St. John returns to a smashed airplane and tells his adventures to Tom Riddell and Richard Cary, pilots, Scott Banning, his wife, Ellen, and Mae Nolan, whose dancing partner was killed in the crash. Jed is unsympathetic, and curious as to how they shall die.

INSTALMENT III.

CRASHED AIRPLANE.

Mae Nolan could not remember the details of all that took place during the next few weeks, except that she and Jimmy lunched together every day and, casually but inevitably, wound up as dancing partners. Mae had never been more than second-rate, but it was Jimmy's talent that carried the act along, so that it did not matter.

Jimmy was in love with her and she did her best to fall in love with him but, somehow, it failed to come about. Jimmy would shrug it off and say, "It's just one of those things, Mae. Some day you'll fall in love. When you do—well—I'll be there, and hoping I'm the guy."

She pressed back the sudden hot tears and managed to smile thru them at the memory of Jimmy's one weakness: travel. His nose had always been buried in travel folders and strange names of strange places rolled from his tongue as easily as 42d and Broadway. That weakness stopped him from becoming a great star and, later, led to his death.

Mae thought, "Those years with Jimmy were the best of my life. They'll never come back."

Her whole life, until Jimmy had come along, had been second rate. Her mother had been a tired, complaining woman and her father a dour man, bitter over his lack of any sort of ability and rarely able to hold a job for any length of time.

At 17 she had broken away from the family and gone to New York, where she enjoyed some small success as a photographers' model. She had good, even, photogenic features, with an excellent figure, and she might have gone ahead in that profession. She did not regret leaving it. Jimmy had been the high spot. She had her memories of him, and she had seen the world, virtually all of it.

She got down from the wing and picked up the suitcase and was about to take a step forward when an icy chill ran down her spine. Two figures were standing on the trail facing her, a few feet away. One was a giant Negro and the other, the bronzed figure in uniform, was probably white, tho there were odd streaks of green on his face and arms.

Mae Nolan wanted to scream and cry. One hand flew to her mouth, but she was incapable of moving or uttering a sound.

Capt. Jed Reed's lips parted and his eyes twisted in a smile. He removed his helmet, revealing a shock of close-cut black hair and his grin widened.

"Miss Nolan? I am Capt. Jed Reed." He indicated the Negro with a jerk of his head. "This is Bart."

Mae Nolan's hand came down from her mouth and, with great difficulty, she stammered, "How—how did you kn-know who I was?"

Jed Reed glanced down the trail, then back at her. "We have been listening to your friends for the last hour or so."

"Ea-eavesdropping?"

Jed laughed and his eyes almost closed. "Between ourselves, Miss Nolan, we call it reconnaissance, or making a disposition of 'the opposing forces."

"Opposing—"

"Until proven otherwise." He reached for the packet of cigarets. "May I?"

"Well, yes—"

She handed them to him and the blood began to come back to her face. He lit a cigaret and handed the others back to her. He inhaled deeply and sighed with satisfaction. "Lord, you don't know how that tastes. Three months." He looked at Bart. "Why is it you don't care to smoke?"

"God gave me good lungs, my friend. I like them that way."

Mae Nolan ran her fingers across her eyes. "You—you men—look, Mr. Reed; are you are aren't you a captain?"

"I am. If you continue to doubt me," he laughed, "then you display good sense. I doubt everything and everybody. The story the Englishman tolds us, for example. It seemed impossible to me that you could have escaped from Manila and come this far, even with considerable bribery. But, up to a certain point, I have found it to be true. So now we will join your friends."

Mae Nolan smiled wearily. "You scared me. I—I don't know when I've been so frightened."

"Not even when you crashed?" His smile had gone. "Can you tell me how that crash was engineered?"

She turned to look at the airplane, almost impossible to see in the growing dark, then her glance came back to Jed. "I don't know much about airplanes. You see, my partner and I, Jimmy Taylor he was—Nolan and Taylor we called ourselves—we did a dancing act and sort of banged around wherever we could get a date. Jimmy liked to travel." She brushed away the tears that had again formed in her eyes and continued: "We were in at the fall of Manila. The Japs put us in a concentration camp and all of us occupied one room, St. John, the Bannings, and Jimmy and me. When Banning pulled this escape he had to take us with him because we knew all about it. It was pretty bad, all the way down the islands. We met Riddell and Cary some place in Borneo. They had this plane they'd flown over from China."

"But the crash, Miss Nolan."

"Well, the other night Cary came back in the cabin and made us all fasten our safety belts. He let a flare go and tried to make that big clearing back by the sea, but missed it."

"He overshot it?"

"I guess. I don't know much about these things. Anyway he hit here in the jungle. I thought it was the end, but—but only for Jimmy. He couldn't be strapped down because of previous injuries. He was killed in the crash. They—they buried him this morning. That's all I know about it."

Jed looked at Bart and asked, "What do you think?"

Bart shrugged. "It's hard to say. Miss Nolan, did the co-pilot say at the time why the forced landing had to be made?"

"Yes. He said we were out of gas."

Bart burst into laughter. Mae Nolan asked preplexedly, "What's so funny about it?"

Jed said, "We examined the wreckage before investigating your friends. There was enough gas left in the tanks to take you hundreds of miles away from here, but perhaps you had better keep that to yourself."

She stared at them, more puzzled than ever. "All right. If you say so."

"And now—shall we go meet your friends?"

The fire in the center of the small clearing threw grotesque shadows on the jungle wall, but etched the faces of the people standing on two sides of it. Jed and Bart, with Mae Nolan still between them, faced the others across the fire. None of them, with the possible exception of St. John, were yet over the surprise and shock caused by the sudden appearance of their visitors. Ellen Banning was the most affected, staring with horrible fascination at Bart and the green bronze face of the captain.

SEES ROBOT AS A PROBLEM FOR PEACEMAKERS

Asks World Body to Control Weapon.

Cuts Entertainment

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, June 27.—Because of the threat of flying bombs it is possible for moviegoers of southern England to get a seat these days without first waiting in a line a block long. On a recent night a theater normally commanding a large audience had 20 patrons. Dance hall attendance also is said to be down 25 per cent.

LONDON, June 27 (AP).—Germany's flying bomb, which in 12 days of constant bombardment of southern England has shown itself to be a weapon of great potentialities, poses a new problem for the peacemakers and opens up vistas of savage warfare aimed at the civilian hearts of nations.

An American scientist who is closely associated with the war effort and was one of the developers of radar and instruments for precision bombing thru clouds, described the flying bomb today as "a development as revolutionary as the airplane, with a tremendous future and a definite political problem."

New Secret Weapon Available.

It is easily within the ability of modern science, he said, to iron out the present weaknesses of the flying bomb. Even in its present stage the weapon presents the possibility for some nation such as Germany to prepare quickly and secretly during peace time and then release thousands of tons of explosives on an unsuspecting foreign capital.

It is known generally that the Germans have another "secret weapon" which they expect to use. There is much speculation about its nature, but capture of installations on the Cherbourg peninsula incline many to believe it is a gigantic rocket-propelled bomb which may weigh up to 10 or 15 tons and which would fly at a great height.

Aimed by Compass.

It was estimated that in mass production the present flying bomb probably costs about $500—slightly higher than a conventional bomb. It is extremely simple, burns ordinary low octane gasoline at a rate of one gallon a mile for a 2,000 pound projectile.

The bomb is aimed by compass, and while the Germans have no control over it once it is in flight, they probably can chart its course by radar and make adjustments in subsequent firings.

The women they'll never forget!

THIS WAS A RED-LETTER DAY for Jim—the soldier who had lost the use of his leg at Salerno. For this day he walked—strictly alone—for the first time in months. To Jim, it was a miracle. To the Wac who had coached him so long and so patiently, he said, "Sister, if I live to be a million, I'll always remember you for this."

THIS IS A WORLD WAR. The most terrible of all recorded events in human history.

And this is what the Wacs—the women soldiers of our Army—are doing about it:

Working in critical hospital jobs. Helping to restore the broken bodies and spirits of fighting men.

Working as lip-readers. Helping blind men to see again through knowledge of Braille. Working as laboratory technicians. As pharmacists. As psychiatric assistants. As ambulance drivers.

Working in control towers. Making strategy maps for invasion.

Manning the giant switchboards that send combat orders winging to tensely waiting bomber crews.

Working night and day at vital jobs. Jobs that will speed the day of liberation—and give us peace again.

These are the women "they'll never forget"...

Gallantly, a new page is being written into American history by the women of the Women's Army Corps.

Lake Geneva Club Planning Lobster Feast

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE tardy start of the Lake Geneva season is not interfering with plans for the Lake Geneva Country club's traditional July 4 lobster luncheon. This year for the 46th time members will be enjoying the lobster and crab meat delicacies made from secret recipes handed down from the charter members who originated the feast—Martin A. Ryerson, Charles L. Hutchinson, and Tracy Drake among them. It was in 1898 that the first luncheon in the series was served, and so much tradition is attached to the event that the club's older members invariably turn out in full force on July 4.

Under the direction of Augustus K. Maxwell, who again heads the board, the club is arranging a small dinner dance for Saturday night. Since some 40 members are away in the army or navy, it will be a quiet season at the club, with impromptu tennis and golf events and no other large parties except for the turkey luncheon Labor day and the Harvest Home party late in September.

The Yacht club also has called off most of its usual competitions, as the larger boats cannot find crews. The smaller boats—cubs and E and C boats which can be manned by the 'teen age sailors—soon will start Sunday racing. Three of the annual yachting events—the Sheridan race, the Dr. Otto L. Schmidt cup, and the Charles Wacker cup races—may be telescoped into an informal meet late in the season.

Rummage Sale in July.

The Lake Geneva Garden club's popular flower show, a war time casualty, will be omitted again this year, and the giant rummage sale usually given the last week in June in Horticultural hall for the benefit of Holiday Home has been postponed until mid-July. Mrs. Robert Tarrant heads the board of the latter organization, for which Mrs. Albert E. Madlener Jr. managed last year's sale.

Mrs. Earle Zimmerman and her daughter, Jane, who came back from Wyoming late in May, are being joined at Lake Geneva by Col. Zimmerman, who will spend his 10 day leave at the resort before the family returns to his army post in Cheyenne after the Fourth of July. The son of the family, Capt. Charles Zimmerman, has written that he still is in England.

Also missing from the Lake Geneva colony this season is William Sills, who is working for his navy commission at Princeton university. His wife and three children and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sills, will be at the resort on and off during the summer.

The Simeon B. Chapins, who remained in Pinehurst, N. C., all last year, have returned to Lake Geneva this summer. With them at their home are their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. Francis A. Drake.

The Harbor Point association clubhouse will be open and ready for business this week-end. The resort is expecting one of its busiest summers in years.

Wedding News.

When Miss Zo de La Chapelle becomes the bride of Lt. [j. g.] Richard Bennett Lord today in the Kenilworth home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacques de La Chapelle, a handsome brussels lace veil which has been in her family for five generations will fall over the shoulders of her wedding gown. Here for the ceremony and reception following at 5:30 p. m. are Mrs. Lucien Antoine of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Richard de La Chapelle of Englewood, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Henri de La Chapelle of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. Baldwin Maxwell of Iowa City, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Jacques Cornet of Tenafly, N. J.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Renée, and Miss Rita Ewing of Anchorage, Ky. Lt. [j. g.]

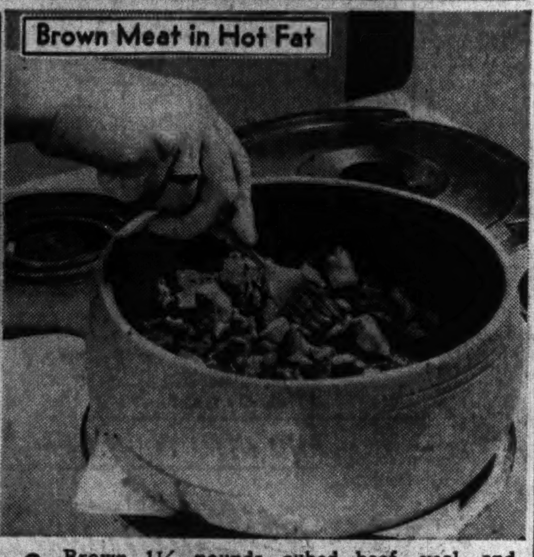
Mary Meade Shows How to Make Chop Suey

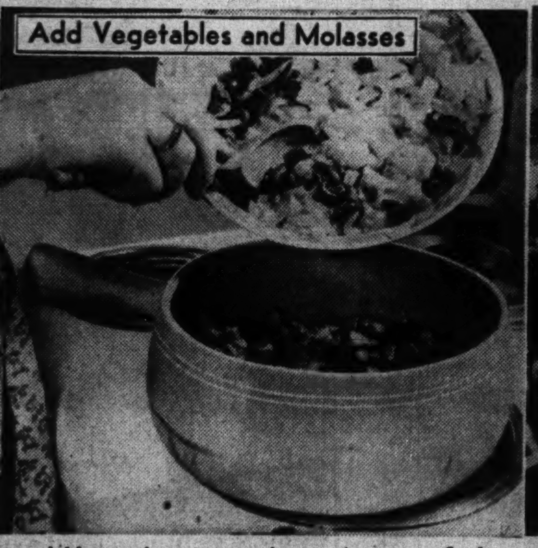
Prepare Fresh Mushrooms

1. Wash and slice ½ pound fresh mushrooms. Brown in 3 tablespoons bacon drippings with 3 cups sliced onions for about 5 minutes. Remove mushrooms and onions from pan.



Brown Meat in Hot Fat

2. Brown 1½ pounds cubed beef, veal, and pork in fat. Add 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and 1½ cups water. Cover; cook meat slowly for about 30 minutes.



Add Vegetables and Molasses

3. Add mushrooms, onions, 4 cups finely chopped celery, and ¼ cup molasses. Cover; cook for 10 to 15 minutes. Add ¼ cup flour; stir and cook 2 minutes longer.

[TRIBUNE Studio Photos.]

Serve with Steamed Rice

4. Steam 1 cup raw rice with 2 cups water and 1 teaspoon salt until tender, 30 to 40 minutes. Arrange chop suey around rice on chop plate. Recipe will serve six.

(Prepared by Mary Meade.)

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Egg and Rice Platter.

[Serves six.]

- 6 hard cooked eggs
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 sardines or ½ cup salmon
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ½ cup seedless raisins, plumped in boiling water
- 2 tablespoons melted margarine
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 2 cups medium thick white sauce.

Cut eggs in halves lengthwise and scoop out yolks. Mash yolks and add salt, flaked fish, lemon juice, raisins, margarine, and pepper. Mix and refill whites. Arrange in platter around mound of hot rice and pour well seasoned white sauce on top. Serve immediately.

Two Legion Women Made Directors of Woman's City Club

Two women prominently identified with the American Legion auxiliary have been seated as directors on the board of the Woman's City Club of Chicago. They are Mrs. Melville Mucklestone, a former national president of the auxiliary and now head of the past presidents' club, and Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers, former Illinois department president and dean of Illini Girls' State.

Girls' State, sponsored by women of the Legion, is a summer school in government, conducted for a week each year for selected high school girls, at which procedures in government are put into actual practice. Mrs. Suthers was one of the leaders in setting up the Illini school, which has just completed its annual session at Jacksonville. Mrs. Suthers, who is a lecturer in parliamentary law, gave a series of talks for the girls. An active participant in politics, Mrs. Suthers is national president of the National Federation of Women's Republican clubs.

Monteux Wins Over Heat as Ravinia Opens

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Pierre Monteux, conductor. Presented at Ravinia Tuesday evening, June 27, 1944. The program:

Prelude to "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" .... Wagner
Two Nocturnes .... Debussy
"Clouds," "Festivals."
Suite No. 1, from the ballet, "Romeo and Juliet" ... Prokofieff
Symphony No. 3, B flat major, "Eroica" .... Beethoven

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The Ravinia festival opened its ninth season of Chicago Symphony orchestra concerts last night with such a wealth of good news that while it was impossible completely to forget the weather, at least it took second place in the minds of more than 4,000 customers who thronged the festive park. For not only was Pierre Monteux back as a favorite guest conductor, but Percy Eckhart's witty speech of welcome told of new guarantors and then, as the cherry on the ice cream, of Mrs. Louis Eckstein's munificent gift of all Ravinia to the Festival association, as trustees for the community.

This generous gesture gives Ravinia a future which can be comparable with its glowing past.

Perhaps you remember that a year ago Mr. Monteux said he wouldn't conduct any more summer concerts—too hot and not enough rehearsals. Luckily for us, he changed his mind, and looked as twinklingly imperturbable as ever as he triumphed quietly over several sizable handicaps:

The unmistakable fact, for one, that our orchestra has a lot of new faces and that it has been out of rehearsal for a couple of months; and the indubitable fact, which no one will deny, that it was a very hot night indeed, the kind that puts strings out of tune and sends woodwinds into strange croaks that usually emanate only from frogs and hoot owls.

But it was, in spite of all these things, a brilliant, even a memorable concert.

This was not immediately apparent, for the "Meistersinger" overture, tho it had the supreme clarity that is Monteux's great gift to music, at times was a little harsh in tone, lacking the full throated splendor, the mellow magnificence once our orchestra's trade mark, but DeBussy's "Clouds" had a delicate, yet indestructible radiance, a buoyant serenity that seemed to float in beauty and "Festivals" had an imperious glitter and the beginning of a lovely lyricism that opened tantalizing vistas of what Monteux could do for our orchestra if we had him, preferably, forever.

This enchanting state of affairs went on through the suite from Prokofieff's "Romeo and Juliet," that tongue in cheek piece of Shakespearean delight that suddenly goes romantic for the lovers, turns "Peter and the Wolf" for the Masquers and lets Romeo duel to Tybalt's death in a wonderful glitter of rapier tone. Despite some hot weather slips in the winds it was a shining performance, with a stellar trumpet and some expert strings to take the major bows.

The exigencies of war time reporting being what they are, I was able to hear only the first movement of the "Eroica" in time for this report. But it was just what you would expect of Monteux's Beethoven that had the pristine freshness of clean performance, the symmetry of perfect proportion, and the nobility that is the music's birthright.

Mrs. Robert E. Johnson Jr.'s marriage to Lt. Johnson of the army air forces took place recently in the River Forest home of the former Lucie Nichols' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Nichols. Lt. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Oak Park.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

The Old Order Changeth.

It's Rick Moran's idea that in 1934 a white collar girl married the boss to assure herself a permanent position; in 1944 the boss marries the white collar girl to assure himself a permanent employe.

Jottings on a Journey.

The New York Central had a ticket—and I had a suitcase—so the white collar editor is off for the east.

War time traveling being something of a mixture of "Outward Bound," "Lifeboat," and "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," it would take a dull spirit, indeed, not to be quickened by the span of human experience caught between the green plush confines of a Pullman: The group of Standard Oil men on their way to Arabia . . . the six-weeks-old baby so quiet and sweet in her pretty traveling basket . . . the very young service wife playing rummy with her husband and two other soldiers, complaining she was hungry while her husband twitted her, "You eat just like a grown person, don't you!" . . . the Quaker on board in her sombre dress . . . the patience of the aviators on a train already four hours late . . . the remark of one lieutenant that he'd be glad to get home to get a bath and his answer to the query, "Where's home?"—an air field—"we think of it as home, now." . . .

The home economics teacher describing Gov. Bricker's arrival at the Stevens and Mrs. Bricker's deep red roses . . . the World War I. veteran, who had been with the army of occupation, telling about the maps of Berlin he had saved and turned over to the government at the beginning of World War II. . . . the sergeant gazing with nostalgia at the well-tended fields, picturing the farm he intends to own in the state of Washington after the war—bearing out the contention of a Columbia agriculture professor that the returning men are going to settle on farms and homes in the country. . . .

The two bleached blondes, replete with silver foxes, pearls, dabs of lace, and cupid bow mouths . . . the student from Notre Dame returning home to report to the navy July 1 . . . the harassed conductor amiably answering questions about missing connections as tho a wreck outside of Cleveland was his special responsibility . . . the parents accompanying their daughter to Plattsburg for a military wedding—the wedding dress packed in a huge box. . . .

The mother with the two charming little girls, Jane and Charlotte, in their dainty pink and blue dotted Swiss dresses, busily putting their doll babies to sleep, kissing their dollies goodnight—the little girls' daddy is in Puerto Rico with the navy, too far away to bid them goodnight . . . the WAC officer, her complexion fresh as a carnation . . . the grumblers growing fewer every day . . . and, lodging in one's soul, never to be erased, never to be forgotten, the sight of the boy in khaki with his pinched face and slow limp moving cautiously thru the car, looking neither to right nor left, compressing—and will he ever know it?—the hearts of his fellow passengers in his thin, white hands.

Ravinia Owner Deeds Park to Festival Group

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

Add to the talents of Percy B. Eckhart, chairman of the Ravinia Festival association: The art of keeping a secret. So closely did he guard the news that Mrs. Louis Eckstein, Ravinia's landlady, has deeded the park and all its properties to the association that not even Mrs. Eckhart knew the glad tidings until her husband announced it from Ravinia's platform at last night's opening of the six week outdoor concert season.

A slice of young moon in a pansy-toned sky and the magic of Pierre Monteux's baton gave an added festive touch to Ravinia's traditional charm and one did not need to look at the bright gowns and numerous white dinner jackets to tell that the crowd was in a gala mood.

The cold winds that stalked last year's opening were replaced by gentle breezes, and perhaps the only fur wrap in the audience was the brief white fur jacket which Miss Joan Monroe tucked under one arm and promptly forgot. Her sleek dinner gown was of midnight blue crepe winking with rhinestones. In the same party were her parents, the Walter Monroes; her brother and sister-in-law, the Jack Hampton Monroes, and Cadet Rockwood Foster. The senior Mrs. Monroe's striking white dinner dress was circled with silver sequins, while her daughter-in-law chose a short length gown of pink dotted in black.

Hearing the concert with the Eckharts were their daughter, Mrs. Roswell Coyne; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and George Voevodsky. In a neighboring box across the aisle sat Mrs. Eckstein in a cool looking white dinner dress patterned in miniature fruits, and the Howell W. Murrays, the Francis M. Knights, the Renslow P. Sherers, and Herman Waldeck.

Dinner gowns and white jackets also prevailed in the box of the Charles H. Morses, whose family party included the junior Morses, Mrs. William Covington, and William Covington Jr. With the Donald R. McLennans were their daughter, Mrs. Woodbury S. Ober; Mrs. George McLaughlin, Mrs. Oliver Wilson, Mrs. William P. Martin, and Mrs. James E. Baum.

The refectory did a land office business, and the roast beef and baked ham offered for the first time this year was so popular that it sold out early. The new flagstoned pool, the well trimmed beds of begonias and petunias, and the lanterns of the fireflies hovering above the bushes added to the midsummer night's dreaminess of the park.

Some of the many others in the appreciative audience were Mrs. Frank Fuller, Mrs. Norman Westerhold and her daughter, Mrs. George Shay; Mr. and Mrs. Harold McLain, Mr. and Mrs. Julien Collins, the Phillip Gassels, Mrs. Hal C. Kimbrough, the Werner Wieboldts, Mrs. James G. Shakman, and Miss Mary Jane Brummel, escorted by John McCortney.

John Carradine Gets Around--- in Horror Films

"THE INVISIBLE MAN'S REVENGE."

A Universal picture, directed by Ford Beebe, featuring Jon Hall, John Carradine, Evelyn Ankers, and Alan Curtis, and presented at the Grand.

"THE RETURN OF THE APE MAN."

A Monogram picture, directed by Phil Rose, featuring John Carradine, George Zucco, and Frank Moran, and presented at the Grand.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

John Carradine sho' does get around these days! No horror film, it seems, would be complete without him.

On the Grand's double feature program this week, he poses as tempest and sunshine, i. e., he's the mad scientist of "The Invisible Man's Revenge" and the noble, martyred doc in "The Ape Man's Return"—victim of another wacky medico. . . . As is his custom, Mr. Carradine invests both roles with credulity, albeit you know he must be playing with mental tongue in mental cheek.

These two "escape" pictures are of the rank and file of horror thrillers. In the former the "Invisible Man," whipped by a persecution complex, wreaks vengeance on those he feels are his enemies. He obtains his visibility and invisibilty thru the ministrations of an experimenting surgeon who means no wrong and who himself becomes a victim.

The "man" is big and skeery. The doc is sweet and skeery. The doc's dog, which acts as his guinea pig, proves the "man's" Nemesis. . . . Woo, woo.

"The Ape Man's Return" is just another of those things. This trip a prehistoric man frozen for some 20,000 years is brought back to life by ol' Doc Deftur [Bela Lugosi]. He plans to invest the find with part—only part!—of a human brain, in order that the specimen may relate in the language of the present the experiences of the past. . . .

WHERE TO GET THAT BRAIN! The ol' doc's assistant [Mr. Carradine] deserts the master in horror. But doc is not to be foiled. And so to a horrific ending. . . .

Well acted. Neatly directed. Kinda dumb but kinda entertaining.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

[Hedda Hopper, in Chicago for the Republican national convention, is writing her column temporarily in this city.]

IF Clare Booth Luce thought she was going to steal the Republican convention she was wrong. She has a rival. The glow ball of the town, and I don't mean globaloney, is Bess Farley, wife of James A. Farley. What a first lady she'd be! The Dolly Madison of our day, if Jim could ever make the White House. . . . John Hamilton told about a dinner party given by the George Wharton Peppers [he's the senior of John's law firm], where Bess Farley was among those present. Guest across the table interrupted Bess's chitchat, saying, "Tell me, what is your real lowdown opinion of Franklin Roosevelt?" "Glad you specified lowdown," Bess answered as a tense silence settled over the board. "I'll tell you about Franklin. He's the only blot on Jim's otherwise unblemished record."

'Twas a Famous Victory.

I recommend Capt. Robert R. M. Emmet of the Great Lakes Naval Training center. A great guy, yes! When you read about what our boys are doing out in the Pacific, in the Mediterranean, crossing the channel to invade France, and giving it to the enemy wherever he shows his head, better realize that it's the training those boys got that sees 'em thru. . . . Capt. Emmet was telling me about the time Great Lakes played Notre Dame last year. In the final minute of play Notre Dame was ahead. Capt. Emmet went to the box of Father J. Hugh O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, and said, "Well, Father, we lost to a great team." At the moment a Great Lakes back field man was streaking to the winning touchdown. Father O'Donnell saw what was happening. Capt. Emmet's back was to the playing field. "Did you say lost?" said the excellent sportsman and clergyman. "Captain, we have lost—and to a group of superfine gentlemen." The captain could still blush relating the incident. "I blinked and didn't have a word to say," he recalled, "Father O'Donnell and I just shook hands and let it go at that."

Yes, We Do Get Around.

John L. Sullivan, from Boston [I didn't say South Boston, but maybe I should], is a distant cousin of the great John L. It was fun to look over the town with him, and Ben Smith and Bill Danforth, also from Boston. The boys are escorting me to the races at Washington Park this afternoon. . . . What is Chicago without being taken for a ride? Ask Cecil B. de Mille. His "The Story of Dr. Wassell" opened with a terrific fanfare the other day. C. B. was out at Great Lakes and overstayed his time. A phone call to Chief of Police James Allman brought a motorcycle escort in a hurry. Our Mr. de Mille, seated grandly in the rear of an open car, made it to the theater in time behind the blaring sirens of cops. "They took me for a ride," he said, loving it.

More About Great Lakes.

Capt. Emmet bosses the world's biggest swimming pool. It's so long that they swim the 100 yard free style across it instead of lengthways. . . . There's a story told about this immense place. Seems a lot of Great Lakes graduates were aboard a tanker bound from Pearl Harbor to Guadalcanal early in the war. A fish from a Jap destroyer hit her midships. She blew up. The water was full of our boys struggling for life. Happily a United States cruiser was nearby and sank the Jap in about three seconds. The story goes that the skipper of the American can yelled out: "This is no time to learn to swim!" Capt. Emmet tells that story to his boys at Great Lakes.

Yes, They Learn to Swim.

Tomorrow I'm going to tell you about a strong, silent guy. His name is John Hamilton. He's the great Republican catalyst, a grease monkey who gets things done, pulls everybody together. The reason why it's a great convention is because John is here silently behind the scenes making everybody get together. . . . Irene Selznick arrived with husband David, and promptly wanted to have a special air-conditioning put into her hotel suite. She said she wished she could take it to the convention floor. . . . And another one about Bess Farley: "What do you want most in the world?" a friend asked her. "I've bought me a little backless chair," she said. "The pleasure I'm looking forward to the mostest is to take that chair down to the Union station in Washington, D. C., and watch the Democrats, the New Dealers, and all the mob moving out. That'll be fun, but I mean fun. I shan't get up until they're all gone."

Women Favor Crisp Coolness of Shirtwaists

BY REA SEEGER.

Fastidious women who dislike the casual sleeveless or brief sleeved costumes for a day in town are jubilant over the revival of shirtwaist dresses. These popular duets are either the apparent two-piece variety, contrived with two colors or two materials and sometimes with a plain and print get-together of skirt and shirtwaist, or the frankly two pieces, of skirt and separate shirtwaist. Both are here to stay for the summer.

The two piece kinds are plentiful. Skirts by the dozens are featured in all colors, in plain and printed pattern fabrics, and in straight, gored, or pleated affairs. Some have belts attached and others have slits for exchange ideas in belts.

Shirtwaists are found all over town. Some are sleek tailored crepes, with long sleeves; others are fine smooth cottons, exquisitely detailed, also with long sleeves. And there are summer sheers, likewise made with long full sleeves gathered into narrow band cuffs. Pay your money and take your choice. Many are flattering and feminine with a soft bow of the sheer tied high at the neckline. And there is the classic convertible collar line, featured in summer sheers.

Gingham, cool cotton mesh, the handsome cotton and linen crash materials, men's shirting in pastel colors and white, the street shades of navy and copper brown, together with precise cool prints, plaid dots, and checks offer a wide collection from which to choose a couple of shirtwaist costumes.

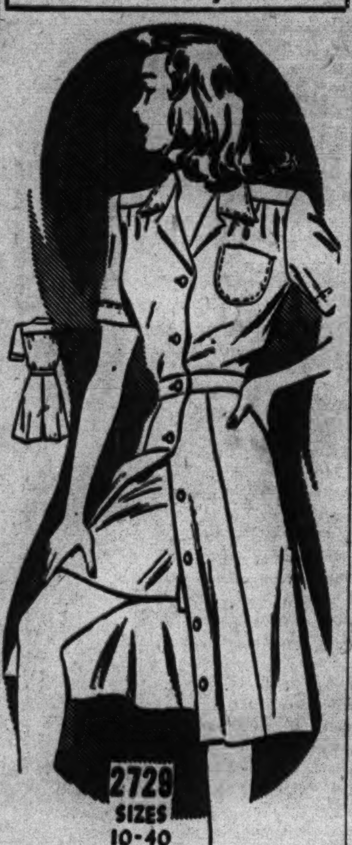
New Playsuit



This playsuit, with its button-on skirt, is the tailored, comfortable type which is universally approved by women who like outdoor sports. Style No. 2729 is designed for sizes 10 to 40. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 35 inch fabric for playsuit; 2⅛ yards for separate skirt.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring and summer fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents, 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

In today's deal North wanted to shoot his partner for not giving him a chance to "slaughter" an opposing contract. Actually, it was South who had the only cause for complaint.

West, dealer.

North-South vulnerable and 60 on score.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 spade	1 no trump	2 spades	3 clubs
3 hearts	Double	3 spades	4 clubs
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Needless to say, North was not nearly so fond of the three heart bid as he was of three spades, and when East "saved" his partner from the three heart double, North fairly drooled in his eagerness to get at the "rescue" contract. He was horrified when South intervened with four clubs, and infuriated when he heard East double that bid.

South made his contract with ease, losing only two trump tricks and one heart. North, however, was still highly aggrieved "at having been robbed of a six or seven trick penalty." He was not mollified until the session was over, when South laid out the four hands and proceeded to demonstrate that actually West would have gone down only three tricks, 500 points, against normal defense.

Regardless of the fate of a three spade contract, however, South was 100 per cent correct in shutting out the double with his bid of four clubs. His suit was much too long to be of value on defense, and North's bidding up to that point had virtually guaranteed the success of a four club contract that would mean game and rubber. North, instead of "folding up" in disgust, should have shown his confidence by redoubling the four club contract.

Home Is Ideal Training Place for the Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Many times in these articles, if you read them regularly, you've gone along with me when I've talked on one of my favorite subjects: That the home is your children's as well as yours; that they should have the freedom of it and be allowed to use it and enjoy it; that it can be a wonderful playground, and that you should provide materials for it to be also a shop where handcrafts and the arts can be practiced.

But there is one way in which I have never described it, and it took a great-grandmother to provide me with a new expression which covers the whole idea. She writes:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: Even tho I am a great-grandmother I still enjoy scanning your articles on child training. If parents would seek such help, and use it, our delinquency problems would be solved.

"Many times when I was younger I was embarrassed when a so-called immaculate housekeeper called on me. Because our home was a workshop, and looked it, there were chips and a sort of disorder. But our home was a training ground for lives; and with sturdy furnishings, our five children were trained to enjoy home.

"We worked, played, and attended Sunday school, and church together. When my problems grew too heavy I sought help and wisdom from our Heavenly Father.

"Now all are out in homes of their own, trying to model their homes after their childhood one, and my husband and I often discuss the fact that the biggest and most successful venture in our lives, rearing our God fearing children, is paying us our greatest dividends. Now, after 47 years of married life, our children still vie with each other to make and keep us happy."

Her home was a training ground for lives—for living, she says. What a perfect description of what we who are fathers and mothers should make of our homes—a training ground, not just of hands and mind, but of character and spirit.

Thru the Looking Glass

Between rainstorms we're having heat that can do all kinds of beauty damage. We already have seen a couple of crowning glories that could, even at this early stage of the summer, do with some intensive reconditioning. We all know that sun is destructive to skin beauty, but sometimes we forget that it can transform the softest, silkiest hair into straw. It's even harder on hair that is naturally dry, and that can't claim to be silky or even normally provided with natural oil.

Cover your head when you're out of doors for any length of time on a hot day. Wear a hat, or a scarf. Better yet, use an ointment on your dry scalp before you pop out into the sun. When you come in, give your locks some extra brushing. Your head covering, incidentally, should be loose, not binding.

For brief sallies out of doors, use some preparation like the protecting liquid one of the hair preparation houses has developed. It operates for your hair on exactly the same principle that sunburn preventives function for your skin, screening off the rays that burn rather than bless.

It's a light, fragrant lotion, just faintly oily, that should be applied with an atomizer or a piece of cotton. Use it sparingly. A few filmy sprays on the tops of your head, the front hair, and the hair ends will be enough to give you a perfect protective sheath. It will serve to some extent as a hair dressing too.

This represents a small investment in money and a similarly tiny one in time, but by protecting your hair all summer you'll save yourself the necessity of reconditioning treatments or the risk of unsuccessful permanents next fall.

Women in War Work

—By Dorothy Johnson—

Sara Frances Jones.

Several members of the Chicago unit of the Women's Overseas Service league will be in Cincinnati, O., tomorrow for a board meeting preceding the national league's two day convention, Friday and Saturday, in the Netherlands Plaza hotel. The conclave will include no social functions. The meeting is primarily for the purpose of voting on a resolution to revise the constitution of the organization to admit to membership the service women of this war.

The league, all of whose members served overseas in World War I. and who are actively engaged in war work today, is eager to extend its benefits to women in uniform in the present conflict, including workers of the Red Cross now in battle theaters.

Chicagoans at the sessions in Ohio will include Sara Frances Jones, national president; Mrs. Dwight L. Smith, national corresponding secretary; Bessie E. Hall, national treasurer; Celia M. Howard, parliamentarian of the convention; Mrs. Ellen Kelly, newly elected president of the Chicago unit, and Mrs. Charlotte Gordon, chairman of the unit's finance committee.

At a dinner Saturday in the hotel, Arthur H. Tandy, British consul, will address the membership on "Women in Britain and the War." A memorial service in Christ church Sunday will pay the league's respects to the 347 American women who died in the last war.

Jobs done by women in war time and those which they will retain when peace comes will be among the subjects discussed at a luncheon conference of women in industry and vocational instructors from public and parochial schools, to be held at 12:15 p. m. tomorrow in the La Salle hotel.

Women from more than 150 industries are expected to consult with school representatives at the session, which has been called by the women's executive committee of the Illinois office of public instruction, at the request of Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Anne V. Zinser, chairman of the committee, in anticipating the conference, said: "The post-war job problem of women will be one of the nation's most critical, and a foundation for the remedy of the situation must be laid now. The only solution lies in developing a definite working program between schools and industry."

Mr. Nickell will outline at the luncheon the problems of education in preparing students for employment. A consultation period, followed by a job analysis panel discussion, directed by E. J. Simon, Illinois director of vocational training for war production workers, will close the meeting.

More of the U. S. O. scrapbooks which members of the Chicago Service Men's Wives' club have been making at their meetings will be begun tonight when the wives gather at 7:30 o'clock at the Central Y. W. C. A., 59 E. Monroe st. Fifty of the books were completed at last month's session.

The organization's meetings and membership are open to all Chicagoland women who are wives of men in uniform, whatever the men's ratings or branches of service. Mrs. Lucille Mayer is president.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Chicago Woman's Club to Hear Military Talk

The Chicago Woman's club will hear a talk by Col. John Newton Gage, executive officer of the Chicago quartermaster depot, the largest in the world, at the closing meeting of its June series today. Col. Gage will talk at 11 a. m. in Curtiss hall, Fine Arts building, on "Uncle Sam Feeds His Boys and Girls." A war stamp and bond benefit card party will be held at 1:30 p. m. Mrs. Burnett Dewey Warner is chairman of June programs, and Mrs. Julius J. Bensabott is chairman of summer activities. Mrs. Henry Barrett Chamberlin will preside.

Sunday Outing Set.

B'nai B'rith Young Women of the Chicago area will gather at 10 a. m. Sunday, July 9, at Milwaukee woods for a picnic.

John W. Clements Jr. of Richmond, Ind., who served with Lt. Lord for 20 months in the navy, will be his best man. Lt. William M. Belding will usher, along with Lt. Lord's brother, Pvt. Donald Ogden Lord, who is the youngest of the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Swift Lord of Evanston. Before the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Tideman will give a brunch party in Kenilworth.

Miss Peggy Gratiot, whose engagement to Lt. [j. g.] Rawson Blaine Harmon Jr., was announced Monday, is to be married next Monday in the home of her fiancé's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon of Ojai, Cal., and so her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn A. Gratiot will leave tomorrow for the west coast. The 11 a. m. ceremony, which will be witnessed by a small family circle, will be followed by a breakfast. After the wedding Lt. Harmon and his bride will drive to his ranch in Patagonia, Ariz., to spend the remainder of his leave. They will be at home temporarily on the west coast.

Miss Gratiot has been in Ojai spending her fiancé's leave with him and his family. Lt. Harmon recently returned from a year and a half in the Pacific.

Today's Events.

The annual meeting of the Chicago branch of the English Speaking union at 3:30 p. m. today will be combined with a reception for new members and the opening of the union's new headquarters at 224 S. Michigan av.

A sale of garments made by members of the Park Ridge center of the Infant Welfare society will be held at the Park Ridge Country club today.

Because the Knollwood club's first ladies' day luncheon was such a success, a second will be held today. Mrs. Donald W. Easter and Mrs. Thomas B. Hunter are chairmen of the event.

Engagement News.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Hoyt of East Orange, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte, to Pvt. Herbert Gordon Schultz Jr. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Schultz of Wilmette. Miss Hoyt, a student at Ohio university, is a descendant of Samuel T. Kenworthy, who was the first settler in Andalusia, Rock Island county, Illinois. Pvt. Schultz attended the University of Illinois and was enrolled for a year in the army specialized training program at Ohio university. He now is stationed at Camp Crowder, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stembol of Battle Creek, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Elaine, to Pvt. William E. Conrath Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrath of N. Lotus av. Miss Stembol is a sophomore at the University of Michigan. Her fiancé attended De Paul university before entering the service and is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Company of Mary Sisters' Novitiate Will Be Dedicated

The dedication tomorrow of the novitiate of the Catholic nursing sisters of the Little Company of Mary, at San Pierre, Ind., is expected to attract Chicago friends of the order. Its sisters conduct the Little Company of Mary hospital at 95th st. and California av.

The Most Rev. J. F. Noll, bishop of Fort Wayne diocese, is scheduled to officiate at the ceremony. The new building is a 50 room Bedford stone structure on a 385 acre farm deeded to the sisters four years ago by an Indiana school teacher interested in promoting their work.

The sisters also conduct the Little Company of Mary hospital nurses' training school and now are having a campaign to raise money to supplement a government grant for the erection of a nurses' home adjoining the hospital.

Make Ice Cream Without Cream
Old Favorite—Easy in Wartime

VELVET ICE CREAM
(Serves 6; uses ¼ pkg.)
1 envelope Knox Gelatine
1 quart milk
1 cup sugar (scant)
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine egg yolks, sugar and salt and gradually stir in 3¾ cups milk. Cook in double boiler until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Soften gelatine in one-fourth cup cold milk. Add gelatine to hot custard and stir until dissolved. When cold, add flavoring and freeze in refrigerator tray to a mush. Remove mixture to chilled bowl, beat smooth and fold in egg whites which have been beaten until stiff. Return to tray and continue freezing. For banana ice cream add two bananas forced through a coarse sieve to cooled custard. For maple ice cream, substitute 1 cup of maple syrup for cup of sugar.

TRY USING pure, plain Knox and fresh fruit juices to make your own flavored gelatine desserts. See if you'll ever want to go back to imitation flavored gelatine dessert powders.

FREE—write to Mrs. Charles B. Knox, Box US11, Johnstown, New York, for a copy of her new 40-page recipe book, just off the press.

Puzzled Girl Is Advised to Write to Boy

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"At the school I used to attend there was a boy who liked me, but because, at the time, I didn't find him interesting, I refused several dates with him. When I left that school I realized I must have liked him because, out of all my friends, I missed him most! Shortly after that I met him on the street and he told me he was joining the navy. Then after a long while I received a letter from him telling me he was going to get a brief leave soon and he wanted me to go out with him.

"When he did come home I had a severe cold and when he called me for a date I had to refuse because it was raining and, all things considered, my mother wouldn't let me go out! Maybe he believed I didn't want to go out with him [I'd refused so often before] or maybe he didn't really want to go out with me, but I haven't heard from him since.

"I think he still likes me [or thinks about me] because a friend of mine knows his brother and she said that he knows all about me because his sailor brother talked about me often. In the meantime I go out with other boys but I always think of him, even when I'm with some one else. Do you think I should just forget him or do you think I should write to him—I know where I can get his present address?"

The boy is away from home and looking back on the gal he left behind him. This misunderstanding may leave him a rather glum young character. Why not write to him? Don't try to "explain" anything; presume that he believed your truthful excuse about having a cold and tell him you hope for better luck the next time he gets a leave. This particular hunk of man probably is a very good fellow and, carrying the small torch as long as he has, may have counted on his date with you to make this leave something worth remembering. You're his favorite honeychile—if he doesn't have one super-evening to look back on, give him something special to look forward to.

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Mrs. Leslie H., Chicago—To make lace doilies, tablecloths, etc., easier to get back to their size after laundering, I baste them on pieces of old sheeting. To remove any rust spot or stain, I dip a wad of cotton in lemon juice and apply.

Agnes K., Waterloo, Ia.—Here's how I treat my oil mop after washing to make it "dustless" again: I mix two parts paraffin oil with one part turpentine and soak the mop in this. Then I wring and hang it out to dry. If I find this mixture seems too oily I add a bit more turpentine. A little cedar oil adds a pleasant odor.

Kitty H., Elgin—If you are moving this summer or taking your teakettle on a short trip, slip a hollowed out cork into the spout or cover the spout with a short piece of rubber hose for protection.

CUBS, DODGERS CLASH TODAY FOR WAR FUND

SIX RACE TODAY IN ARLINGTON'S $10,000 SPRINT

Twilight Tear Cast in Favorite's Role.

Duel of Fillies

SIX of the nation's finest 3 year old fillies were named overnight to compete in Arlington Park's $10,000 added Princess Doreen stakes, at Washington Park today. The distance is six furlongs. The field in order of post position follows:

	Wgt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Twilight Tear	121	No boy	1-1
Another Night	107	S. Clark	15-1
Durazna	118	J. Bisley	8-5
Harriet Sue	114	N. James	3-1
Bell Song	110	A. Bodiou	15-1
Miss U. S. O.	110	No boy	15-1

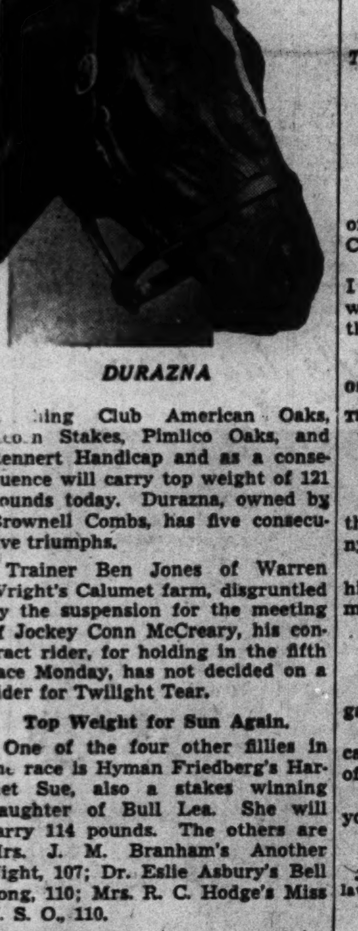
BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

While elaborate preparations are being made for the week of thorobred racing for charity July 3 to 7 under sponsorship of The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Arlington Park has a couple of its own big features to present this week.

Today's program has for its highlight the meeting of Twilight Tear and Durazna, America's two outstanding 3 year old fillies, in the $10,000 Princess Doreen stakes, a six furlong dash which will have a field of six. Then Saturday the 2 year old fillies go to the post in the $15,000 Lassie stakes.

Seven Straight Victories.

Twilight Tear, owned by the Calumet farm, has run up seven straight victories this year, including the



DURAZNA

Coaching Club American Oaks, Acorn Stakes, Pimlico Oaks, and Rennert Handicap and as a consequence will carry top weight of 121 pounds today. Durazna, owned by Brownell Combs, has five consecutive triumphs.

Trainer Ben Jones of Warren Wright's Calumet farm, disgruntled by the suspension for the meeting of Jockey Conn McCreary, his contract rider, for holding in the fifth race Monday, has not decided on a rider for Twilight Tear.

Top Weight for Sun Again.

One of the four other fillies in the race is Hyman Friedberg's Harriet Sue, also a stakes winning daughter of Bull Lea. She will carry 114 pounds. The others are Mrs. J. M. Branham's Another Night, 107; Dr. Eslie Asbury's Bell Song, 110; Mrs. R. C. Hodge's Miss U. S. O., 110.

Weights also were announced for THE TRIBUNE charity week feature on July 4, the $50,000 added Stars and Stripes handicap, and the Calumet farm's Sun Again, handicap champion last year, has been assigned top weight of 130 pounds. Pensive, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, is expected to join Sun Again as an entry and has been allotted 114 pounds.

$561.40 Daily Double.

Long shot bettors in the crowd of 12,000 yesterday took up where Monday's patrons left off. The winner of the first race, Mrs. J. L. Oglesby's Devil's Frolic, paid $16 and H. C. Drew's Miss Orphan returned $27.40 in the second. The daily double was worth $561.40.

The 7 year old Equifox, bay son of Equipoise, won the $3,000 War Admiral purse, the afternoon's feature, in which only five horses went postward. Equifox, owned by Howard Wells and ridden by Bodiou, beat Mrs. Robert McGarvey's Night Shadow by a neck. Miss Ethel Hill's

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN she heard that her husband, Lt. G. Connor [Ox] Emerson, onetime all-National league guard at Detroit, had been rescued from the torpedoed escort carrier, Block Island, Mrs. Emerson had two thoughts which almost collided. . . . First one, of course, was joy over his safety. . . . Then she started worrying about whether he had lost the material for his master's thesis in history which he had been gathering for two years, right in the middle of history, as it were. . . . Two 16 year olds are among the group engaging in summer football practice at Illinois. . . . Best known is John Orr, 6 foot 2½ inch basketball star of Taylorville's 1944 state high school champions. . . . The other one is Art Demeter of Whiting, Ind., who was his class valedictorian. . . . He's 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. . . . Ken Overlin, the former middleweight boxer, now in the navy, seconds Silent Escobar, a deaf boxer, who "hears" the bell thru vibrations on the ring floor. . . . Vince Haynes of Fresno, Cal., owner of a chain of bowling alleys on the west coast, was water boy for Amos Alonzo Stagg's 1899 University of Chicago football team. . . . There wasn't a single squawk from faculty representatives when Pacific Coast conference coaches voted to permit passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage. . . . Kiki Cuyler, the old Cub favorite, has his Atlanta Crackers in the thick of the Southern association pennant race. . . . Charles W. Whitten, former executive secretary of the Illinois High School association, who has remained active for several years in an advisory capacity, will retire Friday from active service. . . . Lt. [j. g.] Bill Osmanski, Chicago Bears full back, left yesterday for the marine base at Camp Lejeune, N. C. . . . He is awaiting overseas assignment.

Lt. [j. g.] Steve Sinko, former Duquesne star and coach, later a tackle for the Washington Redskins, is director of the 28-acre victory garden at the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight school. . . . Don Lesher, V-5 trainee who may be Notre Dame's No. 1 full back next fall, is a bona fide Don Juan, his middle name being Juan. . . . Bob Seeds, former White Sox outfielder, is earning his salary as player-manager at Little Rock. . . . The other night he started the game at shortstop, was the winning pitcher in a relief role, and finished the game in right field. . . . Forbes field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will be 35 years old Friday. . . . White Sox fans might like to know that Nick Etten, the Chicago boy playing first base for the Yankees, has made a mild bet with a teammate that Jimmy Dykes' team will finish higher than the Detroit Tigers.

Chicago Subway.

Like darkness fleeing from the glare of day,
We dive into the earth with graceful swoop
And safely reel along thru halls of clay
Below the man-made mountains called the Loop.
A river runs across our shoulder
blades,
We juggle tall skyscrapers in our arms,
Our prattle echoes down the
promenades
Of mud. Unmoved and mindless of the charms
Which would enthrall our very souls with awe
If we but stopped to think what man has done,
Perfecting mighty works with scarce
a flaw.
We calmly sit in cushioned cars and run
Thru avenues of conquered stone and silt
That show what modern engineers have built.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Golf in Chicago, a commodity which has flourished in these parts since long before Pearl Harbor, today continues its fruition with the second Chicago Victory National Open tournament's opening phase at the Edgewater Golf club, 2045 Pratt blvd.

A novel introduction to team play on a national championship basis will get under way at 10 o'clock this morning with the first 18 holes of mixed foursome play, which will continue thru tomorrow's second round. Forty-one foursomes have been assigned starting times, with a professional playing with three partners—a woman, an amateur, and a senior [golfer over 50 years of age]. The pros thus will have opportunity to capture, within their own quartets, three combined national titles.

Great Gathering of Talent.

The Chicago District Golf association and its co-sponsors in this second venture for the hospitalized veterans of World War II. have assembled the finest gathering of championship talent that this golf-crowded town will see this season.

The team championship tournament of today and tomorrow would seem to be a nice party in itself, but Friday, Saturday, and Sunday will bring the cream of the country's professionals and amateurs into the 72 hole medal play which will constitute the Open tournament proper.

Yesterday a goodly majority of the contenders for the team championships traveled out to Hines hospital where officials of the C. D. G. A., the P. G. A., and the Midwest Greenkeepers' association dedicated the putting green which was built from the proceeds of last year's Victory National tournament.

Vets Hold Putting Contest.

They were among the folks who regaled the veterans now convalescent at Hines with a shot making exhibition. The vets themselves joined in with a putting contest in which the winner of first prize—a $50 war bond—was Richard D. Squomer, Lincoln, Neb. He was followed by Ferdinand A. Swerkowski of Chicago's south side, and Walter V. Malinowski of Hammond, Ind.

The starting times and pairings, with the professional listed first,

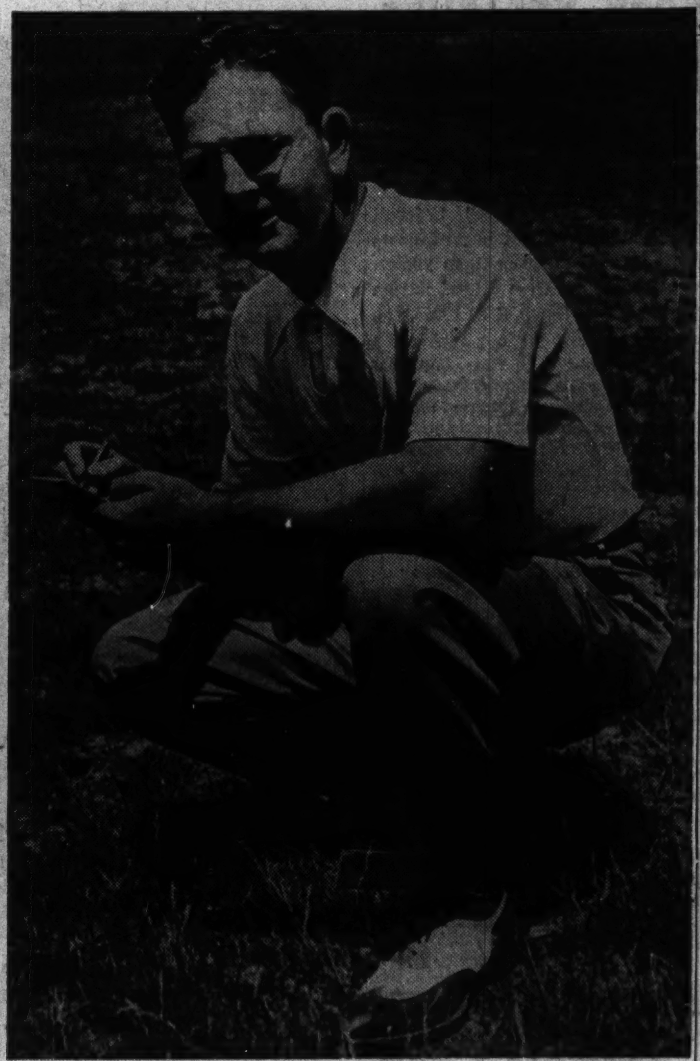
HERE'S WHERE PAR TAKES A BEATING

Craig Wood, duration National Open golf champion, is among the luminaries who will begin play at the Edgewater Golf club today in the first of Chicago's Victory National golf tournaments—a novel mixed foursome event.



Sam Byrd, former New York Yankee outfielder who is golf's leading money winner of 1944, is to tee off at 10:56 a. m. in a foursome in which he will be the professional; Bob Cochran, his amateur partner; Harriet Ogletree, his woman partner, and Capt. Robert R. M. Emmet, his senior partner. The tournament will be concluded with the playing of a second 18 holes at Edgewater tomorrow.

Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias, who last Saturday won the women's Western Open championship, will play in a foursome which will include her husband, George, former heavyweight wrestler. [Acme Photos.]

SEGURA ENTERS QUARTER-FINALS IN TENNIS MEET

The South and West took over the spotlight in the N. C. A. A. tennis tournament at Northwestern university yesterday as players from these sections won seven out of eight third round singles matches. The lone midwestern survivor to reach the quarter-finals was Charley Samson of Notre Dame who advanced by defeating Bob Lewis of Utah, 6-4, 6-2.

Francisco [Pancho] Segura of the University of Miami continued his methodical march toward his second consecutive title as he swept aside Dale Lewis of Utah State in one of the shortest matches of the tournament, 6-1, 6-0. Try as he might, Lewis was unable to cope with the sizzling drives and tricky lobs of the South American star.

Notre Dame Star Loses.

Pancho's quarter-final opponent today will be Stanley Clark of California Tech who scored a mild upset yesterday by eliminating Jerry Evert, Notre Dame freshman, 6-1, 7-5. After losing the first set, Evert rallied to take a 3-0 lead in the second, but Clark tied the score at 3 all and went on to win, 7-5.

Georgia Tech's two man team of Joe Willett and Howard McCall loomed as a surprise contender for the team championship as both won their matches handily. Willett, seeded No. 6, disposed of Victor Soukup of Western Michigan, 6-3, 6-0, while McCall was beating Bob Stuckert of Lawrence, 6-1, 6-3.

Southerners Threaten.

Willett's opponent today will be John Hickman of Texas, who yesterday put out the Navy's last survivor, Bob Davis, 6-2, 6-4. Harry Likas of Gonzaga, seeded third, won from Alden Johnson of Michigan, 6-0, 6-3, and today will meet another west coast player, Nick Buzolich of Pepperdine college, Los Angeles, who defeated Jimmy Griffin of Notre Dame, 6-0, 6-1.

The first round of the doubles competition reduced the original field of entrants to eight. The No. 1 seeded team of John Hickman and Felix Kelley of Texas defeated Alden Johnson and Roy Boucher of Michigan, 6-0, 6-2.

Three Big Ten Golfers Gain Semi-Finals

Toledo, O., June 27 (AP).—Louis Lick, 20 year old University of Minnesota medical student from St. Paul, turned in the first big upset of the National Intercollegiate golf tournament today when he uncorked a subpar round to drub James Jackson, medalist from Washington university of St. Louis, 6 and 5, and gain a place in the semi-finals.

Joining Lick in the semi-finals were Johnny Jenswold of Michigan, the Big Ten champion; Henry Rampelt, Baldwin-Wallace college's dark horse entrant, and slender Tom Messinger of Michigan.

Rampelt, who kept the semi-finals from being an all-Big Ten affair, matched booming tee shots with Phil Marcellus of Michigan and outsteadied the husky Wolverine to win, 6 and 5.

The defeat of Tom Hanlon and Jack Fitzpatrick in the second round left Notre Dame, winner of the team title, without a representative in the quarter-finals.

The semi-finals tomorrow forenoon will find Lick pitted against Messinger and Jenswold clashing with Rampelt. Today's results:

SECOND ROUND.

James Jackson, Washington university of St. Louis, beat Jack Fitzpatrick, Notre Dame, 2 to 1.
Louis Lick, Minnesota, beat Tom Hanlon, Notre Dame, 8 and 7.
Robert Love, Ohio State, beat Robert Bowen, Michigan State, 1 up.
John Jenswold, Michigan, beat Paul O'Hara, Michigan, 5 and 3.
Henry Rampelt, Baldwin-Wallace, beat Arnold Page, Cornell, 3 and 2.
Phil Marcellus, Michigan, beat Robert Seyler, North Carolina, 2 and 1.
James Harris, Minnesota, beat Kenneth Morey, Michigan, 5 and 3.
Tom Messinger, Michigan, beat Robert Bronson, Minnesota, 3 and 2.

QUARTER-FINAL ROUND.

John Jenswold, Michigan, beat James Harris, Minnesota, 8 and 6.
Henry Rampelt, Baldwin-Wallace, beat Phil Marcellus, Michigan, 6 and 5.
Louis Lick, Minnesota, beat James Jackson, Washington university of St. Louis, 6 and 5.
Tom Messinger, Michigan, beat Robert Love, Ohio State, 5 and 4.

BOSTON MOVES BACK CLOCK ON OUR WHITE SOX

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 27.—It's not enough that the fourth place Boston Red Sox have torn the ears off our second place White Sox in seven games out of seven played this season. They now are giving the Chicagoans' traffic department the razzle dazzle, or runaround.

When the White Sox arrived here for a three game series with Joe Cronin's boys they learned they are to play a twilight game beginning at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. This was dandy. But this afternoon it was different. General Manager Edward [Cocky] Collins of the Red Sox advised Frank McMahon, the Chicago rookie traveling secretary, that the Friday getaway game also will be played in the twilight.

Mr. Collins Is Sarcastic.

Booking railroad transportation and hotel accommodations these days is no cinch, even for a veteran traveling sec., as everybody knows. The Collins ukase meant that McMahon had to cancel his arrangements to get to New York and for the hotel admittance in Gotham Friday night.

Owner Tom Yawkey then reminded McMahon, so the latter says, that the Red Sox had to play a night game [regularly scheduled last winter] in Chicago on May 29, then had to worry about getting to Cleveland for a Memorial day double header the following afternoon.

Grove to Pitch Today.

As to baseball playing itself, Orval Grove has been assigned to see what he can do tomorrow afternoon to keep the Red Sox from making it 8 out of 8. Cronin has said he will employ George Woods or Tex Hughson. It probably will be Joe Bowman.

In today's exhibition game against the Quonset navy team at Davisville, R. I., the White Sox won, 10 to 2. Jake Wade, Sox lefty, held the sailors to seven hits. The Sox made 15, including two triples and a double by Grey Clarke.

HOAG GOES TO INDIANS.

The Cleveland Indians have claimed Myril Hoag, veteran outfielder, at the $7,500 waiver price, Harry Grabiner, vice president of the White Sox, reported yesterday. Hoag, one time Yankee, was out of baseball last year while serving with the army. He is 35.

BOB CHIPMAN, WYSE PITCH IN DOUBLE HEADER

Chicagoans Lose to Great Lakes, 3-2.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who have shown some encouraging signs of late, will put on their annual war fund day attraction this afternoon in Wrigley field. Helping the Cubs put on the show will be the Brooklyn Dodgers and the double header, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, is expected to attract between 25,000 and 30,000.

All profits will be turned over to the American Red Cross and the National War fund. Last year the same teams met on a similar occasion in Wrigley field. Every one will pay admission to the park, including the players, club officials, baseball writers, and umpires.

Stanky in Dodger Uniform.

Henry Wyse will pitch one of the games for the Cubs and the other assignment will be handled by Bob Chipman, recently acquired from the Dodgers for Eddie Stanky. Eddie is playing second base for Brooklyn. The Dodgers' starters will be Whit Wyatt and Ed Head.

With the exception of the pitchers, Manager Charley Grimm will use the same lineup today which operated yesterday at Great Lakes and lost to the Bluejackets, 3 to 2. The Cubs again experienced late inning trouble, the Sailors going into the ninth, trailing 2 to 0, then putting over three runs against the pitching of Paul Erickson, with an error by Stan Hack contributing. It was the 21st victory for the undefeated Sailors.

Hack Takes Over Third.

Hack will start at his old third base post and Roy Hughes will move to shortstop, the position at which Len Merullo, Bill Schuster, and Tony York have done turns at various times since the unhappy season started.

At Great Lakes yesterday the Cubs were sitting comfortably up to the moment of the debacle because of some constant, altho none too productive, pecking at the speed balling of Virgil Trucks of the Tigers. The National leaguers clipped him for nine hits in the eight innings he was on duty, but only two of this total served for run getting purposes. One was a homer by Bill Nicholson in the sixth, the other a triple in the eighth by Phil Cavarretta, who then scored on a fly ball from Nicholson's bat.

May Starts Winning Rally.

The ninth got under way with a single by Merrill May of the Phillies, but he was forced by the well known Billy Herman. Johnny McCarthy of the Braves drove a double down the first base line, Herman stopping at third. Gene Woodling of the Cleveland Indians tapped to Roy Hughes, who ignored Herman's trip to the plate but threw to Hack to stop McCarthy at third. McCarthy turned back toward second and Hack messed up the play by plunking the runner in the back with the throw. Dick West of the Reds was purposely passed and Bill Baker of the Pirates singled thru short, sending in the tying and winning runs.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL TALENT BATTLE GOES TO COURT

The National Girls' Softball league, a professional organization, instituted court proceedings yesterday charging the Metropolitan Girls' Major Softball league, an amateur group, with pirating its players. This is the National league's first year of operation.

The professional league filed a bill in Superior court asking that the amateur league be enjoined from "inducing the various ball players to break their contracts and refuse to play with their league teams and play with the club selected by the Metropolitan league." In count two of the bill, Elmer A. Parichy, owner of the Parichy Bloomer Girls of the National league, asks damages of $25,000 against Rudolph Sanders and Edward Bumgardner of the Redbirds' softball team and Pitcher Laura Bishop.

Pitcher Bishop, according to charges by the National league and Parichy, broke her contract with the Bloomer Girls to play with the Redbirds.

In its lengthy complaint, filed by Atty. Payton T. Tuohy, the plaintiffs said the Redbirds' personnel came from players obtained from various clubs in the National league.

WOMEN BOWLERS TO BUY $80,000 AIR AMBULANCE

The Chicago Women's Bowling association at a meeting in the Catholic Youth organization center building last night completed plans to purchase an $80,000 ambulance plane. At the session, at which Betty Ramsey, secretary of the C. W. B. A. and general chairman of the campaign, presided, the proposal was explained to chairladies and members of three sectional committees—the red team, representing the south side; white team, representing the west side, and the blue team, representing the north side.

Each of the 27,000 Chicago woman bowlers will be asked to contribute $3 [30 dimes] to pay for the plane. The meeting opened the drive which will be carried on in alleys thruout the city during the summer and fall.

War Night was third, six lengths back.

Even Stitch Pays $16.

Miss Nancy Green, daughter of Gov. Green, decorated the Woolford farm's Even Stitch, winner of the Home in Indiana purse, with a wreath of flowers. The race, fifth on the card, was for $2,000 at six furlongs.

After H. L. King's Gold Tint, the even money favorite, had taken the third race at $4.20, another outsider went over in the fourth. S. D. Sidell's Sicot, a nonwinner in eight starts, paid $32.80 after beating 11 other 2 year old maiden fillies in a five and one-half furlong sprint.

The mutuel handle for yesterday's card totaled $748,723.

CUSTOMROLD
TOM PALMER

All fine things are made by hand

THE PRIDE OF CRAFTSMANSHIP

Each time you hear a Stradivarius played, and thrill to its rich, mellow tones, your appreciation of its superb hand-craftsmanship deepens. In cigars, too, the critical smoker enjoys a comparable thrill each time he lights a Customrold TOM PALMER and savors its matchless flavor. For here is a cigar fashioned entirely by hand by expert Cuban craftsmen. Each TOM PALMER is rolled slowly, carefully, from choice Vuelta Abajo Cuban tobaccos...All Clear Havana from end to end. If you are a smoker who has outgrown the ordinary cigar you'll want to try the Customrold TOM PALMER.

2 NEW EXHIBITS DRAW CROWDS AT TRIBUNE'S SHOW

Display Big Gun and Nazi Personnel Carrier.

EDISON ELECTRIC DAY.

Today is Edison General Electric day at the War Products show. It is dedicated to the employes of the Edison General Electric Appliance company for their war production. The Navy Pier band will give a concert from 7 to 7:30 p. m., with a W-G-N broadcast from 7:15 to 7:30.

Visitors to the war products exhibit at the Tribune Tower yesterday crowded about two new arrivals augmenting the scores of weapons and supply items on display. The new exhibits are the army's mighty "stratosphere" gun, which can hurl a shell more than 11 miles into the air, and a captured German personnel carrier.

The exhibit is sponsored by the United States treasury department in coöperation with THE TRIBUNE and armament manufacturers. Open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m., the exhibit will continue thru July 9.

Can Be Used on Ground.

The "stratosphere" gun, largest mobile weapon of its kind, is known officially as the 120 mm. or 4.7 inch anti-aircraft gun, altho it can be lowered for use against ground targets. Its range is higher than the present ceiling of airplanes. The gun is being produced in quantity by the Fisher Body division of General Motors corporation.

The heavy German vehicle was captured in the North African campaign. It is a half track carrier for transporting troops.

Sales of Bonds Increase.

Sales of war bonds and stamps at the show are increasing sharply. By purchasing a 50 cent stamp, visitors may try their skill on the realistic army machine gun trainer. For a $1 stamp purchase, the buyer may operate the 90 mm. anti-aircraft gun or the multiple machine gun unit.

HOLD THREE MEN IN GIRL'S DEATH; DELAY INQUEST

Pending results of chemical and microscopic tests on the body of Mrs. Eleanor Bowden, 20, a divorcee, who was found dead Monday in a room at 934 N. La Salle st., an inquest into her death was continued yesterday until July 18.

Chicago avenue police continued to hold three men for questioning in connection with the death. They are Seymour Leviton, 21, of 1035 N. Dearborn st., who testified at the inquest that he had spent Sunday and Sunday night with Mrs. Bowden in the room; Arnold Morrison, 21, of 1212 N. Hoyne av., who went to the room early Monday with Leviton, and Joseph Mohoungo, 24, of 1546 N. Wells st., who also accompanied Leviton to the room Monday.

Thomas Gardner, landlord at the rooming house, testified he heard Leviton and Mohounge discuss giving dope to a woman after they entered the house. Gardner found the body at noon Monday.

Mrs. Margaret Broderick, 119 Locust st., Mrs. Bowden's mother, said her daughter was a Morrison hotel elevator operator until two months ago, and has a son, 4, who lives with his father.

WIFE TRAPPED WITH SOLDIER LOSES ALIMONY

Mrs. Gloria Hilmer, 27, who said she lived in the Morrison hotel, was denied temporary alimony yesterday by Judge Robert J. Dunne in Circuit court after he heard a private detective testify that he had found Mrs. Hilmer in scanty attire in a loop hotel room with a soldier June 2.

Mrs. Gloria Hilmer.

Her husband, Martin C. Hilmer, 32, a former Chicago furniture dealer who joined the Seabees, charged her with misconduct in a suit for divorce, and she had filed a cross-bill charging cruelty. They were married Sept. 19, 1942. He is in the Aleutian Islands.

Mrs. Hilmer testified that her husband had had an income of $40,000 a year. Julius Dressner, the detective, then told of the raid.

The FARM by Ben Markland

June 27, 1944.

If any one has an extra pair of straitjackets that will fit two chicken hens they can make a quick sale by delivering them to the Wheaton farm. The two hens are mothering a family of ducks and a brood of pheasant chicks near the farm pools and soon will be ready for straightjackets or padded cells if their charges don't settle down and behave themselves.

The hen which has charge of the six ducklings probably will be the first to need psychopathic attention. While she was nesting, farm hands took her own eggs from her and slipped duck eggs into her nest. These eggs were duly hatched. Her family includes six mallards and a muscovy, and unlike her previous broods they have a mania for swimming.

Fusses as They Swim.

As soon as the hen and her foster family were transferred from the barn yard to a site beside the pools, the ducklings immediately went for a swim—while the hen went apoplectic.

This family has been stationed beside the pools for more than a week, and the ducklings take several swims a day. Every time they start for the water they get a severe lecture from their mama, and while they're swimming she paces back and forth at the edge of the water and tells them, in chicken language, to come back to shore before they drown. The call of their heritage seems to be stronger than the clucking of the hen, however, because they go right on bathing while she fusses and rants.

Pheasants Independent.

The second hen has charge of a brood of 11 pheasant chicks, which excite her by the way they run, fly, dodge, and hide. Instead of following her about, as did her previous families, they assert their independence by going where they please. When we watched them the other day they were on one side of a fence feeding on a special grain mash, while she vainly called them from the other side.

The problems of the two chicken hens are insignificant compared to the weed problems of the farm workers. In normal years the alfalfa fields are comparatively free of weeds, because this deep rooted crop can smother most types of weeds. This year, however, the spring rains have fallen so regularly that the weeds are menacing the hay crop. In one field, just north of the farm barn yard, the weeds are so numerous that the men are considering cutting the field for bedding straw rather than for feed.

★ The GARDEN ★

CABBAGES are versatile, in that most varieties can be planted either from seed or sets from early spring until midsummer. At this time of the year gardeners are transplanting young sets from rows which were planted to seed early in the season, and many greenhouses have sets for autumn harvest. Most varieties of cabbage require 60 to 70 days to mature after transplanting, and will survive early frosts in the fall. Exceptions to this maturity period are Wisconsin All Seasons, a large cabbage favored for kraut, which required 85 days to mature, and Succession, Flat Dutch, and Savoy, all of which take 83 to 90 days to mature.

Cauliflower and broccoli are planted as sets in late April or May, and a succession crop of these vegetables can be had by planting seed in the open row around July 15. The gardener of the sample plots had exceptionally good cauliflower last fall from seed started in the garden on that date.

ON SHORT WAVES

LONDON.

BBC news reports are currently broadcast from London on the following schedule: The frequencies [wave lengths] are given in megacycles: 5 and 6 a. m.—11.68 megs.; 8, 10 and 11 a. m.—15.31; 4 p. m.—11.68; 4:45 p. m.—11.93 and 9.58; 4:59 p. m.—11.68; 5:45 p. m.—11.93, 9.58, and 11.68; 8 p. m.—9.58, 6.11, and 7.26; 9 p. m.—9.69 and 6.01; 9:45 p. m.—9.58, 6.11, 7.26, and 9.51; 11:30 p. m.—9.58, 6.11, and 7.26.

SYNTHETIC HELD KEY IN POST-WAR RUBBER PRICES

St. Louis, Mo., June 27 (AP).—Synthetic rubber will be the controling factor in the post-war world market of natural rubber and the two will be within a cent or two a pound of each other, Col. Dewey, national rubber director for the WPB, said today.

Here to address the chamber of commerce and to speak at ceremonies dedicating a new research laboratory of the Midwest Rubber Reclaiming company at East St. Louis, Ill., Col. Dewey said he considered the synthetic tire a good one and expressed belief that all post-war inner tubes will be made of synthetics.

The planned facilities for synthetic rubber will be completed soon when two more plants go into production, Col. Dewey said. This does not mean, however, that more tires will be released for civilian motorists, he said. There is a "tremendous backlog of demand for tires," he asserted.

ACTIVE BUYING PUSHES WHEAT PRICES HIGHER

Active buying of wheat futures attributed to mills, along with short covering, pushed prices 1⅜ to 2 cents a bushel higher yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. No selling pressure of consequence appeared and the close was near the top. Minneapolis wheat gained 2⅜ to 2⅝ cents. A large part of the flour business was with interests who were covering requirements in advance of announcement of the government July wheat subsidy rate.

Other grains were affected by the action of wheat. Oats closed unchanged to ⅞ cent higher, rye was up ⅝ to ¾ cent, and barley ⅛ to ½ cent.

PENICK & FORD.

Any information you can give me on Penick & Ford, Ltd., will be appreciated. F. W.

Answer: The company is one of the principal producers of corn derivatives, including starches, sugars, sirups, and by-product animal feeds, and also produces corn and maple blended sirups, molasses, and dessert powders. Trade names include "My-T-Fine," "Vermont Maid," and "Penick."

Since the cost of corn is the most important expense item, profits of the company are narrowed during periods of rising corn prices. In 1943, despite a further gain in net sales, earnings declined to $1,251,485, equal to $3.39 a share, from $1,608,087, or $4.36 a share, for 1942. The company operated profitably thruout the depression, and per share net earnings for recent years were: 1941, $4.33; 1940, $2.91; 1939, $3.95; 1938, $3.09; 1937, 74 cents; 1936, $3.52.

Penick & Ford has no funded debt or preferred stock, the capitalization consisting solely of 369,000 no par shares. Dividends have been paid each year since 1929. The regular dividend rate from 1938 thru 1943 was $3 a share, with extras of $1 a share in 1939 and 1941.

Current assets of $9,033,623 as of Dec. 31, 1943, included $1,555,133 cash and $2,865,000 of United States government securities. Current liabilities totaled $2,724,089.

PRICES OF HOGS EXTEND RISE AS RECEIPTS SLUMP

Hog prices rose further at the Chicago stock yards yesterday as volume continued to fall. The 20 largest packing centers in the first two days of this week received 271,000 hogs, 51,000 or 15 per cent less than the corresponding days last year. Members of the trade expect 1944 volume to continue below 1943.

Most government weights, good 180 to 270 pounders, sold steady at the $13.75 a hundred pounds floor price, but other hogs were steady to 10 cents higher. The average rose 5 cents, to $12.80, the highest in three weeks.

Cattle rallied from the slump of the last few days when receipts dipped sharply. Arrivals of 5,000 were the smallest for a Tuesday this year.

Lambs sold steady to 25 cents lower. The $15.25 top was paid for new crop natives.

BRITAIN GUARDS OWN INTERESTS IN MONEY PLAN

Keynes' Talk Tells Stand at Parley.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Speaking for the British government, John Maynard Keynes has made plain that Britain will not commit itself at the forthcoming monetary conference to any plan that will interfere with the management of its domestic economy.

In an address in the house of lords May 23, Keynes said: "We are determined that, in the future the external value of sterling shall conform to its internal value as set by our own domestic policies, and not the other way around. We intend to retain control of our domestic rate of interest, so that we can keep it as low as suits our own purposes, without interference from the ebb and flow of international capital movements or the flights of 'hot' money."

Fund's Advantages Told.

Other passages from the Keynes address emphasize the decided advantages that will accrue to Britain from the international monetary fund. So pointed are some of these remarks that they are said to have caused embarrassment to the American delegation to the international conference. The parley convenes next Saturday at Bretton Woods, N. H., with Keynes at the head of the British delegation and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau heading the American representatives.

Keynes stressed the obligation that will be imposed on creditor nations to make available their currency to other participating countries.

"A proper share of responsibility for maintaining equilibrium in the balance of international payments is squarely placed on the creditor countries," he told the house of lords.

Termed Big Improvement.

"This is one of the major improvements in the new plan. The Americans, who are the most likely to be affected by this, have, of their own free will and honest purpose, offered us a far reaching formula of protection against a recurrence of the main cause of deflation during the inter-war years, namely the draining of reserves out of the rest of the world to pay a country which was obstinately borrowing and exporting on a scale immensely greater than it was lending and importing."

Keynes went on to explain that under clause 6 of the proposed plan if the supply of American dollars in the funds becomes scarce the United States will be under obligation to make available more dollars or to curtail its exports.

Says Offer Is Genuine.

"For it will no longer be entitled to squeeze gold out of the rest of us," he said. "Here we have a voluntary undertaking, genuinely offered in the spirit both of a good neighbor and, I should add, of enlightened self-interest, not to allow a repetition of a chain of events which between the wars did more than any single factor to destroy the world's economic balance and to prepare a seed bed for foul growths. This is a tremendous extension of international coöperation to good ends. I pray your lordships to pay heed to its importance."

At another point Keynes took care to explain that the plan will not force Britain to eliminate exchange controls and bilateral arrangements with other countries in the early years of its operation.

Means to Keep Tradition.

"So far from an international plan endangering the long tradition, by which most empire countries, and many other countries, too, have centered their financial systems in London, the plan is, in my judgment, an indispensable means of maintaining this tradition. With our own resources so greatly impaired and encumbered, it is only if sterling is firmly placed in an international setting that the necessary confidence in it can be sustained."

The American government has made no comparable statement of the advantages which will accure to the United States from the plan. The nearest approach was the announcement of the technical details of the plan made last April 21 by Secretary Morgenthau in which in general language he stated the plan's major objectives.

Hear Only Technical Side.

From government sources Americans have heard only discussion and explanation of the technical side of the plan, little about its effect on long term American interests. Outside of the government the plan has been severely criticized. Among the critics are some of those most ardently committed to international economic collaboration, including the big New York bankers.

Only one representative of the business and financial community has been chosen to serve on the American delegation to the conference. He is Edward E. Brown, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who has made no public statement of his views. Conspicuously missing from the list of American representatives are the bankers and monetary experts who have discussed the plan critically since it was first outlined more than a year ago.

How New Deal Aid Obtained Ship Yard Told

New York, June 27 [Special].—Witnesses testifying today before a subcommittee of the house merchant marine and fisheries committe added further details to the story told Monday of the United States maritime commission's allocation of an established Bayonne shipyard, the Marine Maintenance corporation, to a newly formed company headed by a former official of the commission.

Clarence Y. Palitz, a financial broker and president of the American Rediscount corporation, told how he loaned the company $200,000 and purchased first $50,000 and then an additional $50,000 of debentures to become a director and chairman of the finance committee of the East Coast Shipbuilding company, the new corporation.

President Invested $1,900.

The only money invested by John Otterson, who resigned from the maritime commission to become president of the East Coast company, was $1,900 for the purchase of common stock. The shipyard employs 5,000 and has a weekly pay roll of $300,000. It is valued at more than 2 million dollars.

Testimony disclosed that R. Earl Anderson, finance director of the maritime commission, had established two conditions for the operator: First, that the company must be an established shipbuilding company and, second, that the company must have finances of at least $250,000. Despite the first condition, it was brought out, the maritime commission two weeks later gave the operation of the yard, which it had seized on Jan. 27, 1943, to the East Coast company.

Palitz testified Otterson told him in February, 1942, that he was ready to raise enough money to finance the East Coast and asked him to become a director.

Offers Share of Stock.

"I'll give you a share of stock so you can qualify," the witness quoted Otterson as having said. Otterson said he expected to obtain $200,000 from an insurance company in Boston and an added credit from a bank, Palitz said. Later Otterson told him the deal had fallen thru, Palitz said, and he again came to him "as a last resort."

Palitz said he then purchased debentures and advanced $200,000 in credits to be drawn on by the company. He not only became a director, he said, but on Feb. 19, 1943, he signed three contracts with the company, one of which made him the chairman of the finance committee at a salary of $15,000 a year. He was also to get 2 per cent of everything above $250,000 a year in profits, but before income taxes or excess profit taxes were paid, while Otterson was to receive 10 per cent of all profits over $250,000.

Otterson's salary as president, Palitz testified, was to be $25,000 a year, but the maritime commission was to accept liability only to the extent of $15,000.

Atlas Drop Forge Owners Reject Bid for Purchase

Lansing, Mich., June 27 (AP).—An offer of the Spicer Manufacturing Co. of Toledo to purchase assets, including real estate, buildings and inventories of the Atlas Drop Forge Co. of Lansing was rejected by stockholders at a special meeting.

CHICAGO COMPANIES URGED TO KEEP BOND PURCHASES IN COUNTY

Corporations with headquarters in Chicago or Cook county should make a larger proportion of their bond purchases in this area, Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the fifth war loan drive in city and county urged yesterday.

Clarke made his appeal in telegrams to 400 corporations after it was learned that many companies are making smaller purchases in Cook county than was the case in earlier drives. These purchases have been substantially lower than expectancy tables based on estimated commercial deposits in commercial banks, he said, and added that many corporations are giving in to pressure from other cities to allot to them much larger purchases than are warranted.

"Regardless of where the physical properties of any concern may be located, regardless of the number of employes that may be located in branches, if the principal office of the concern is located in Chicago and its bank deposits are principally carried here, the national system of quotas pre-supposes that such a concern will make a very large part of its corporate subscription in Chicago," Clarke said.

Filling of the corporation quota of nearly 617 million dollars, higher than in any previous drive, depends on adherence to treasury prescribed regulations, he said.

BY ROY GIBBONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 27.—A fleet of five new type cargo boats being operated by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE over the New York state barge canal is halving the time ordinarily required to speed war critical bauxite ore on that inland waterway to Canadian war plants, it became known today.

Because of the shallow draft of the vessels, their enormous cargo capacity, detachable power units, and other features, many water borne transportation experts are enthusiastic about them.

Chartered to The Tribune.

The Tribune boats are known as Cargill units. They are owned by Cargill Carriers, Inc., a subsidiary of Cargill, Inc., a grain firm of Minneapolis, Minn.

The vessels are under charter to the Illinois-Atlantic corporation, a Chicago Tribune subsidiary, and make the run from New York City to Oswego, N. Y., Lake Ontario terminus of the canal, in four days instead of the customary eight required by conventional barge equipment, it was disclosed.

At Oswego, the bauxite, from which aluminum is obtained, is transferred into the holds of big lake steamers owned by the Quebec and Ontario Transportation company, another Tribune subsidiary, and sped to Canadian ports to be fabricated into airplane parts and other war weapons.

Carry Large Loads.

Designed especially for operation on the canal, the Cargill units were intended originally as grain carriers. They have a capacity of 125,000 bushels at a 10 foot 6 inch draft in the Erie canal and may be loaded to 14 feet in the Hudson river.

Speed of the vessels in the canal is five miles per hour loaded and eight miles per hour when empty. On their downward passage from Oswego the boats carry war rationed newsprint whenever it is obtainable.

Each unit is 300 feet long to allow for passage thru the canal locks and is made up in three sections. Each of the first two sections is 100 feet in length with the third section measuring 72 feet. To the rear of the third section is attached an integral, 28 foot propelling unit, consisting of two diesel engines each of 200 horsepower.

Comforts for the Crew.

The propelling unit contains a galley, an observation lounge, and Pullman type quarters for the crew. The crew accommodations are so compact that they have built-in showers, hot and cold running water, comfortable bunks, and wash basins which disappear into the wall when not in use.

Four of the vessels operated for one season on the Mississippi river carrying grain from Chicago to the gulf and then to Houston, Tex., Their operation on that run was considered a success by Cargill representatives, it is reported, altho with their present sized engines the boats are said to have had just enough power to get back up the river against the current.

As pointed out by Fred J. Byington, vice president of the Illinois-Atlantic corporation, perhaps the most distinguishing feature of the Cargill ships is that they can load a tremendous quantity of freight at shallow draft.

Byington, who is regarded as an expert on inland waterway transportation, disclosed that each of the vessels at 10 feet 6 inches has a capacity of about 3,000 net tons.

Like Floating Boxes.

This great load carrying ability, Byington says, is achieved by the light weight, steel welded construction of the ships which have only single bottoms and no bilges.

The boats are really floating boxes, Byington says, and if built for the Mississippi could be of much shallower draft and wider beam, thereby increasing their load capacity, which is limited on the canals by the size of the locks, which measure 300 by 45 feet. On the Mississippi, the locks measure 110 by 600 feet.

Action on Reconversion Awaits End of Recess

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Legislation providing a program for reconverting industry from war to a peace time basis will be taken up by the senate military committee immediately after the recess of congress, Chairman Reynolds [D., N. C.] said today. Two bills are before the committee, one by Sen. Murray [D., Mont.] and the other by Sen. Kilgore [R., W. Va.], Reynolds said.

Pay Rolls, Jobs, Department Store Sales Show Decrease

Industrial pay rolls, employment, and department store sales lost ground last month by comparison with the April record, but maintained their gains over May, 1943, statistics showed yesterday.

Electric power consumption was higher, local transportation agencies increased their traffic, and other barometers of business activity showed gains.

For the first five months of 1944, all except one of the statistics listed by the business survey department of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE were higher than in the corresponding 1943 period. The first three figures in the following tables are index numbers; others represent dollars or units as indicated:

People and Events

Promotions of three General Finance corporation officials were announced yesterday by Owen L. Coon, board chairman. C. N. Cofoid, in charge of sales of the auto financing division, R. N. Stowers, sales manager of the industrial financing division, and James O'Hara, in charge of industrial engineering, were elected vice presidents.

Revelle W. Brown, president of the Lehigh Valley railroad, has been elected president of the Reading company to succeed E. W. Scheer, who retires on Friday, Roy B. White, Reading chairman, announced after a board meeting.

The National Metal Trades association is sponsoring a meeting of Chicago metal trades executives tomorrow in the Palmer House. Problems of the white collar worker and the foreman's place in the industrial relations program will be discussed. Clarence J. Uhlir and Joseph M. Schappert, directors of the association, will be among the speakers.

J. W. Bryant has been appointed Chicago district representative of General Electric company's electronics department.

U. S. BARGE LINE REPORTS PROFIT ON 1943 TRAFFIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Inland Waterways corporation, a government owned midwest barge line, reported today that, with the help of booming war business, it made a profit of $178,012 in 1943 operations, compared with a loss of $726,492 in 1942.

The department of commerce report disclosed the profit was realized chiefly as a result of increased revenues from transporting war materials and the corporation's continued exemption from federal and local taxes. The corporation now operates about 600 barges, towboats and other craft on the Mississippi river and tributaries.

Consolidated operating revenues mounted to $8,300,117, compared with $7,504,266 in the previous year.

FIRM IS PLACED ON PROBATION IN WPB VIOLATIONS

The Leach company, Oshkosh, Wis., engaged almost entirely in war work, has been placed on probation until Sept. 30 for violating WPB orders and regulations, the Chicago regional WPB office said yesterday. The company was charged with exceeding building construction limitations, producing 55 unauthorized dump truck bodies, and failing to keep and file certain records. The probationary order, which said there was no deliberate attempt on the part of the company to impede the war, provided reinvestigation at the close of the probationary period after which final decision will be made.

Irwin Siegal Submits 1½ Million Shoreland Bid

Irwin Siegal, Chicago apartment hotel owner, submitted a bid of 1½ million dollars to Judge Graber in Superior court yesterday for the Shoreland hotel at 5454 South Shore dr. Judge Graber instructed Atty. Thomas R. Mulroy, representing the Chicago Title and Trust company, to appear Friday with an order authorizing the submission of the bid to bondholders.

COURT REFUSES TO REVIEW HOME WORKING CURBS

New York, June 27 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today denied petition of workers and employers in the embroidery industry to review an order by J. Metcalfe Walling, administrator of the wage and hour law, which practically prohibits employment of homeworkers in the industry in the country.

Judge Jerome Frank and Judge Learned Hand upheld the order. Judge Thomas W. Swan dissented, saying the administration is not vested by the provision of the fair labor standards act with power to place a virtual ban on the employment of home workers.

The order, which "established a minimum wage rate of 40 cents per hour and prohibits, with very limited exceptions, home work," was recommended by members of the industry.

Judge Swan termed "unreasonable" the idea that congress intended "to authorize the administration in his uncontrolled discretion to take action so radical as to alter the whole structure of the industry and cause one-third of the employes engaged therein to become factory workers or to give up their employment."

CHICAGO STOCK EXCHANGE SEAT SOLD FOR $3,000

A Chicago Stock exchange membership sale was arranged yesterday at a price of $3,000, highest since 1937, $500 above the last transaction two weeks ago, and 10 times the low of December, 1932.

The exchange announced the admission of its 12th corporate member, the First Securities company of Chicago, which continues the underwriting and distribution business formerly conducted by Ryan-Nichols & Co. Leston B. Nay is president of First Securities.

STOCK MARKET SURGES AHEAD IN BROAD TRADE

Turnover Exceeds 2 Million Shares.

New York, June 27 (AP).—The stock market put on another bullish sprint today, one of the fastest of the year, as peace sentiment was further buoyed by the fall of Cherbourg and mounting political optimism at home touched off investment demand on a wide front.

The ticker tape was liveliest in the forenoon when several issues touched 7 year peaks and blocks of as many as 10,000 Willys-Overland appeared. Advances generally ranged from fractions to a point, with a few isolated gains of 6 or more points. Turnover of 2,179,135 shares compared with 1,720,260 yesterday.

Motor and Steels Active.

Motors, steels, utilities, oils, and industrial specialties responded to revived buying inspiration based mainly on post-war prospects for companies in these fields.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was up 0.1 at 55.6, equaling the highest level since October, 1937, reached last week. It was the second broadest market since April, 1943, with 1,001 issues traded.

Prominent among the new highs were General Motors, Willys-Overland, United States Steel, Republic Steel, American Water Works, and International Telephone.

CHICAGO STOCKS GAIN.

Prices were higher yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange in increased volume of 52,000 shares. Of 133 issues traded, 83 advanced, 18 declined, and 32 were unchanged. Among active issues were Radio corporation and Utah Radio, each up ⅜; Chicago corporation, up ⅛, and Armour & Co., down ⅛. Eighteen issues reached new highs for the year.

BOND PRICES RISE.

New York, June 27 (AP).—The bond market continued its selectively higher trend today under leadership of high priced investment corporates and medium rated rails and specialties. Sales of $10,981,500 compared with $8,919,600 yesterday.

INSURANCE FIRMS' SALES OF FARMS RISE 25 PCT. IN 4 MONTHS

New York, June 27 (AP).—Life insurance companies have sold 50 million dollars of farm properties in the last four months, 25 per cent more than sales in the last four months of 1943, the Institute of Life Insurance reported today.

Sale of farm properties held by life insurance companies largely as a result of mortgage foreclosures during the depression years has reduced total holdings to 290 million dollars, compared with the 1 billion originally taken over.

The institute reported that in the same period life insurance companies have purchased 60 million dollars in farm mortgages, a slightly higher rate than last year.

Use of Labor Incentive Plan Held Essential

Wide acceptance by manufacturers of recognized, but untested labor incentives, such as a work day or week based on the number of units produced, instead of hours worked, and a fixed weekly or annual minimum wage, was predicted yesterday by Howard C. Greer, vice president and general manager of Kingan & Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

These incentives and others should be considered now because high production levels must be maintained after the war to meet the higher pay rolls which workers will continue to demand, Greer told delegates to the 25th conference of the National Association of Cost Accountants in the Palmer House. He said the only way to keep wages high is thru high production which in turn demands labor incentives.

Plan on Basis of Output.

"To encourage better performance on the job, we should have worker incentives for every manual operation in which the output can be increased by more effective effort," he said. "One of these involves the organization of a work program on an output basis instead of a 'day work' basis.

"In future years, a week's work may consist of producing so many units of a product, not of putting in so many hours. A good incentive plan should be so developed that the emphasis can be shifted to letting workers go home earlier, instead of staying to turn out more work, if his desires and the circumstances of the business warrant this. Some plants operate on his tbasis now."

Held Aid to Coöperation.

Establishing a fixed minimum wage instead of hiring workers by the hour or piecework rates could become a powerful incentive for greater coöperation by workers in aiding the plans of the management, Greer said.

"That this will require drastic modification of many existing cost techniques goes without saying," he said. "I suggest here merely that this change probably is coming and cost accounting had better be ready for it. What we hope to do is retain the advantages of private enterprise and individual freedom and eliminate as many as possible of their disadvantages. Unless this can be accomplished, private enterprise and individual freedom may not survive."

ARGUES PROFITS SUIT BY-PASSES CLAIMS ROUTINE

Washington, D. C., June 27 (AP).—Assistant Atty. Gen. Frank Shea contended today the Lincoln Electric company of Cleveland, O., sought to by-pass administrative procedure in challenging the constitutionality of the contract renegotiation act in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

Shea urged a three judge Appellate court to dismiss the company's suit on the ground that the case should have been taken either to the Tax court or the Court of Claims.

The suit was filed against the secretary of the navy after he ordered the company to pay 3¼ million dollars in excess profits as determined by a navy price adjustment board.

PREDICTS DROP IN SUPPLIES OF NEW FURNITURE

Retailers May Get 70 Pct. of Normal.

New York, June 27 (AP).—Retail furniture stores will have only about 70 per cent of their normal supplies of new stock this year, Walter M. Engel, president of the New York Furniture exchange, predicted today.

Engel said retail dealers and buyers here for the semi-annual New York furniture market reported a substantially increased demand for home furnishings which in some cases has depleted the stocks of retail stores.

Variety of Styles Cut.

All lines of furniture are affected by war shortages of lumber, metal, and fabrics and of skilled man power, Engel said. Manufacturers have met the situation by reducing the variety of styles and designs of such items as bedroom and living room suites, and have concentrated on standard lines with different finishes.

One national furniture house said the need for lumber for war purposes would become more apparent within the next few months when manufacturers would be forced to accept wood not fully cured and seasoned in order to supply the demand from buyers who seek furniture even tho warned its quality may have deteriorated.

Seek Better Quality.

The bright spot in the furniture situation is a growing buyer demand for better quality home furnishings, and the fact that retail stores have been able to clear their floors of slow selling items, the dealers said. Relaxing of restrictions to permit upholsterers to use springs also has helped the situation.

One large manufacturer's representative said that altho the immediate outlook for increasing supplies of furniture is not bright, a change in the course of the war which would release labor and supplies would be reflected almost immediately in the industry. He said, however, that depletion of stocks of seasoned woods would take several months to overcome.

PLAN TO REFUND 3 OF RAILROAD'S BONDS REPORTED

New York, June 27 (AP).—Investment bankers reported today they understood plans for refunding three outstanding bond issues of the Louisville and Nashville railroad were under consideration.

The bonds, totaling 54 million dollars, are the series B 5s, series C 4½s, and series D 4s, all of long term maturity, and are selling within close proximity of the call price of 105. A fourth series of these bonds bears 3¾ per cent interest and sells currently at around 102¾, lending support to the belief the company may refund the higher coupon obligations with a similar amount of new 3¾s.

If this refunding is finally worked out it would be one of the largest operations of its kind for a major railroad so far this year.

The foregoing amounts have been summarized from our annual report to stockholders, which includes appropriate explanatory matter and footnotes to financial statements.

During the past year the company entered the industrial field through the purchase of long-established manufacturing and engineering units. These operate as divisions of Domestic Industries, Inc.

SERVICE CASTER & TRUCK DIVISION—Factories at Albion, Michigan and Boston, Massachusetts. Manufactures and distributes industrial material handling equipment, including portable elevators, cranes, hand and hydraulic lift trucks, casters, wheels, floor trucks, trailers, skids, dollies, gasoline-propelled hydraulic fork lifters and gasoline-propelled industrial tractors.

SIEWEK TOOL DIVISION—Factory at Detroit, Michigan. Manufactures and distributes various types of high speed cutting tools, end mills, borers, rapid clamping drill jigs, clamps and shop accessories.

SIEWEK ENGINEERING DIVISION—Operates engineering offices at Chicago, Hartford, Connecticut and Springfield, Massachusetts. Provides engineering service for industry and for the company's own manufacturing divisions. Includes tool, jig and fixture design, product design, plant layout and production planning.

FINANCE DIVISION—The personal finance business continues to be carried on through wholly-owned subsidiaries operating under the name Domestic Finance Corporation, with 32 offices in 28 cities in 7 states.

BARE $500,000 NEW DEAL ALKY MAKING FIASCO

Bay City, Mich., June 27 [Special]. —New Deal spending of more than $500,000 in the Bay City phase of a scheme to use potatoes for making industrial alcohol was disclosed here today following the abandonment of the experiment. The project here was one of 14 similar ventures thruout the country.

Thirty thousand tons of potatoes were processed here during the months of April and May. When the scheme was given up June 1, all of the pulp was ordered shipped to near-by grain elevators for cattle feed.

Promoted by CCC.

The plan to dehydrate potatoes for processing into industrial alcohol was undertaken by the Commodity Credit corporation. The plant used here was that of the Monitor Sugar company. The CCC bought the potatoes in Maine and New York, and later in Michigan, and had them shipped here where they were sliced and dried. The CCC hired the sugar company's plant and paid its employes.

Sugar company officials, altho indicating that the plan went awry here, were reticent about giving details of what went wrong or how much the experiment cost.

However, an estimate of at least one part of the cost was obtained from the price of potatoes. The government set the price of No. 1 potatoes in this area at $1.93 a hundredweight and of No. 2 at $1.09.

Potatoes Cost $600,000.

Thirty thousand tons of potatoes equal 600,000 hundredweights. At the lowest price of $1.09, the total cost would be more than $600,000. This would not include the cost of shipping the potatoes from Maine and New York, hiring the plant, paying the workers, conducting the processing, bagging the residue, and shipping it out again.

Only 14 per cent of the 30,000 tons was reported to have been recovered for live stock feed. Plant officials gave no estimate of what return this brought, but it was not believed to be large.

"If the government had bought these potatoes and dumped them in the fields where they were produced," said a plant official, "they at least would have been of some use for fertilizer and the government would not have been put to all the expense of freight, processing, and handling in addition to the cost of keeping up the market price."

RAISE QUESTION OF SIGNATURES AT BRIBE TRIAL

Mason, Mich., June 27 [Special].—Questioning of signatures on several checks submitted in evidence by the prosecution at the trial of 22 men on charges of legislative graft conspiracy today temporarily delayed the testimony of a handwriting expert called as a state witness.

Warren Whitehead of Detroit, the witness, had just begun his analysis of certain checks when Milton Johnson of South Bend, Ind., counsel for Mark S. Young, Detroit representative in 1939 for the Associates Discount corporation of South Bend and one of the five finance company executives on trial, objected. He expressed doubt as to whether the signatures of "M. S. Young" on the checks were those of his client.

Kim Sigler, special prosecutor, indicated he would supplement the evidence by bringing in Jean Dorman, an employe of the Associates Discount corporation's Detroit office, to testify as to the signer of the checks.

Ralph Smith, who operates the Community Finance company and the Community Contract corporation at Niles, appeared as a state witness and described the legislative lobbying activity on which the indictment is based.

SUSPEND 6 GAS DEALERS; TOOK FAKE COUPONS

Six service station operators were suspended yesterday from doing business for periods ranging from 10 days to the duration of the war by John R. Allen, OPA hearing commissioner. He found them guilty of turning in counterfeit gasoline ration coupons to their wholesalers. The operators and lengths of their suspensions: Charles Fretz, 1123 Howard st., five months; Jay Baer, 5201 N. Western av., 10 days; Sam Napadano, 1401 N. La Salle st., two weeks; Philip Stephens, 2301 Fulton st., 15 days; Otho S. Bell, 9500 Indiana av., duration, and Anthony M. Miller, 3417 N. Halsted st., six weeks.

ALICE ORDERED TO SURRENDER 2 YOUNG CHILDREN

Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court yesterday entered an order awarding custody of the three children of Capt. Alexis de Tarnowsky and Mrs. Alice Rand de Tarnowsky McIntosh to the captain's sister, Mrs. Olga Hudson of Kenilworth. The order was in accordance with an opinion given by Judge Feinberg on Saturday.

He ordered Mrs. McIntosh, a Barrington heiress, to surrender her two younger children, George, 5, and Alexandra, 3, to Mrs. Hudson by Thursday. The third child, Marie, 15, already is living with her aunt. On the request of counsel for Mrs. de Tarnowsky, the court permitted her to delay until July 15 her first payment of $200 a month temporary support allowance for the children.

Judge Feinberg, on motion of Joseph H. and Norman Becker, attorneys for Capt. de Tarnowsky, read into the court record his opinion attacking her Mexican divorce as a "sham and a fraud" and excoriating her conduct with Pvt. Charles McIntosh as "lust, not love."

WOMAN'S DEATH RULED SUICIDE FOR MONEY LOSS

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane because of despondency in the death of Mrs. Paula Proctor, 36, of 420 Fullerton pkwy. Mrs. Proctor died in Columbus hospital June 17, a few hours after she had been found shot in the head in her apartment.

Lt. Russell Corcoran of Sheffield av. police testified that lie detector and paraffin glove tests had convinced him that Mrs. Proctor's husband, Ralph, 54, a civilian executive of the army ordnance department, was guiltless.

Proctor said he telephoned his wife from Washington, D. C., hurried home because she seemed to be drinking heavily, and was in another room when his wife cried, "I'll show you," and shot herself. He told police she was despondent because they had lost most of their money.

ACCUSED BY G. O. P. DELEGATE.

M. C. Roberts, a delegate from Texico, N. M., to the Republican national convention, caused the arrest yesterday of Buster Pintozzi, 34, of 613 S. May st., on a charge of larceny by pickpocket.

SALAMI TRAPS A CROW! THAT'S NO BOLOGNA!

A crow that was nipping women as they hung up washing in their yards in the 300 block on Greenwood av., Waukegan, was captured yesterday by Policeman Leonard Duncan, who offered it a piece of salami.

"We caught that crow all right, chief," Duncan reported back to the station by squad car radio. "It wants to say a few words in the microphone. Can you understand him?"

"Sure," replied Chief Bart Tyrrell. "His alibi is that he must have been crazy with the heat."

Woman Owner of Market Fined for Short Weight

Mrs. Eleanor Kuzma, charged by the city sealer with being three ounces short weight in the sale of a pork loin at her market at 2075 N. Leavitt st., was fined $25 and $10 costs yesterday by Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in License court.

LEGAL NOTICES

EIRE
HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.
Record No. 1931—5631.
In the Matter of the Estate of:
William Lowey, Deceased.
BETWEEN:
Annie M. Lowey, Plaintiff.
AND:
Frank Albert Orr, Sarah Lowey Steele, John William Leonard, and James Baird Norris, Defendants.
And by order to proceed
Same Plaintiff.
Frank Albert Orr, Sarah M. Steele, John William Leonard and Esther Norris Leeper, Defendants.
TO:
Mrs. Cecil E. Gray, late of 715 East 37th-street, Chicago, Illinois, in the United States of America, or if dead to any person claiming under her Will or intestacy.

TAKE NOTICE that by an Order of the High Court of Justice in Eire dated the 27th day of March, 1944, personal service upon you of Notice of the Order in this matter and cause dated the 22d day of February, 1932, was dispensed with and it was ordered that publication in The Chicago Tribune and the Chicago News of Notice of the said Order and of the memorandum prescribed by the Rules of the Supreme Court, and of the reciting Order, should be deemed good service upon you; and that the time within which you might apply to discharge, vary, or add to the said order should be four months after the last publication of such notice.

And further take notice that by the said Order dated the 22d day of February, 1932, it was ordered as follows: That the following inquiries and accounts be made and taken in the Examiner's Office that is to say:—

1. An account of the personal estate of the said Intestate come to the hands of the Plaintiff, and to the hands of the Defendant, Frank Albert Orr, as personal representative of the said Intestate in Saorstat Eireann, or to the hands of any other person or persons by the Order of or for the use of the said Plaintiff and said Defendant Frank Albert Orr respectively.
2. An account of the Intestate's debts.
3. An account of the Intestate's funeral expenses.
4. An Inquiry what parts [if any] of the Intestate's personal estate outstanding or undisposed of in the said State of Missouri and in Saorstat Eireann.
5. An Inquiry what real estate the Intestate was seized of or entitled to at the time of his death in the said State of Missouri and in Saorstat Eireann respectively, and what were the respective values of the said real estates at the time of his death—the values of both estates to be ascertained in accordance with the provisions of the Intestates Estates Act 1890.
6. An account of the rents and profits of the Intestate's real estates and by whom received.
7. An Inquiry as to what encumbrances, if any, affect the Intestate's real estate, or any, and what parts thereof.
8. An Inquiry who was the heir at law at the time of the death of the said Intestate, and whether such heir at law is living or dead and if dead, who by devise, descent, or otherwise, is entitled to such real estate, if any, of the Intestate as descended to the heir at law.

And it was ordered that the Defendants, Sarah M. Steele, John William Leonard, and Esther Norris Leeper have carriage of the proceedings in this manner and cause.

And further take notice that from the date of this advertisement you will be bound by the proceedings in the above cause in the same manner as if you had been originally made a party and that you may on entering an appearance at the Central Office attend the proceedings under the within mentioned Order and that you may within four months after the publication of the last of the advertisements authorized by the said Order apply to the Court to add to the said Order.

Dated the 9th day of May in 1944.
